NEW YORK BOYS MAY PLAY SUNDAY BALL

A Playground Dedicated to Them—Varsity Lacrosse Team May Challenge for the Mann Cup.

Nationals insist on Capitals purchasing Groulx's release. Battling Nelson and "Matty" Bald win fight shortly at Boston. Ed. Killian, the Toronto pitcher, uses a puzzling slow delivery. "Tom" Longboat is going to Boston to take in the big amateur marathon. Kenora will have regattas on the King's Birthday, June 3rd, and on dominion day. It is a battle between Delahanty and O'Hara for the left field job on the Toronto baseball team. The annual meeting of the big Interprovincial amateur lacrosse league will be held at Cornwall on April 19th. Andrew Sockalexis, a Penobscot Indian, and brother of the noted baseball player, is among the Boston Marathon entries. Coach Ten Eyck will report to the Ottawa rowing club on July 1st to finish the preparation of the Ottawa crews for the St. Catharines regatta. The proposed trip of the Varsity lacrosse team to England next fall has been cancelled owing to the English team refusing to give any guarantees. According to one of the Ottawa hockey stars, the Ottawas were the only club to live up to the salary limit clause. "Pud" Glass is said to have received $1,100 from Wanderers. Varsity lacrosse team is thinking seriously of challenging for the Mann cup, the games to take place the second week in June, right after the team comes back from its spring tour. Hans Holmer and little Gustav Ljungstrom, the Swedish champion distance runner, have agreed to meet in a fifteen-mile race in New York, on April 18th, before they leave for the other side. Montreal Nationals are raising an awful holler about the divvy of gate receipts in the N.L.L. Edward St. Perre declares that Capitals will get $600 from their game at Madison-square and that Nationals will receive about 15c. when they play capitals at Lansdowne Park. The eight-oared crew of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., are rowing in a shell just imported from England. The mistress of the seas holds her own in the building of ships, big and little. The boys of New York may play baseball on Sunday all they please on a city playground 200 feet wide and two miles long. Mayor Gaynor and Park Commissioner Stover settled that between them. Asked under what law the mayor and park commissioner were dedicating a city street to be a city playground Mr. Stover replied: "The law of common sense and good nature." Toronto Globe. The present form of baseball contract contains no "reserve clause." There is no "option clause," either, but there's a provision that the player "must abide by the rules of the National Commission." This means that the "reserve list" when compiled by the commission, after consultation with the major league clubs, will prevent players from leaving their present employers under the rules of organized baseball. In the opinion of lawyers this form of contract would not stand a test in the courts in the event of a baseball war, for there is no legal restraint placed upon the players' services. Just why the "reserve clause" has been eliminated is not made clear.

THE COST OF LIVING

IN ENGLAND AND AMERICA COMPARED.

The Cost of Food and Rent in the United States is Twenty-five Per Cent. Greater, But Wages are Higher.

London, April 13.—The board of trade has issued a report, showing the comparative cost of living in England and the United States. The report shows that merchants and farmers have considerable advantages over other classes in the matter of wages, hours, of comforts and advantages of saving money. The report gives the results of investigations begun in 1909 in twenty-eight American cities and towns. The employments chosen for enquiry were the various branches of the building, engineering and printing trades. Among the main conclusions are that the food of the average English family depending on the trades named would cost about thirty-eight per cent. more in the United States, and that the rent in America would be in proportion of 207 to 100 in England. In other words the cost of food and rent are fifty-two per cent. greater in the United States than in England. But the wages in the United States are at the rate of 230 to 100, or more than two and a quarter times greater in the United States.

Since there is proof that employment is more intermittent in the United States than in England, workers have a much greater margin when allowance is made for higher expenditure. The report says: "The margin is clearly large, making possible the command of necessities, conveniences and the minor luxuries of life to an extent greater than in England, although the effective margin is, in itself, curtailed by the scale of expenditure. The higher expenditure is in some instances necessary and in others voluntary, in accordance with a different and higher standard of material comfort."

The report notes further that, although the ability of spending is greater in the United States than in England, and, although the American is naturally more extravagant, and great wastefulness often results, it is a fact that those who desire to exercise a strength of will and foresight can save more easily in the United States than in England, because of the larger income.

In the matter of hours, skilled workers in the building trades in America have the advantage of about six hours weekly compared to the English, and the unskilled have an advantage of about three and three-quarter hours.
