LUCKY MONTE CARLO NUMBER. Found to be on Boot of Innocent Englishman. One day there was an amusing incident in the gambling rooms. An Englishman arrived early, and, sitting down, crossed his legs and stuck one foot out in an attitude of ease. Suddenly there was a wild rush of everybody to the tables, and Italian barons, Spanish countesses and Russian princesses fought with each other to get their gold and silver pieces on to 17. The croupiers stared, the inspectors looked nervous, and when 17 came up the entire staff seemed petrified. What had happened? Had the wheel been got at? Had some clever trick been played? Why had everybody rushed to back 17? The croupiers looked about, and saw every eye directed at the Englishman, who, finding himself the object of so much attention, blushed violently and burst into a profuse perspiration. Then a roar of laughter went around the room and the croupiers and the inspectors and even the solemn attendants in livery joined in it. The mystery was explained. On the sole of the Englishman's boot was the number 17 in chalk.—G. R. Sims, Daqueton Abroad.

FALL IN LOVE. Cupid Possesses Greatest Cure—all for Disease. Dr. Josiah Oldfield, the physician and writer upon medical subjects, in a speech on "How Mental Forces Cure Disease," delivered in London before the Polytechnic Health Society, gave support to the doctrine of faith healing. He urged the necessity of recognizing that thoughts are things. Falling in love was commended by Dr. Oldfield, as an efficacious cure of disease. "There are," he said, "few things more mentally valuable than falling in love, and if I had the power I would see to it that every girl fell in love. It heals a great many people, and I fear and hate had upon the health. Dr. Oldfield said that there was nothing more valuable in curing indigestion than good temper. Bad temper was one of the most serious causes of dyspepsia he knew.—New York Sun.
