

DR. RYCKMAN WARNS

THE PEOPLE OF ONTARIO TO BE WARY

Lest the Roman Catholic Church Get a Grip Upon This Province as It Has Upon Quebec.

Rev. Dr. Ryckman delivered a very spirited talk before the members of the Orange Order in Victoria hall, Sunday afternoon. There was a good attendance. His subject was "Why I Am a Protestant." He went back to the early days of Luther and showed how the Protestants came by their name; how they protested against some of the teachings and doctrines of the Catholic church and were dubbed "Protestants," which name has lingered with them down through the ages. He showed where the church of Rome is usurping its power. The church interferes with man's liberties, inasmuch as it endeavors to prevent freedom of thought and action. He said many of the countries of Europe had thrown off this yoke of bondage and had declared themselves as being no longer under the thumb of the pope. In the course of his remarks Dr. Ryckman said that of all the countries in the world who submitted to the pope's decrees and decisions were so submissive as the province of Quebec. "We are living alongside them," he said, "and unless we watch ourselves we are bound to be contaminated by that spirit. Slowly and surely there are coming over into this province and if we do not be careful they will be setting the laws of the province of Ontario at naught, the way they have the laws of the province of Quebec."

STRANDED IN KINGSTON.

Young English Girl on Way to West to be Married.

A fair English "lassie," fresh from the old land, is in Kingston for a few days, endeavoring to get enough money together to take her out west where her fiancé is awaiting. She had money enough to bring her here and then had to stop. She has been stopping out in the country a few miles from Kingston and in the hope that something would turn up. She came here during the latter part of last week to look up some kind of an agency which would forward her the money. She says she will return it as soon as she reaches her destination. No one has taken up with her scheme. However, she bids fair to remain here for some time longer unless something unexpected turns up.

COMPLAINS OF NUISANCE.

Property Has Been Made Public Dumping Ground.

Ex-Ald. William Bassam is out with a big stick after people who have been making a public dumping ground out of the commons on lower Alfred street, which is directly in front of his property. All kinds of refuse has been dumped on the property and it has given this street an unsightly appearance.

Mr. Bassam has notified the police and declares that the nuisance must be stopped. "If it is not stopped at once," said Mr. Bassam, "I will take steps to have it stopped. It is a shame to have the property in that district spoiled in this way."

FOUR DIED IN ONE DAY.

Black Diphtheria Made Ravages on Family in Country.

According to reports which reached this city on Saturday from the rear of Frontenac county it is said that four members of one family were carried off in one day by the dread disease known as black diphtheria. Particulars were very meagre and the name of the family was not even mentioned. The truth of the story cannot be vouched for but it is known that scarlet fever is working havoc among numerous families in the vicinity of Sharbot Lake.

JOYOUS EASTER DAY

WAS OBSERVED IN ALL THE CHURCHES.

The Services in the Two Cathedrals Were Very Impressive—Chalmers Congregation Worshipped Away From Home.

The joyous feast of Easter was duly observed in St. Mary's cathedral. After the penitential period of Lent, the impressive ritual of Good Friday and the dolorous melodies of holy week, it seemed good once more to hear the glad songs of hallelujahs, the strains and refrains of rejoicing and of triumph. The altar was beautifully decorated with Easter lilies and other cut flowers and colored lights in profusion presenting a sight most pleasing indeed. A solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. Rector A. J. Hanley, assisted by Rev. Fathers Derling and Mea as deacon and sub-deacon. The musical portion of the service was ably executed. Perennial's harmonized mass being rendered by a mixed choir of boys and men with splendid effect. The soloists were Rev. Father Halligan and Edward Lapointe. At the offertory "Haec Dies," a bright composition was interpreted, the duo being taken by Messrs. O'Connor and Cross. Prof. Denis ably presided at the organ. The usual Easter collection was taken at the door and realized a goodly sum.

In the afternoon the men of the congregation were enrolled in the new society of the "Holy Name of Jesus," whose object is to inculcate more reverence for that sacred name. It was a grand sight to behold, some eight hundred men giving their willing adhesion to this great work. Rev. Father Derling pronounced a very powerful discourse to the men whom he praised for their loyalty and the good example that they gave. In the evening solemn vespers and benediction were given before an unusually large congregation, the singing being particularly good. Rev. Father Derling and the local clergy have every reason to be proud of the success of the triduum as evinced by the number of communicants, and members joining the "Holy Name Society."

At St. George's Cathedral.

The Easter services were of the usual festive character at St. George's. The floral decorations were even better than in previous years, and the music was greatly enhanced by the accompaniment of the band of the R.C.H.A. The "Hallelujahs" were especially magnificent. Easter communion was celebrated at 6.30, 8 and 11 in the morning, and the reported number of communicants was a record, reaching nearly 600. Dean Bidwell preached at the eleven o'clock service, and Rev. Canon Starr in the evening, to congregations which filled completely the sacred edifice. The sermons dealt with the power of the resurrection and its witness to the Divinity of the Lord Jesus Christ.

A children's service was held in the afternoon, at three o'clock, at which special offerings were made by the Sunday school for missions.

The splendid numbers attending the holy communion was most gratifying, as it is a real test of the spiritual development in a congregation. The bishop of the diocese was the celebrant at the eleven o'clock service. The music reflected great credit on R. R. F. Harvey, the popular organist, and on Mr. Light, the leader of the band of the R.C.H.A.

First Baptist Church.

At the First Baptist church the junior choir was heard for the first time in the morning and did exceedingly well. The choir sang remarkably well both morning and evening, and the music was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Rev. Douglas Laing spoke at both services.

St. Luke's Church.

The services at St. Luke's church were very impressive and interesting. Rev. R. S. Forneil touchingly alluded to the trying scenes through which the Saviour went. The music was appropriate to the day and was well rendered.

Queen Street Church.

The pastor, Rev. S. Selley, preached at Queen Street Methodist church, and delivered appropriate sermons. There was a special session of the Sunday school, when topics in keeping with Easter formed the subject for discussion. There was a special programme of music.

At Bethel Church.

In addition to the regular Easter services at Bethel Congregational church, on Sunday, twelve new members were received at the evening service. The services were very impressive. The male quartette sang twice in the morning and twice in the evening. The choir was out in full force.

Princess Street Methodist.

At Princess Street Methodist church, the services were marked with simplicity. The pastor, Rev. F. H. Sproule spoke very feelingly on the resurrection and the music was along the same lines. Easter lilies decked the church. The music was rendered with spirit. A special service of song was held in the evening.

Services at St. James'.

At St. James' church, on Sunday,

the pastor, Rev. T. W. Savary, preached at both services, and his discourses were appropriate for Easter. In the "Necessity of The Resurrection," and in the evening on "Risen With Christ." There was a good attendance at both the services, morning he preached on the subject.

Brock Street Methodist.

At Brock Street Methodist church, the musical part of the service, on Sunday, was under the direction of Mrs. (Dr.) A. W. Richardson. In connection with the morning service, the choir rendered an Easter anthem, Dr. Richardson sang a solo, and Master Maurice S. Wolfe, of Napawan, sang "Guard While I Sleep." At the evening service, in addition to the anthem, Miss Jessie Reid sang a solo. The pastor, Rev. T. E. Bourke, preached at both services.

St. Paul's Church.

The number of communicants at St. Paul's church, yesterday, was large. One who has known the church for forty years said that there had never been seen so large a number of communicants as at the evening service. There was a large congregation at the morning service as well. The music was excellent. The speaker at both services was Rev. W. F. Fitzgerald, M.A. Next Sunday the Oddfellows will attend in a body, and confirmation service will be held in the evening.

Sydenham Street Methodist.

The Easter services at Sydenham Street Methodist church were very bright and inspiring. At both morning and evening services, the pastor, Rev. T. W. Neal, spoke eloquently on the resurrection and what the world might have been had not the crucifixion taken place. The music was very uplifting and rendered in perfect harmony. At the morning service, Dr. Roger J. Manning sang, "The Resurrection Morn," and at the evening service Mrs. H. Simpson sang "Hosanna In The Highest," in an appropriate manner.

At Cooke's Church.

Bright and helpful services were held at Cooke's church on Sunday, in the morning, Abraham Shaw delivered a timely address to the children, the morning service being especially devoted to the children. Miss Orser rendered a fine solo, and the anthem rendered by the choir was in keeping with the Easter tide. In the evening, the sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Scott, superintendent of mission at Wakaw, Sask., who delivered a very interesting discourse, dealing with his work among the Galicians in the North-West. He pointed out the great opportunities for service, in the west. Miss Orser rendered another fine solo, at the evening service.

St. Andrew's Church.

One feature of Easter Sunday in St. Andrew's church, and which affected many members of the congregation, was the announcement from the pulpit by Rev. Dr. Mackie, that a congregational meeting would be held on Tuesday evening to discuss the question of appointing his successor in office in view of his retiring from the ministry next autumn. The services were very impressive, being the last Easter day that Dr. Mackie would officiate in the pulpit he has occupied for twenty-five Easter Sundays. Beautiful flowers were arranged about the pulpit and the communion table. Two very appropriate Easter sermons were preached by the pastor. The music was most effective. At the morning service Miss Mona Knight sang with great feeling "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," and in the evening, Arthur Craig rendered in fine voice "Hosanna," (Granier).

Chalmers in Convocation Hall.

For the first time in sixty-five years the congregation of Chalmers church worshipped outside of its own edifice. Easter Sunday morning found it gathered in Old Convocation hall, Queen's University, where it will meet during the next month or so, while Chalmers church interior is being renovated and decorated. Rev. Dr. Magillivray conducted the service, and the morning preacher was Rev. Dr. R. G. Scott, of Wagaw, who spoke in the interests of the Presbyterian Women's Home Mission Society. Dr. Scott has for years been doing missionary work among the Galicians or Ruthenians, of Western Canada. He declared that the Ruthenians had been neglected by the church with which they had formerly been connected, and that was why the Presbyterian church had come to their aid, when they asked for churches and schools. There was no such thing as proselytizing by the Presbyterian church. Now the Ruthenians have established an independent Greek church, which is Protestant in form. Dr. Scott spoke strongly against clericalism in the west, as practised by the Roman Catholic church. In the evening, Rev. Dr. Magillivray preached, and the choir rendered Easter music.

Winter Like This 50 Years Ago.

Fifty years ago, in 1861, the winter season was very similar to that we are just escaping from. So far, history has repeated itself. There was the same continued cold, fairly heavy snow, and then as now "winter dallied in the lap of spring." There was one outstanding feature of the year, which it will be hoped may not be repeated this spring. A very heavy snow storm set in on April 17th. Snow was on the ground on May 1st.

COMING TO THE GRAND.

Margaret Anglin in Her New Comedy, "Green Stockings."

On Wednesday evening at the Grand, theatregoers will welcome the return of Margaret Anglin, the distinguished actress, who, was here seven years ago.

The locale of "Green Stockings" is laid in England at Lumley Park, the country seat of William Faraday, an English gentleman, with a boy of fair daughters, two of whom are already married, one is about to be married, and the fourth, Celia, still remains on his hands without much apparent prospect of leaving them. Without any desire to wear the green stockings at her third sister's wedding, Celia invents for herself an imaginary fiance and announces her engagement to him on the day that he is supposed to sail for Africa with his regiment. The announcement is accepted with surprise and satisfaction by the family, and thereafter, Celia is regarded in less of a tolerated light. Several months have elapsed, and Celia is beginning to feel the embarrassment of entertaining a mythical fiance, so she kills him by the simple process of sending a short paragraph to the London Times, announcing that he had died of wounds received in battle in Africa. This was read by the family, and Celia is overwhelmed with sympathy. Then came poor Celia's cross, for barely had the announcement been read than a stranger, Col. Vavasour, arrived from London, bringing the last dying message to Celia of her fiance's love, delivered from his lonely tent in the African desert.

The amazement and perplexity of Celia may be imagined, and it becomes intensified while the colonel circumstantially relates full details of the poor fellow's last hours. Out of this seat of circumstances, a delightful and ingenious comedy is said to have been evolved wherein Miss Anglin and her colleagues find much opportunity for some clever and mirth-provoking fun.

The principal members of Miss Anglin's company are: H. Reeves-Smith, as Col. Vavasour; George Woodward, as an Irish admiral, with a strong sense of humor; Louis Howard, Ruth Holt Boucault, Ruth Rose and Maude Granger as a wealthy Chicago widow.

BAPTIST BULLETS STRUCK.

Reply to Catholic Register, Which is Called "Foolish."

The Canadian Baptist in its current issue says: "The Catholic Register, in its last week's issue, gives certain evidences, in its usual method of vituperation, that our bullets struck. Calling names in a foolish way to meet the statement of facts and arguments. We are quite willing that an intelligent public should pick out articles on 'Nemora's' side by side with the Register's criticism and judge accordingly."

Big Shipment of Carpets.

There was a remarkable shipment of carpet—500 miles of it in a special New York Central train of sixty cars—leaving New York for San Francisco on April 13th. The weight of the carpet is 1,500,000 pounds, and it is valued at about $1,000,000. It goes to supply the ever-increasing demand on the Pacific coast. To make this carpet required the labor of 8,000 workers for eight days, an equivalent of one day's work for 64,000 operatives.

O Ye of Little Faith!
Canadian Courier
Because of a fear of reciprocity, some retailers and some manufacturers are holding back on the traces. This is foolish. Business conditions are intrinsically sound. There is plenty of capital available for every legitimate need. The tide of immigration continues undiminished. Only ten per cent of the natural resources of the country have yet been exploited. This is not the end, it is only the beginning. Ten years of Canada's century have gone; there are ninety more to come, every one better than the last. The future belongs to him who grasps it. Have faith!

A Very Wise Decision.
Montreal Herald
The decision of the Quebec bridge engineers not to suspend three millions additional to provide the bridge with a roadbed seems exceedingly logical. There is every reason why the dominion with a direct railroad line from the hinterland to the winter ports, but none whatever for providing the citizens of Quebec with a pleasant drive for their carriages at a charge that runs into millions.
