

DELHI DURBAR FINE SPECTACLE

All the Barbaric Splendor of the East Will Attend the Coronation at Delhi

Never, since Richard the Lion Heart marched to the Crusades, has a ruling British monarch gone so far afield from his own capital.

Like the Coronation festivities in this country, the Durbar will stretch over a number of days.

In addition to the Emperor-King, there will be from 100 to 200 other elephants, all encased with emeralds and rubies, and the tanks of every one adorned with tinkling silver bells.

When the great durbar is over, and King George has entertained with lavish pomp and oriental splendor each and every prince and ruler who owes him homage, he will be free to accept the hospitality of some few of them in turn.

The fact that Queen Alexandra's train was carried at Her Coronation by pages has caused many people to think that Queen Mary is making an innovation by having hers carried by ladies.

The Archbishop of Canterbury has intimated that he will accept from the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge the Bible to be presented to the King on the occasion of his Majesty's Coronation in Westminster Abbey.

DECORATING THE CITY

A Million Dollars Will be Spent in City of London.

At the approaching Coronation no less than $1,000,000 will be spent on the day and night decorations of the streets of the metropolis by public bodies and business firms, not to mention private enterprise.

When King George will have few spare moments—Busy Night and Day

But King George will be busiest in June. The 3rd of that month is his birthday. On that day he will need almost the dexterity of a quick change artist to slip from one elaborate uniform to another, from morning dress to court dress, and finally back to the simple garb of the country squire.

On the former, the flowers of Britain's Army will assemble for trooping the colors. In their splendid scarlet uniforms, all martially accoutred and glittering with gleaming steel, the Household Cavalry and other picked regiments will go through difficult evolutions under the eyes of the King and Queen, and a swarm of nobles.

On the 22nd King George and the Queen will drive along a route, guarded by 30,000 soldiers, to Westminster Abbey, with a host of kings and princes in their train, while the big guns in Hyde Park thunder out their hoarse salute of forty-one guns.

Now that the Sailor Prince has become King, the Navy feels that it has come into its own. As the King steams up and down the triple line of warships, rainbow-hued with gorgeous bunting, and so numerous that they wholly occupy eighteen miles of water, each separate unit will greet him as he passes with a salute of twenty-one guns.

The Duke of Connaught, who is the King's closest adviser, has decided never to accept another military command. He may become Viceroy of India, after serving a short term at Ottawa.

When King George is crowned, no fewer than 75 separate units will announce the fact, and they will be so distributed as to give loyal subjects in the remotest corners of the Empire some chance of hearing them.

WELFARE OF THE NATION

Rests on Public and Private Virtue Says King George.

Expressing confidence that the prayers of the church will aid him in conducting the affairs of state, King George, replied to the Convocation address of the Archbishop of Canterbury as follows: "It will always be my endeavor, with God's help, to maintain and consolidate the foundations of public and private virtue which you labor to preserve and on which the welfare of my people rest.

THE HOUSEWIFE'S MONDAY MORNING PROBLEM

PROBLEM is, the correct word—for back of the soap you use on wash-day lies a nice little problem in mental arithmetic.

One part of the problem deals with just a little bar of soap—a mere 5 cents; the other part affects the value of the clothes you put into your tubs.

There are lots of soaps you can buy at 5 cents a bar—but if the soap spoils the fabric, not one of them will replace your clothes. Even Sunlight Soap could not do that.

But Sunlight Soap will never spoil a single garment for you. Sunlight Soap is pure soap—pure fats and vegetable oils scientifically combined in correct proportions—and with all free alkali driven out. There are no injurious chemicals used in Sunlight Soap—we will pay $5,000 to anyone finding adulterants of any kind in it.

Sunlight Soap, having no foreign ingredients in its composition, washes as readily in hard water as in soft, as freely in lukewarm water as in hot, and releases the dirt from clothes without any rubbing to wear them out.

Use Sunlight Soap according to directions—try it just once—and convince yourself that it will do twice as much as other soaps.

SOME DAY after exposure to wind, dust or smoke, try Santol Face Cream. It's a tonic that removes impurities that clog the pores and gives a fresher, healthier appearance after the use of soap and water.

The Royal salute consists of twenty-one guns, though forty-one are fired from St. James' Park, and there are 19 military stations at home and 17 abroad that will thus honor the occasion.

Only on the birthday, accession and coronation of the Sovereign, and the birthday of the Consort of the Sovereign is this Empire web of concussion brought into play.

CORONATION CALAMITIES

Memoirs of the Crowning of King of England

Perhaps the most calamitous of all Coronation days in England was that of William the Conqueror.

After the Coronation oath, whereby the new monarch promised to protect the church, and to execute judgment and mercy, the Archbishop put the usual question: "Will you have this Prince to be your King?"

A clamorous shout of assent from the assembled English so startled the Norman soldiers outside that they immediately fled, not until the herald, believing the English had revolted.

Charles Stuart had a most unfortunate day. The heavy bars stuck in the mud of the Thames; the sermon sounded like a funeral oration; an earthquake shock was felt during the ceremony; and, finally, the herald pronounced him the "dubitable" heir, instead of the "indubitable" heir.

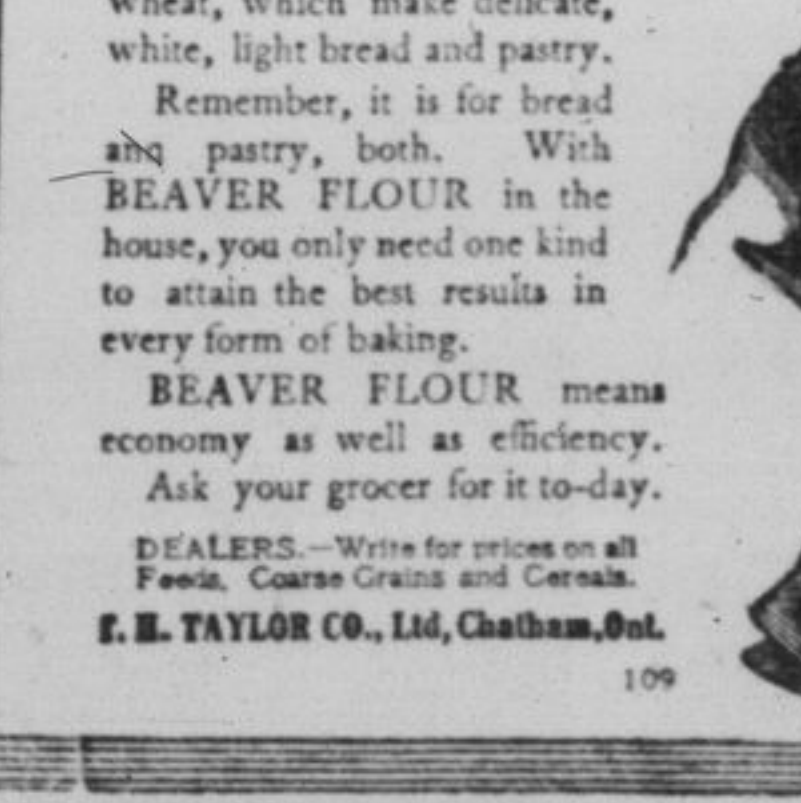

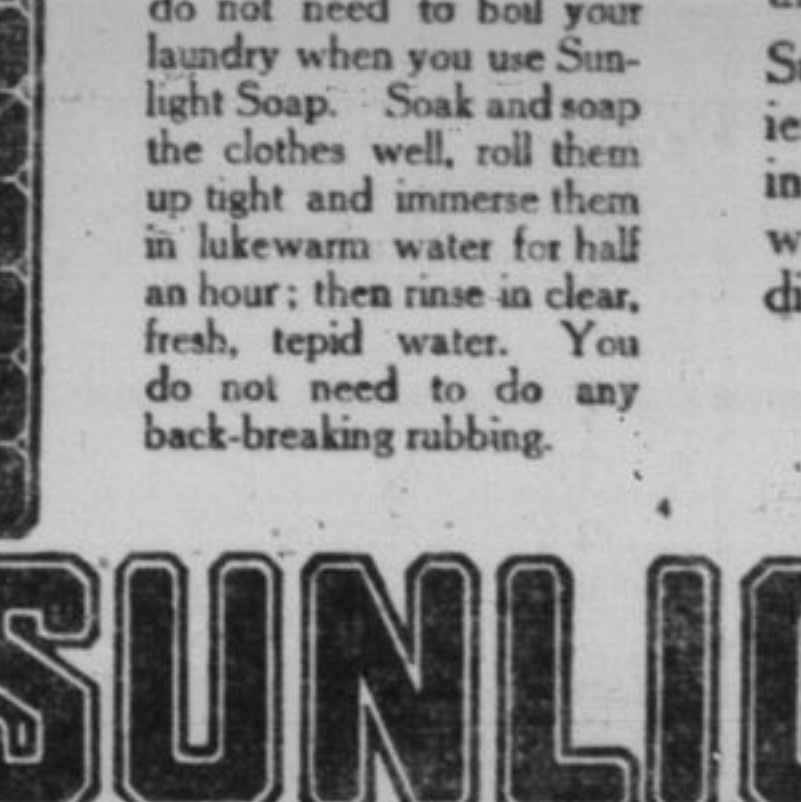

When George III. was installed on the throne, the master of ceremonies forgot the Sword of State, and the chair and canopy for the banquet.

"ANOPY DUCHESSSES." The interesting announcement is made that the Duchess of Sutherland, the Duchess of Portland, the Duchess of Montrose, and the Duchess of Hamilton are to have the honor of carrying the Queen's canopy at the Coronation.

No Harem Skirts There. With the Coronation approaching, and other Court festivities, ladies will do well to avoid obtruding hideous like the harem skirt upon the Royal Presence—says the A. P. Any lady who is so foolish as to appear before their Majesties thus absurdly clad will make herself down effectively, and this word of warning may prevent a few social calamities.
