SHARPLES RAISED

AND WAS TAKEN OVER TO CAPE VINCENT.

Steamer Ottawa Was Also Raised at Cape Vincent—First Cargo Grain From Fort William Reached M.T. Co's Elevator.

The steamer John Sharples, wrecked off the Galloup Islands, last fall, has been raised and towed to Cape Vincent. The Sharples, it will be remembered, was wrecked while loaded with a cargo of corn, for Richardson's elevator. Reid & Baker, Detroit, have been working on her for several days, several vessels having been used to take off the cargo. The schooner Ford River took a cargo off just a few days ago.
The steamer Ottawa, of the Thousand Island Steamboat company, which was partially destroyed by fire and then sunk, at Cape Vincent, last fall, was raised, yesterday, and will likely be towed to Kingston. The work was carried out by some of the company's men from this city, and was well carried out. W. J. Douglas went over to the Cape, yesterday, to look after the final work in raising the vessel.
The first cargo of grain for this season, arrived in the city at seven o'clock, last night, when the steamer Jacques arrived from Fort William with 70,000 bushels of wheat. The steamer McKinstry arrived from Fort William at ten o'clock, this morning, with 75,000 bushels of wheat. Both vessels are discharging at the M. T. Co's elevator.
The tug Emerson cleared with three barges to load grain at Port Colborne.
The steamer Tagona, grain-laden, from Fort William, is due to reach the M. T. Co's elevator, to-night. The steamer Mapleton is also on the way from Fort William, grain-laden.
The large Sigo cleared for Point Anne to load stone for Toronto.
The steamer Jacques had a good trip down, and encountered very little ice. What looked at first like very dangerous banks of ice, were encountered without any trouble whatever, as all the ice was well broken up.
The schooner Julia B. Merrill cleared for Oswego to load coal for Anglin's.
The schooner Bertha Calkins cleared for Oswego, yesterday, to load coal for Swift's.
The steamer City of Ottawa cleared from Swift's, yesterday afternoon, for the west, on her first trip of the season.
The steamer City of Montreal, which has been in the Kingston dry-dock being fitted out will clear some time to-morrow for the west.
The M. T. Co's barge Hamilton is in the Kingston Dry-Dock having her hull repaired. The steamer City of Hamilton went out of the dock yesterday.

Marine Doings Everywhere.
The Newboy is rather a queer name for a steamer, says the Cape Vincent Eagle, but Cape people will not mind that if the craft is fast and staunch and makes good time on the Cape-Kingston route. The Portsmouth philosopher says the Newboy is always welcome whether on time or not.
An Oswego despatch says: "The wrecking tug Reid from the Sharples, came in last night. The captain says they are enjoying fine weather at the wreck and that the cargo is being taken out as fast as possible. While he believes that the steamer can be floated he says it will not be possible to tell the extent of her injuries until the cargo is removed.

Reports From Oswego.
A despatch from Oswego says: The treaties in Chicago—are beginning to feel the effect of the shortage of coal which is reported from every port on the Great Lakes. There is an exceedingly heavy demand for fuel from both Canadian and upper-lake ports and many vessels are now lying at the treaties in Oswego awaiting their turn for loading. The Lackawanna is not receiving anywhere near the amount of coal it should, nor is the Delaware and Hudson and the New York, Ontario and Western.
Many steamers are tied up here and also a number of schooners who trade with Kingston and Lake Ontario ports. It is believed that the shortage will continue for some little time but the delay caused to boats will be but a few days.
Local officials state that the increased demand is on account of the opening of navigation and the increased business which is predicted during the winter months owing to the severity of the winter using up large quantities of coal held in storage.

JAMES-WHITNEY WEDDING.
Ceremony at the Residence of Cooke's Church Pastor.
Another wedding of interest was celebrated on Thursday evening the contracting persons being Miss Elizabeth Cooke, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Whitney, Brock street, and Thomas Bert James, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas James, Colborne street. It was a very quiet affair, only the immediate friends and relatives being present. The young couple were unattended.

Dr. G. E. McAvoy, Formerly of Wolfe Island, Passed Away.
One of the best known physicians of Muskogon, Mich., passed away in the person of Dr. George F. McAvoy, a short time ago. He made a vain endeavor to recover his health for two months, and took treatment at different hospitals but it was of no use. Stricture of the bowels was the cause of death. Deceased was born on Wolfe Island forty-four years ago and went to Michigan in the eighties. He was well known throughout the state both as a medical practitioner and druggist. He was the third brother of the family to die in three weeks time. A brother and sister on Wolfe Island survive him, and two brothers in the states. He leaves a widow and three children.

R. W. Longmore, Camden East, district deputy, paid an official visit to Limestone lodge, A.O.U.W., on Thursday night. After the business part of the meeting was concluded, the members spent a social time together, and refreshments were served.

PLAY ON STAIRWAY.
Stafford House in London Scene of Theatrical Experiment.
"The finest mansion in London," as Stafford House is justly styled, is to be the scene of a theatrical experiment on May 11th. A one-act play by an unnamed author will be produced on the historic staircase of the Duke of Sutherland's residence, the landing being utilized as a stage and the audience viewing the production from the great hall. The players will have to make their entrances and exits by walking up and down the stairs.
This staircase is the most remarkable feature of the Stafford House. The broad marble steps, branching right and left from the gallery, which runs round three sides of the hall and out of which open the state reception rooms, including the famous picture gallery.
Opening on to the landing is a large double glass door, which is never unlocked save when the Duke and Duchess of Sutherland are receiving a royal visitor, or on the rare occasion of a marriage from Stafford House. London correspondence New York Herald.
Militia Changes.
On Monday, May 1st, will go into effect the reorganization of the militia-system of Canada, by which the troops at present contained in the various military districts will be organized in divisions, on a basis which could be put into operation immediately should the troops be ordered to take the field.
Automobile Signs Changed.
By order of the Ontario Motor League the numbers on automobiles have been changed this year. Last season they were white letters on a black background. This year the letters are white on a dark blue background. The licenses are all renumbered.
