KEEP YOUR HEAD UNCOVERED. The Constant Wearing of a Hat Propagates Dandruff Germs. There are many men who wear their hats practically all the time when awake, and are blessed with a heavy shock of hair, yet if the scalp of these same men once became infested with dandruff germs, the parasites would multiply all the quicker for lack of air. Baldness would ensue as the final result. Newbro's Herpicide kills these germs and stimulates unhealthy hair to abundant growth. Herpicide is a pleasant hair dressing as well as a dandruff cure and contains not an atom of injurious substance. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. One dollar bottles guaranteed. James B. McLeod, special agent, Kingston, Ont.

A QUESTION OF COLOURS. The question has come up, which flag should be flying from the topmast of the Canadian navy, the British flag or the Canadian? The rear admiral who is in command of the fleet offers the opinion that the white flag of the British navy only should be seen. Another, and not an authority on the subject, declares that the Canadian flag should have the pre-eminence. On the ships engaged in commerce the flags of Britain and Canada are visible. The Union Jack of old England and the dominion flag of Canada are seen flying together from the same building. Why should a similar display of British and Canadian colours not be made on the Canadian cruisers? These ships of war are not now part of the imperial navy. It has been said that in case of necessity they might engage in the imperial service. But in times of peace they sail in Canadian waters, under the command of Canadian masters, and they should fly the Canadian flag. There can be no objection if they fly the British flag as well.

SOME SCHOOL DIFFICULTIES.

The trustees' section of the Ontario Educational Association has decided to petition the Ontario government to add another year to the public school course. The statement is that to properly teach the subjects now on the curriculum the school life of the average boy or girl is far too limited. Why not increase the age of compulsory school attendance from fourteen to sixteen? This would do more than anything else to improve the standard of education among the school children of the province.—Brantford Expositor.

This may mean one of two things: (1) the lengthening out of the period during which the scholars will be required to advance through the classes, or (2) the adding of a class which will carry the pupils to a point beyond the limits of the present senior fourth class. A kind of continuation class would relieve the institute of its congestion since it would enable the school board to restore the fees in the first year and reduce the expenses of the institute. Secondary education has become very expensive in this city and if some people could have their way this expense would go on developing until it became intolerable.

It is a question whether the larger school life of the public school scholars will be attended by the results which the trustees expect. The difficulty is to keep the boys and girls in school. The reports of the education department must show that the great slump in the attendance occurs when the third book has been reached, and the pupils are far from the end of the public school curriculum. What can be done to overcome this? The department comments upon the condition but does nothing to change it. The trustees see it and find no solution for the difficulty. A larger school term is not the only thing required, but a law which will keep down truancy and the removal from school of boys and girls before they have reached the attained age.

SUNDAY SCHOOL IN PERIL.

An address by Dr. Llywd, the vice-provost of Trinity University, on Sunday school teaching, touches a question of the widest interest. The Sunday school is the hope of the church, the institution in which so many get practically all they know about the Bible and true religion. Dr. Llywd emphasizes these strong points: "The teacher's work is the development and building up of character, and everything should tend towards that end." "The teacher should be a God-fearing man, prayerful, zealous and patient, if he is to attain the best results."

"The power of the teacher's personality in the life and character of the child is extremely potent, and in idealizing one's responsibility he must have an intimate knowledge of child life, child habits, and child capacity."

The quality of the teacher is, therefore, very high, and the query follows, Where is such a one to be found? The reverend doctor must have been aware while he spoke, of the difficulty sometimes of securing any kind of teacher, of accepting of the service of any one who volunteers it. It is only a few days since the head of one Sunday school, attached to one of the largest churches in the city, informed the writer that Sunday school workers he could not find. He knew of many men and women, of high mental equipment, who refused point blank to teach or serve in the Sunday school, and he confessed it with humiliation of spirit. In every Sunday school in the city there is a dearth of teachers. The talented people avoid the task, and the church has no means, apparently, of impressing them with a deep sense of duty. Character building? What does that imply? Teaching of the highest kind, with thoughts that are backed by a clean or beautiful life; so that religious instruction carries with it a great weight and influence. The school is more important than the church. The grown-ups have their dispositions more or less fixed. Their church connections may be vital, but in most cases they are nominal. The church can be helped into useful and reverential conditions, and the church, for some reason, is content to leave their moral welfare in the hands of indifferent and incompetent persons. Few of them have the zeal and piety and devotion which Dr. Llywd regards as essential.

IS IT PEACE—OR WAR?

Immo S. Allen, an English writer of considerable force, the author of many tracts of a political nature, wonders what will happen in 1915. It will be the century of the battle of Waterloo. In the same year the German navy, as great as England's, will be completed, and the Panama canal will be ready for service. Each will be answerable for the attainment of a nation's ambition. Mr. Allen reasons that Britain has been associated with the United States in the enforcement of the Monroe doctrine, which means that America, neither north nor south, may be used for the relief of European congestion. Germany must find some vent for her surplus population and her navy may help her to bring this to pass.

At the same time the competition of the Panama canal, a stupendous work, and prosecuted with tremendous energy, will give the United States an advantage of inestimable value. It will enable her navy, by rapid movements from the Atlantic to the Pacific, to offer a defence of her coast line with strength quite double that of her present fleet. This means much very much, in view of the aggressive qualities of the Japanese power.

Under these circumstances the British supremacy is essential. The predominance of her naval power is imperative. While the situation suggests itself to Mr. Allen he is conscious of the fact that something must happen ere long to end the strain of armed preparation. The British empire, in one moment, is urged to preserve her predominance, and in the next moment the hope is indulged that some union of the nations will be formed and looking towards an abiding peace.

Of late it was rumoured that Britain and the United States were considering an alliance in the interest of peace. Such an alliance would be very powerful. It could be made more powerful by the entrance of other nations. It would ensure the peace of the world. Still Mr. Allen, jingoist and anti-jingoist, alternately, would have Britain keep out of all entanglements, and withal preserve untarnished her ancient glory!

ECZEMA FOR NINE YEARS.

Zam-Buk Works Another Great Cure. Another wonderful cure of the dread scourge, eczema, by the great herbal balm, Zam-Buk, is reported from Montreal by Thomas Amesse, of 600 St. Timothy St. He says:

"For about nine years my son, Emile, was a great sufferer from eczema. The disease broke out on his face and arms, which were covered with sores. These would scale over for a time, but would then break open again and cause him terrible agony. At other times they would itch and burn, and it was impossible for him to refrain from scratching. We tried salves, and soaps, and preparations of all kinds, but it seemed that we could get nothing to benefit him. This state of affairs went on during nine long years, and you can well imagine the agony he suffered!" "Zam-Buk was recommended to us, but we feared it would prove like all other remedies had proved—useless! We got a supply, however, and it was not long before we found out its virtues. It eased the pain and removed the irritation. Then it began to heal the sores, until bit by bit the patch got less and less. The skin, which was cracked and sore, became soft and smooth, and in the end every trace of the disease was banished."

Not only for eczema, but for ulcers, blood poisoning, bad leg, varicose ulcers, itch, salt rheum, scalp sores, children's rashes and piles, Zam-Buk and Zam-Buk Soap constitute a certain cure. The soap is fine for baby's bath! It cures pimples, rashes, and cases those chafed, inflamed patches. All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box and Soap at 25c. a tablet, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

A Talk About Prices.

Hamilton Times. In Montreal on Saturday, Hon. Mr. Fisher, at a large public meeting in favor of reciprocity, discussed the prices which the farmer received for his grain as compared with the prices the consumer had to pay for his bread. He graphically showed that 100 ounces of bread cost the consumer 40 cents in Montreal, 41 in Toronto, 34 in Ottawa, but only 18 cents in Liverpool and 20 cents in London. Mr. Fisher said prominent Dutch capitalists proposed the investment of many millions in this country, and were of the opinion that reciprocity would be of great advantage to Canada.
