LIVE SUNDAY SCHOOL

PRINCESS STREET METHODIST GATHERING.

Attendance and Collections Larger Than Ever—The Officers for the Ensuing Year.

The annual business meeting of the officers and teachers of the Sunday school of Princess street Methodist church was held on Wednesday evening. Supper was served by the ladies at 6.30 o'clock. Afterward, reports were called for from the different departments of the work of the school. Miss Emma Wilder, superintendent, gave a most interesting report, which showed the school to be in a flourishing condition. She thanked the pastor and all officers and teachers for the able assistance they had rendered during her term of office. William Mack, secretary, had a most interesting account of the year's work to give. The average attendance had been 190, which is considerably better than any other year. The collection had been $1.10 in excess each Sunday over last year. The treasurer's report, given by Miss L. Garding, showed the finances to be in a healthy condition and the very careful disbursement of the money showed that the task was in very capable hands. Reports were also received from the other departments of the school which showed all branches to be under careful management.

One important step taken during the year was the adopting of the graded lessons. These have been found to be very beneficial, and although the financial drain has been somewhat heavier than with the other system, with the large collections, all bills have been promptly met.

The officers for the coming year are: Superintendent, Miss Emma Wilder; assistant superintendent, J. E. Chown; secretary, William Mack; assistant secretary, Frederick Mack; treasurer, Miss L. Garding; assistant treasurer, Miss Maude Quirt; librarian, F. H. Woods; assistant librarians, W. H. Williams and Frederick Sproule; junior librarian, Miss Mabel Rutherford; organist, Miss Celeste Sherbino; assistant organist, Bertram Cooper; cradle department, Miss Bella Mack and Vida Reynolds; sunshine committee, Misses M. Graves and M. Vanorder; additions to teaching staff, Misses Gibbons and N. Gates.

JAPAN'S SMALL HOUSES.

England Might Well Send Commission to Take Model.

It might be well to send a commission to Japan to investigate the domestic habits of the Japanese. Japan is a country of small houses. It is also a country of small people and a country with a climate. We cannot adopt the Japanese house in England. We might get a hint, however, as to the best means of making much of a little space. The Japanese are content with few ornaments; one picture and a vase of flowers are sufficient for them. What they don't want at the moment they put away. Provision is made for this putting away. They are not the slaves of their furniture. They have discovered what they can do without, and they act consistently on the discovery. We, on the contrary, make ourselves miserable and our homes a nuisance by conglomeration of the unnecessary. If the small house has come to stay in England—as seem most likely—we must learn to conform to its exigencies. We shan't be happy in it till we do.—London Evening Standard.

HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS.

Finance Committee Had a Discussion on the Question.

The question of needed improvements required in the harbor occupied the attention of the civic finance committee at a special meeting on Thursday morning.

Hon. William Hart, M.P., notified the committee that the sum of $50,000 which was voted a few days ago, for work in the harbor was at the disposal of the city, to do work where it was considered to be most needed.

There was considerable discussion, but no definite action was taken. It was decided to arrange for a meeting of the civic finance committee and the marine committee of the board of trade. An effort will be made to have this meeting on Friday night.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of Emily, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Jones, took place on Thursday afternoon, from Sergt. Cherry; spray, Mrs. C. McCormick; sheaf, Sergt. and Mrs. Atkins; cross, Mr. Lamieroux; wreath, Miss Eastwell and Corp. Aklerley.

Mounted Moose Head.

Captain Harry Stratford of the upper fire station shipped a moose head, which he mounted, to Miss E. M. Todd, Heath House, Heath Clarendon, Lancashire, England. Miss Todd, with a party of friends, killed the moose on a hunting trip which they took in the province of Quebec last fall and sent the head to him to be mounted.

Report Was Untrue.

Owing to a printer's error in an advertisement which appeared on page three, in Wednesday's Whig, an advertisement was made to read to the effect that William McCammon, the well-known market clerk and garbage inspector, was to be sold by auction. Needless to say, this was untrue, although a great many of Mr. McCammon's friends were asking him about it to-day.

Some Consolation in This.

Montreal Gazette.

The necessity of adopting a system of closure of debates in the House of Commons is again being discussed in the liberal press. If brought up in parliament the conservatives might well give it their serious attention and help in devising rules to check unnecessary talk. With the prospect that in a short time there will be a conservative government in power at Ottawa, and remembering how warmly garrulous the liberals were when in opposition, they may think closure a good thing.

Urged to Organize.

At the meeting of the Frontenac cheese board, Thursday afternoon, F. W. Valleeau who, with the president, Frederick Ferguson, were in Ottawa last fall, with a big deputation of farmers on the reciprocity question, referred to the visit in an official report. He referred to the strong organizations the farmers in the west had and said that it was up to the farmers in the east to get as well organized. Strong organization would mean a great deal for their welfare.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Crow and Blackbird Are Very Destructive.

Kingston, May 11.—(To the Editor):—For the information of "Citizen" who writes in yesterday's Whig of having seen blackbirds and crows robbing the nests of the birds, I might state that he is quite correct. These two species are very destructive to bird-life, in fact they have increased to such alarming numbers in recent years, that it is only a question of time when the government will be obliged to take drastic measures in order to stem the rising tide of "Crowdom."

Of the two vandals, the crow is by far the worst offender. Unfortunately when a crow arrives upon the scene, on mischief bent, he dominates the situation, as the poor little creatures whose nests he pillages, seem absolutely helpless to defend themselves from the attacks of this pirate.—E. BEAUPRE.
