The same relief is ready for you. Are you sure you do not need it? If Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy helped Charles Holmes, why won't it help you?

"I was troubled with heart disease, and after reading about Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy, I got a bottle. Before I got the Heart Remedy I had to sit up most of the night, and felt very bad at my stomach. Whatever I would eat made me feel worse, and my heart beat very fast. But thanks to Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy, I am all right now. I eat good, sleep good, and feel like a new man, although I am almost 68 years old. I have been a soldier in the late war of the rebellion, and was badly wounded." CHARLES HOLMES, Private Co. Daily Whig. WOE TO THE TROUBLERS. The Toronto News has found a new way to wait about it has revived a speech which was made by the premier at Lanigan, Saskatchewan, in July, 1910. In this speech Sir Wilfrid promised to have a revision made of the tariff and by a commission which would consult with all classes of the people, including the grain growers.

Well, what of that? The grain growers of the west were not content to wait for this provision. They wanted action at once, and they constituted in part, and in large part, the most remarkable delegation which ever visited Ottawa on political business. It demanded reciprocity among other things. The opposition encouraged them in this demand, and did so on the expectation that the government would be seriously embarrassed. Later came the trade agreement, according to which Canada got, in reciprocal trade, more than it ever looked for, and the western grain growers became jubilant. The government had scored unexpectedly, and parliament had been held up and made to mark time for weeks while the opposition fights the agreement and seeks to kill it. A promise broken! A promise to revise the tariff. That will be forgiven under the existing circumstances. Events have rushed upon the parties. The reciprocity deal dispensed with, the necessity for any cheese paring on the tariff. The west has got something better in the trade agreement, and woe to the party that opposes it.

COMPARISON IS NEEDFUL. The provincial auditor is not at all satisfied with many of the municipal accounts, which he sees or has laid before him. He thinks it highly desirable that the municipal accounts should be published in order that comparisons may be made between them, but this comparison must be made at present. And for a very good reason. They are not uniform, and it is a question, a very grave question, if the time has not arrived when the government should make them a matter for legislation. "In the various branches of the public service," says the auditor, "there is a community of interest embracing very many of the municipalities of the province of Ontario. In order that each municipality may have the benefit of the experience of every other municipality and be in a position to make a proper comparison of the cost of each branch of municipal service, it is necessary that a uniform system of grouping or classification of municipal revenues and expenditures should be adopted, and a reliable basis be thus furnished for the preparation of municipal statistics. Whether this grouping or classification can best be done by the local municipal officers or by a department of the government, is a matter for consideration." The advantage of publicity and proper classification is made evident by this one fact—that the experience of no two municipalities can be contrasted as they stand to-day. Many have utilities, the revenue and expenditure of which are not similarly accounted for. One system, the best and least complicated, is desired. But can the legislature enforce it?

TROUBLERS GETTING NUMEROUS. Who is leading the loyal opposition in Ottawa, anyway? Mr. Borden is absent from the house a great deal. Mr. Foster leads the party when he likes, but he assumes no responsibility with regard to it. Mr. Bognert, the alleged lieutenant of this leader, is conspicuous by his failure to appear at critical periods. That was an unseemly incident which occurred some time ago when Mr. Sealey, of Haldimand, induced half a dozen conservatives to endorse his resolution, exempting fruit and vegetables, from the trade agreement, and incidentally to endorse the trade agreement with these exceptions. Another unhappy incident occurred when the opposition attacked the grain growers' bill and tried to knock it out. No one went so far as Col. Hughes did a while ago, and called these men very bad names, but Mr. Lancaster was afraid they might, with incorporation, be in a position to commit fraud, and others suggested that the name of the association be changed. The defender of these western men was Mr. Staples, conservative member and Lincoln from Manitoba. He knew the grain men, knew them to be men of honour and character, and protested against any reflection upon them or their business. This silenced the croakers, and later Mr. Lancaster and Mr. Staples exchanged compliments. The western member, says the Globe, was heard to remark: "It is your own fault. You shouldn't butt in. This is our business." How respectful the opposition can become when it likes. But it will have to muzzle some of the party, for already the western members have troubles enough of their own.

PLAYING A WAITING GAME. Kingston is having an exhibition of the jockeying in business which took place at Brantford some time ago, when the Cataract Company and the Hydro-Electric Commission competed for the business of that city. It was months after the first visit of Mr. Beck, and from the time he promised electric light as cheap as candle light, before a table of rates was provided. It was long after the Seymour Company had given a promise before its quotation was forthcoming. When the Commission and the company were finally heard from the city found itself in a quandary, for the figures of both competitors were withdrawn.

The Hydro-Electric Commission, says Mr. Beck, is not a competitor. Yet it is straining itself to get the business of Eastern Ontario at any price. It cannot get the water powers or the control of them, by legislation or otherwise, and because of that engages in what seems to many persons a game of bluff. "Do not run into a contract with a private company," says Mr. Beck. Why not? If the contract is advantageous, reasonable, attractive, superior to the promised contract of the Commission, without tying up the city for a long period of years and loading it with debt, why should it not be accepted? And, above all, why should not the commission make a definite offer and stand by it?

What is the position of the city to-day? As the chairman of the power committee has remarked, "It is ahead of the game." It is prepared to act. It will have the offer of the competitors referred to a competent examiner, and considered upon their merits, but why should either the city or its expert be kept waiting? Mr. Beck comes to Kingston, makes a speech in the city hall, announces new rates, and goes away, taking the data with him. When asked for it he declines to hand it out, presumably on the ground that it is not final. The Seymour Company has been holding back, planning, perhaps, to go one better, and it has not been heard from in weeks.

Brantford got the offer from the Cataract Company of power ten per cent cheaper, in any event, than the Hydro-Electric Commission could supply it, and closed the deal. Had Mr. Beck's advice, not to close a contract with a company, been acted upon Brantford would not have had the cheap power and light it has to-day. This is not a question of sentiment, but of business, of dollars and cents, and nothing should be allowed to cloud the issue.

EDITORIAL NOTES. Rev. Mr. Sedley is right. Bible reading is not so important in the public school as religion reflected in the life and example of the teacher. The character of the teacher is, therefore, of greater merit than the certificate she carries. The Whig has been sent the first of the pamphlets against reciprocity which has been issued by the Canadian National League, with headquarters in Toronto. A glance at the waste paper basket.

The county electors should be getting ready for the next election. Why not run an independent, and one that will make the trade agreement his chief plank. Could the liberals and conservatives not unite for once upon a candidate who can command their confidence?

Three divorce bills, passed by the senate, have been held up by the commons, because the evidence in support of the divorcees is such as a court would not accept. Another proof that the senate is not competent for a business that should be carried on in the most judicial way.

Here's something that is really remarkable. Conservatives canvassed liberals on Saturday to go to Wolfe Island and discuss reciprocity. The county member had a meeting, and he is now hostile to the trade agreement. All the same Wolfe Island will vote for it, and vote strongly in the next election. Wolfe Island is all right for reciprocity and Dr. Edwards will realize this in the next election. There was no reason why the trade agreement should be made a political issue, and if some people had to lay their plans over again they would lay them differently. Reciprocity will be the issue in the next election, and this election will occur in November. For something "out of the ordinary" in printed matter try the Whig office. Prices right.

DOOR IS WIDE OPEN FOR CHRISTIAN WORK IN FAR-OFF CHINA.

Rev. Dr. Endicott Made Stirring Appeal for Volunteers at Sydenham Street Church—Spoke of His Missionary Work.

Among the missionaries who have been, and are laboring in China, few are able to present the situation of Christian missions in that empire, in a more interesting and romantic way than Rev. Dr. Endicott, who preached twice in Sydenham street Methodist church, on Sunday. Dr. Endicott has spent eighteen years in Western China, and reports of his struggles and success fourteen miles everywhere. At the morning service, Dr. Endicott said he would take no special text; the Bible was his text. The subject of his address was "The Challenge of China To The Christian Nations of the World."

In the evening Dr. Endicott gave an address on the conditions in China, eighteen years ago, and as they are to-day. Some of the difficulties which confronted the missionary, when he went out, were the difficulties of the minister of a home congregation, the language, climate and race. The Chinaman was in fear of the foreigner, or "foreign devil" as he was termed. They were suspicious of him, hated him, and doubted his motives. The Chinaman was proud of his race, whose history was traced back thousands of years, and justly proud. He tolerated any foreign religion, some Chinamen believing in sometimes three at once. The Roman Catholic religion was presented by the Jesuits centuries ago, and before political affairs were tampered with these self-sacrificing priests did a great spiritual work. The Chinese were very ignorant and superstitious. The speaker went into these phases in detail, giving many instances from his own experience and most valuable information. Within the last ten years everything was transformed, materially, railways were built and other mechanical and commercial necessities introduced. From the intellectual standpoint, looks of history, poetry, science, etc., have been translated, and a new intellectual atmosphere prevails. China has thousands of students in schools and universities, the majority enduring more self-sacrificing for an education than any nation on the globe. The people are making strides in betterments in morals, which were so disgustingly low. Perhaps the greatest curse—opium—the emperor, officials and people, have risen up against. Dr. Endicott said, when speaking of religious advancement, a breath had come down from God and moved congregations. The educated were dedicating their lives to Christian work. The door of opportunity was open in China, she must rise or perish, and the gospel is the only thing that will save her.

The speaker closed both addresses with an earnest appeal for volunteers. A great deal of ground has been covered, but millions have never heard the Word.

MARINERS' GRIEVANCE. Grain Handling and Shipping Facilities Criticized.

Toronto Globe. A well-known marine man writes: "Canadian vessel-owners engaged in the grain trade are very much annoyed at the lack of facilities for unloading grain cargoes in Montreal, as boats are very seriously delayed there in unloading. They say that Montreal is turning grain to New York, for lack of prompt despatch to lake vessels arriving there with grain, and also by the higher ocean rates charged from Montreal than the same lines are giving out of New York. Several million bushels of Canadian grain are reported as going from Fort William to L. O. B. ocean steamer New York via Buffalo, on a through rate of 5.90 cents per bushel, while Canadian vessels are offering to carry wheat from Fort William to L. O. B. ocean vessel, Montreal, at 4.50 cents per bushel, and the latter find it impossible to get any cargoes at the lower rate at present. They feel there is something radically wrong in Montreal, when an advantage of 1.40 cents per bushel is no advantage to enable exporters to do business from Montreal, and that they are being compelled to do business via American channels at higher rates on account of the lower ocean rate, which, taken together with lake and rail charges, gives them a cheaper rate from Fort William to British or continental ports than they can get via Montreal."

Something for the Guarantee. Hamilton Herald. It is officially announced that the Dominion government will guarantee the bonds of that portion of the Canadian Northern Railway between Montreal and Port Arthur to the extent of $35,000 a mile at three and one-half per cent interest.

In return for this favor the company will undertake to carry over its own line all traffic consigned to and destined to a Canadian port; to charge no more for export traffic destined to a Canadian port than for traffic destined to an American port; not to advise or encourage transportation to foreign ports, and to arrange for interchange of traffic with the Intercolonial.

The three Canadian trans-continental railways—the Canadian Northern seems destined to be the most distinctive Canadian. So far, it has no terminal facilities in any United States port, as both the other big companies have. It is an all-Canadian concern—conceived, promoted, and brought into being by Canadians, and bound to transport export traffic from the point of origin to Canadian ports.

Is it not Mackenzie & Mann's railway system that deserves to be known as the real National Transcontinental railway system? The contributors to the Farmers' Bank of Canada have been directed to pay the double liability, as well as return all dividends received. Hon. Mr. Lemieux, designs to bring railway mail clerks and postal clerks in city offices under the civil service act as early date. Fresh garden seeds at McLeod's Drug Stores.

London, Ont., May 15.—For the first time in two weeks William Hayden has taken the index finger of his right hand from the tip of his nose. It was a long time to remain in one position, but Mr. Hayden will think the results worth the inconvenience, for now he has a fine tip to his nose where formerly he had none. This morning the cartilage of the finger was cut away, and there to the end of the nose stuck that cartilage. One thing remains to be done. Where the finger nail was a piece of skin will have to be grafted, but that will be easily done in a week or two.

To Get Poisons From the Blood

You Have to Depend on the Filtering Process of the Liver and Kidneys. These Organs Alone Can Purify the Blood, and They Do Their Work Well When Helped by DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

No medical treatment can possibly purify the blood except as it sets in healthy working order the kidneys, liver and bowels. To these organs is assigned the duty of filtering from the blood the poisonous waste matter which is left over when the nutritious elements are extracted from the food you eat. If they are not overcrowded or slow and sluggish in action they keep the blood pure and healthy.

For this reason Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the most satisfactory treatment you can possibly obtain to purify the blood. Their effects are prompt, definite and certain. The liver action is quickened, the kidneys are invigorated, the regular movement of the bowels is assured. It is only a matter of a few hours until you begin to feel the benefits of this great medicine. Further use, as often as is necessary to keep these organs active, will cleanse and purify the blood and enable the digestive system to properly do its work. Backache, headache and bodily pains will disappear, and the fatigue which is an accompaniment of poisons in the system will give way to vigor and energy. One pill a dose. 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

REVIVES OLD CAMEO. FOR SKIN DISEASES. A Treatment That Costs Nothing Unless It Provides Satisfactory Relief.

Antique Shops of Paris and London Are Ransacked. London, May 15.—An early Victorian fashion revival is the cameo which is being worn on hats or by clasping the belt at the waist or even at the wrist. The antique shops of Paris and London are being ransacked for cameos. The pink and creamy tints of these ornaments are considered wonderfully becoming and as the finishing touch to white evening gowns they are looked upon as indispensable at the present moment. Jade, too, which has been out of favor for years, has come back into fashion and is to be seen ranging in tint from darkest green to pure white. Jade of a delicate bright green is the most popular and is used in necklaces of rounded beads carefully matched, drops for earrings and cabochons mounted in various ways alone or with pearls and diamonds. Jade ornaments mounted in the Chinese fashion are perhaps the most interesting, certainly the most curious. They are oblong pendants curvingly carved with lotus flowers and leaves or dragons or lizards or some twisted arabesque. They are strung on yellow silk cords with seed pearls grouped on each side of a roughly shaped pink tourmaline bead. The effect suggests fresh green foliage surrounded by a pink blossom.
