C.L.C.s. WON CITY LEAGUE OPENING GAME.

Defeated Victoria's 5 to 3 in Ten Innings—Wild Throw of Pitcher Gillespie Allowed Two Runs to Score.

An error on the part of Gillespie, who pitched for the Victoria's, lost that team the opening City League baseball game on Saturday afternoon, after they had led the C.L.C.'s down for nine innings and had to play the tenth to decide who was to be the winner. At the end of the ninth, the Victoria's had their opponents tied, and with a great chance of winning the game, Gillespie made a wild throw home, which let in two runs. The Victoria's failed to overcome this lead, and were beaten.

No more desirable day could have been wished for. It was hot, it is true, but the fans withstood the heat good-naturedly, and for nearly three hours held their tempers while the teams endeavored to wrest victory from each other. No diamond was somewhat heavy, owing to the rain on Friday, but the teams made the best of it.

A few minutes after three o'clock, President Tierney, of the City League, conducted W. R. Givens, donor of the Standard trophy, to the pitcher's plate, and the latter formally opened the league by throwing the ball to Ald. R. E. Kent, who, of course, dropped it, purposefully, or perhaps he was deceived by the newspaper proprietor's curves.

The Victoria's took the field, disappointing the fans, for they were impatient to see what kind of material Manager "Bill" Kennedy had imported during the winter. Lucas, the second man up, made a sacrifice hit to allow Esford to get third, but the ball was too quick for him. Lucas scored on an error of McMahon. Dickson sent a drive out to field and got second on an error.

The Victoria's failed to get a run in at all during the first three innings. From the first they struck Brooks freely, but could not make much headway. Davidson made a double in the second, along with Gillespie, on a double play. Brooks was touched for eight hits to Gillespie's nine. This is pretty good hitting, in view of the fact that Brooks was strange to the Victoria's. Dorey, the catcher from Gananoque, was fair, although not what the fans had expected. His one strong feature is a sure throw to second base. The Victoria's learned this soon after the commencement of the game, and respected it. McMahon brought in the first run for the Victoria's, on a sacrifice hit by Davidson in the fourth inning.

In the fourth inning, a curious play was witnessed. Dice and Saunders were on second and third respectively, with Brooks, the pitcher, at bat. He knocked an infield fly and was declared out. Instead of waiting on their bases, as they should have, Dice and Saunders moved off, and were caught on a double play, thereby retiring the side. Brooks made up for this, however, in the sixth inning, when he slugged a double out to left field. This made the fans sit up and take notice somewhat, and incidentally put a feather in the stranger's cap. This hit was also responsible for two runs, those of Saunders and Dice, who preceded him at bat. Nicholson found time to take a two-base hit in this inning, but it was of no use, as he only got to third base when the side was retired.

Vanhorn notched the second run, taking his base on balls and stealing home on a bunt of Pound to short. Duncan was responsible for the third run, which the Vics obtained, which was necessary to tie their opponents in the eighth inning, on a two bagger of Nicholson's.

There was no scoring during the remainder of the eighth or ninth, and at the end of the ninth innning the score stood three all. Gillespie was holding the C.L.C.'s down well. Dickson was on third and Dice on second, with Brooks at the bat. Brooks bunted to Gillespie, who made a wild throw to the plate, allowing in two runs, which decided the game. The Victoria's could not come back with the runs necessary to win out, so they had to walk off the field defeated.

The victory of the C.L.C.'s was due in no way to the new men on the team. Fans declared at the beginning of the game that the only way the Vics would win would be due to the work of the imported battery. Both Brooks and Dorey are good men, but they have nothing over Gillespie and Cotman.

The fans watched the strangers with interest. Lucas, at left field, seems to be the best of the team.

With Davidson on first, Duncan at second and Vanhorn at right field, the rest of the Victoria team remains unchanged from last season. All the team were in first class condition and for the first game showed up remarkably well.

The Victoria's attribute their loss to the fact that a black dog ran across the field twice and the last time headed for the bench where the Vics were sitting.
