COUNTY BEGS THE CITY

TO ABOLISH MARKET TOLLS AND FORESTALLING BY-LAW.

The Matter Referred to Committee by the City Council—The Forestalling By-Law Declared a Rank Injustice.

The request of the Frontenac county council that the city market tolls be abolished was referred to the property committee by the council at its meeting, on Monday evening. The aldermen rather balked at the request for the abolition of the forestalling by-law, and decided that the matter of tolls would be enough to consider for the present.

The county council deputation which addressed the council consisted of Warden Miller and Councillors Rankin, Rogers and Foley.

Councillor Rankin reminded the council that in 1902, when J. Morgan Shaw was mayor of Kingston, the county council was told that if it abolished the road tolls, there would be a good chance of the market fees in the city being eliminated. Again in 1905, when the late George Sears was chairman of the city property committee, it was practically promised that the market tolls would be abolished as soon as the county roads were freed of tolls. Now the Frontenac roads were all free and Councillor Rankin declared that the city council would be doing very little indeed by striking off the tolls it still collects on its markets.

Councillor D. P. Rogers, of Pittsburg, told the aldermen that they would benefit the city by removing the market restrictions, and also by enlarging the covered portion of the market house so as to give protection to farmers' wives. Seventeen years ago he appeared before the council and asked for the abolition of the market fees, yet they still remained. The forestalling-by-law should also be abolished, he claimed, as it was a hardship to farmers' wives.

"Throw off these contemptible tolls and you'll get a better and a larger market," declared Councillor Rogers. "The forestalling-by-law is a rank injustice," was his closing remark.

Councillor John Foley, the reeve of Howe Island, stated that instead of striking off tolls, the city had increased the hay market charges to twenty-five cents. He hoped that every toll charge in the district would soon be a thing of the past, including toll charges on Cataract bridge.

Ald Elliott moved, seconded by Ald. Ross that the question of toll abolition be referred to the committee on city property and markets.

Councillor Rogers wanted the forestalling-by-law included in the resolution. Ald. Elliott replied that he could not go that far. If the county people knew how the citizens as a whole respected the forestalling by-law, they would understand the situation better. The market was a housewife's market. If the forestalling by-law was not in effect, when the housewife came to market she would find it bare, cleaned up by the hucksters and merchants.

Ald. Couper declared that it would be better for the citizens as a whole if the forestalling-by-law was abolished. He knew for a fact that produce could be bought cheaper in the stores than on the market, as a general rule, and if the merchants had free access to the markets it would be better for the city. He did not have to go to the market to secure produce for his own store, because the farmers drove to his door, and he could get everything he wanted.

Ald. Ross—"In that case we might as well abolish the market entirely." Councillor Rankin stated that he was satisfied to go one step at a time and have the question of tolls dealt with first. Afterwards, the question of the forestalling-by-law could be dealt with. He intended to place petitions in all the corner grocery stores in Kingston, and have them signed by the people, for he knew that the majority of the citizens were opposed to the forestalling-by-law, for the reason that the large majority bought their goods in these corner stores and they knew that their dealers could secure goods from the market earlier if they had free access to the market.

The resolution of Ald. Elliott for a referendum of the toll question to the property committee was adopted.

Tied Up Traffic. The run-off of the Kingston and Pembroke railway train, on Monday afternoon, tied up traffic out of this city, on that road, Tuesday. The train was made up as usual, but at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon it had not pulled out, owing to the fact that the track had not been cleared. It was expected that the train would be able to leave at any moment. Quite a large number of passengers were waiting. A number of passengers for Ottawa and Montreal, went via the Grand Trunk.

Ganaoquo Rebekahs Here. The Daughters of Rebekah, of this city, entertained a number of their Ganaoquo friends at their lodge room in the Y.M.C.A. building, Monday evening. About twenty-five of their Ganaoquo friends were here to assist in conducting some degree. After business a social time was spent. Dancing was the chief pastime, music being furnished by McAuley's orchestra. At 1.30 a.m. the gathering broke up and a number of the members went with their Ganaoquo friends to the train.

Gave Her a Farewell. On Monday evening, Mrs. W. A. Tulloch gave a farewell party at her home, on Colborne street, in honor of Miss I. Gowdy, a student in the Kingston Business College, who leaves for her home in Colebrook on Tuesday afternoon. The evening was very enjoyably spent in music and games. In the wee sma' hours very dainty refreshments were served, after which the guests dispersed. Miss Gowdy is followed by the good wishes of a host of friends and will be greatly missed by all who knew her.

HOUSE WAS ON FIRE. $200 Damage to Unoccupied Dwelling on Division Street. Fire, which broke out late on Monday night, from some unknown cause, did about $200 damage to an unoccupied house, No. 288 Division street, owned by John Lyons.

An alarm was sent in to the fire department from box No. 5, at 11.55 o'clock, and the fire-fighters were soon on the job. The fire started in a one-story frame dwelling and the fire appears to have started in a shed at the rear, joining the dwelling, and extended, for the most part, between the ceiling and the roof. Owing to the fact that the roof had been covered over three times with shingles, and over this a layer of tin, it made it a rather hard blaze to get at. However, one line of hose was sufficient to extinguish it.

KINGSTON MAN'S PURCHASE. Of a Fast Trotting Gelding, at Watertown, N.Y. Monday's Watertown, N.Y., Times says: "William Allison, of Dexter, to-day, refused an offer of $1,000, made by J. A. Jenkins, of Kingston, made for his fast colt Shamrock, by McPherson, dam the dam of Siridar. Shamrock stepped an eighth at the local track this week in sixteen seconds. He is a three year old and Mr. Allison believes his future is worth more than the offer."

"Mr. Jenkins" purchased from Dr. John A. Barnette the trotting gelding Almerino, by Elmerino, that has been driven this spring by Henry Foster. Almerino has a race record of 2.28 and was for several seasons campaigned by George LaLone. The price was not made public."

THE SPORT REVIEW

ORIOLES ENTER JUNIOR CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE.

Baseball Games Scheduled For This Evening—Results of the Big League Games on Monday.

The application of the Orioles, a recently organized junior baseball team, for admission to the junior City League, was one of the things which was considered at the meeting of the executive of the league, Monday evening. There were previous to this only two teams in the league. The schedule will be drawn up and published on Wednesday.

St. George's Down and Out. St. George's church baseball fans were intending to enter a junior team in the City League series, but now they will have to let the matter drop. They were warned by Secretary Trotter to have their application in for the meeting Monday evening, but they did not do so, and as the applications have closed, they will be out of it for this season.

Retailers Practice. The Retailers will have a practice game, this evening, at the cricket field with the Victorians. They are working hard and will be in good shape for their first game.

Queen's vs. Sydenham. Queen will meet Sydenham at the Victoria school grounds, Tuesday evening, in the Sunday School A.A.A. baseball series. Queen is one of the strong teams in the league, and Sydenham has strengthened its lineup considerably since the last game. The collections which have been received so far have been barely sufficient to cover the running expenses of the league, and the fans are requested to do as much better as they can.

Second Mercantile Game. On Thursday evening the Retailers and Civil Service teams will have a chance to display to the "yahoos" who follow the Mercantile Baseball League series, what kind of "scouting" they have been doing this season. The Retailers, it will be remembered, made a grandstand finish last season, when it was too late to get first or second place, and this year they have been doing a great deal of hard practicing. The Civil Service team, which last year was known as the Posties, will have as strong, if not stronger, line-up than last season. Leo Millan will play with them this year, and "Med" Cooke. Both will be valuable additions.
