Love Making Extraordinary.

Mr. Bonnard in Devon. The principal reason for the choice of the Tories is neither my lack of a practical turn nor my "ability." They would put on their best Sunday manner if I were willing to accept their vote and to defend the country, the Catholic religion, and the French language arm in arm with Sir Hugh Graham and the patriot, Clifford Sifton. These recurring manifestations (mention is made also of an article in the Ottawa Journal) agree to let sincere conservatives know what it is the Tories expect of their allies, or rather of their slaves, of the inferior race.

To Ascertain the Reason.

Ottawa, June 16.—The commission on conservation will hold an investigation into the fire losses in Canada, both urban and rural, to ascertain why the fire bill of Canada is so much greater than Europe's or the United States.

BIG POSSE AT BAY

HAD PREVIOUSLY FOUGHT OFF PARTIES OF SHERIFFS

Behind Stone Rampart—Escaped From Reform School and Has Developed Into Genuine Desperado.

Vallejo, Cal., June 17.—Fred McLeville, a boy who escaped from the Preston Reform School two weeks ago, has developed into a genuine desperado of the Tracy pattern. He has fought off two bunches of deputy sheriffs and is now in the hills near here standing off a score of sheriffs and deputies. McLeville has been busy since he escaped from school. He is a small wiry chap, with cold grey eyes and his work to-day shows he has genuine nerve. He is believed to have held up several men recently near Vallejo, and the police here are watching for him. Early yesterday morning two officers ran into him as he was boarding an electric car. They tried to arrest him, but he opened fire, and after exchanging many shots, escaped. He took refuge on a hilltop between Vallejo and Benicia, and there, behind a natural rampart of stone, he has held off a posse all day. He has had no food since eight o'clock last night and, it is said, the police believe he will succumb to exhaustion before the night is over, but they don't care to rush a natural fort for fear of loss of life.

Politeness Personified. The art of avoiding a conversational unpleasantness by a dexterous phrase belongs, in its highest perfection, to the viceroy of India, writes a contributor to the London Chronicle, he had a shikaree, or hunting servant, whose special duty was to attend the visitors at the viceregal court on their shooting excursions.

Returning one day from one of these excursions, the abdicare encountered the viceroy, who, full of courteous attentiveness for his guests' enjoyment, asked: "Well, what sort of sport has Lord had?"

"Oh," replied the scrupulously polite Indian "the young sahib shot diversely but God was very merciful to the birds."

SAVED BY A WORKMAN

WILLIAM DETLOR WAS INJURED IN SO DOING.

Tree Was About to Fall on Young Man Near Collins Bay When He Pushed Him Off of Harm's Way—Tree Pinned Detlor Down and He Had Leg Fractured.

William Detlor saved the life of a young man who was working with him in a bush near Collins Bay, cutting down trees, but in so doing, he himself was injured, suffering a fracture of the leg. He is a patient at the general hospital, and is doing nicely.

Detlor, who is fifty-one years of age, was working for a farmer named Bauer. He and the young man were cutting down a tree, when just as it was about to fall, the young fellow, giving no thought of the danger, walked on to the danger line. Mr. Detlor was quick to act, and rushing forward, he succeeded in pushing the young fellow out of harm's way, but he himself was caught by the falling tree and pinned down, suffering the injury mentioned.

It is stated that the young man would have met a sure death, but for the quick action of Mr. Detlor.

HONOR THE FLAG. But be Sure and Have Right One Up.

During this, the centennial year, Canadians of all classes will feel it a privilege to join in the celebrations by displaying flags at every opportunity and on every appropriate occasion. There is one flag, and only one to be used, therefore, there ought not to be so much confusion in the public mind regarding it. The one flag that belongs to the individual British subject, and that is appropriate for a municipality or a corporation is the Union Jack. The Union Jack is not the Canadian ensign. The latter is a red flag having Union Jack in a canton at the upper left hand corner next to the hoist, and the coat-of-arms of the Canadian Empire. The ensign is authorized by the Canadian mercantile marine and should never be displayed on shore. Perhaps the majority of our people believe it is the authorized flag for Canada, and that is why they call it the "Canadian Flag."

The flag that is authorized for Canada and for every other part of the British empire is the Union Jack. We should not display white ensigns, blue ensigns, red ensigns or standards indiscriminately. The white ensign is the flag of the imperial navy. The blue ensign belongs to the public service and the naval reserve, while the red ensign is the flag of the merchant marine. The royal standards should never be displayed except when members of the royal family are present, and then only on official flag poles. As the government has authorized the floating of Union Jacks over public buildings every day, except Sunday, throughout Canada, it is to be hoped that Canadians will soon learn that it is the Union Jack, and not the Union Jack alone, that they should use on all occasions to manifest their patriotism. As a people it should be our first duty to see that our flag is honored and respected, and that no foreign flag without authority is displayed on British soil.

A FIVE-YEAR SENTENCE IS GIVEN C. D. SHELDON

Montreal Blind Pool Man Took the Sentence Hard—Had Hoped to Make Restitution.

Montreal, June 16.—C. D. Sheldon, charged with stealing $15,000 given him for investment, was sentenced to five years hard labor in penitentiary by Justice Langelier this morning. The court room crowded, Sheldon, well dressed, and stout, but grown haggard, the sentence crumpled him up, but he soon recovered and said: "The verdict came as a surprise. I took the people's money with the best intentions, and if had been acquitted, I had hoped to make good the money lost through me."

Notes From Bath. Exeter, N.Y., June 16.—Divers examined the hull of the steel steamer George Davy, of the Montreal Transportation company, which sank on Tuesday in fifty feet of water, after striking the lighthouse shoal near Clayton. Several pipes were found to be pierced. The cargo of 50,000 bushels of corn is being pumped out and the steamer, it is expected, will be speedily raised. She is the fourth vessel to be wrecked on the shoal.

THE WOLFE ISLANDER

Likely Repairs Completed Within Next Two Weeks.

The schooner Julia B. Merrill cleared for Oswego.

The steamers Neepawah and the Port Colborne passed up, on Thursday night.

The crew of the steamyacht Ramona have arrived in the city, to give the yacht its finishing touches.

The crew of the steamer St. Lawrence, arrived in the city to take out the steamer from Gananoque, to-night.

The yacht Kate, owned by Charles McDonald, Gananoque, was in the city, to-day, to take a party of clergymen, who have been attending the meetings of synod, on a tour among the islands.

The steamer Jacques, passed down, on Thursday, grain laden, from Port William to Montreal. It was at first thought she would discharge here, but it was decided that she would go on to Montreal.

At Swift's wharf: The steamer City of Hamilton stopped, on her way down, this morning, and discharged freight; the steamer Britannic discharged freight on her trip up, this morning; steamer Altha, down, from Bay ports; the steamer Beuna Vista was up, from Smith's Falls, this morning, and returned.

It is expected that the repairs to the steamer Wolfe Islander will have been completed in two weeks' time. The work is being carried on at Davis' dry dock as speedily as possible. The veteran steamer Pierpont has been holding down the Islander route for the Wolfe Islander, and has been giving entire satisfaction.

M.T. Co's elevator: Tug Emerson, light, from Sodus Point, cleared with two light barges, to load coal at Embury, for Montreal; tug Thomson, from Montreal, three light barges, cleared for Montreal, with two grain barges; steamer Advance arrived from Montreal, and will go on the dry dock for slight repairs; the tug Glyde came off the dry dock to-day, also the schooner Marie; the tug Hall is expected from Montreal, to-night, with two light barges, and will clear for Montreal with two grain-laden barges.

To Burn Oil as Fuel. On the suggestion of C. J. Smith, general manager of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation company, it is proposed to introduce oil fuel instead of coal on several of the steamers plying the great lakes and rapids between Toronto and Montreal, and negotiations to this effect are being conducted with the Imperial Oil company.

A RUNAWAY ENGINE. Started by Foreigner—Stopped When Steam Exhausted. Battle Creek, Mich., June 16.—Great excitement was caused by a G.T.R. engine, which ran away under full steam. It is said to have been started by a foreigner, who pulled the throttle and jumped. It was captured near Bellevue, fourteen miles distant. The steam was exhausted.

Corsets That Produce Ideal Figures

FASHION says that the thin White Dresses shall have more careful fitting, better lines, than those we have been accustomed to think would do for Summer wear.

This means that the day has passed when "Any Kind" of a Corset would do for Summer. It means that the Summer Corset must be selected with even greater care than those for winter, because through the thinner materials lines show more clearly.

We have several good makes chosen with regard to the requirements of Fashion, and the comfort of wearers.
