OPEN TO MEET BOSSES

THE MASONS WOULD LIKE AGREEMENT REVISED.

Unanimously in Favor of Strike—Backed Up by International Union—Forty-nine Men to Receive Strike Pay.

The strike of the masons is still on. On Tuesday morning, Thomas E. Lizard, the secretary of the union, wrote to the contractors, telling them that a committee from the union is willing to meet a committee from the contractors...

The question about the rough stone can then be thoroughly discussed. As stated in the Whig, on Monday, the strike was called by the international union, that is the executive, but it may not be generally known that the local members of the union also voted by what is regarded as a unanimous vote...

Mr. Lizard, when asked by the Whig, stated that the men would receive strike pay the very first week they are out. As they went out on Monday, they will get their first pay at the end of the week...

Mr. Lizard, the international officer, has been acting in this capacity for thirteen years, and in all that time has only had three strikes to deal with. His home is in Toronto.

It is denied by the parties concerned, living on Colborne street, that a woman had chased her children with a knife. Nothing of the kind occurred, as, as matter of fact, only one little child was in the house. The family believe they are being harassed by people who make sport by unnecessarily calling the police.

On Monday afternoon a big crowd took advantage of the hospitality extended to the employees and friends by the firm of James Swift & Co. Brophy's Point was the scene of a happy crowd as could be got together. Men, women and children enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

A fine programme of sports and a baseball game between the office staff and outside men was put on, the latter winning by one run.

Charles A. Low and James Swift, jr., had charge of the affair. No pains was spared to make it a big success. A tired but happy crowd returned to the city at eight o'clock.

ANOTHER "TAG DAY" COMING. It will be in Aid of the General Hospital.

Save up your pennies, for another "tag day" is on the way. It will not be observed until the fall, however, and this will serve as due notice for the saving up of money.

The "tag day" will be in aid of the general hospital, and it will be held on the first Saturday in October. Better mark down the day, and see that you are in the city to help along such a worthy work.

The Ladies' Auxiliary, of the general hospital decided upon the "tag day," at a meeting held on Monday afternoon, at which the president, Mrs. William Newlands, was in the chair.

The collection of funds will be carried out in the usual manner. There will be a band of young ladies who will "hold down" all the street corners, and tag the citizens as they pass by.

Finger Print System. The system of identification by finger prints, adopted in Japan toward the end of 1908, is said to have proved successful. Official investigations show that out of 150,000 finger prints recorded since the introduction of the system more than one hundred previous convictions have already been proved by this means during the present year alone. The police as well as the prison authorities will shortly make use of the system.

Successful Excursion. In spite of the fact that a heavy shower fell just a short time before the steamer America left, and heavy clouds threatened to open up at any moment, the first annual excursion of the Park Nine baseball team, held Monday evening, was a success in every way. About 250 took in the delightful trip to Gananoque, where the boat stopped for an hour to enable those from Kingston to see their Gananoque friends.

Hard on Wolfe Islanders. Owing to the fact that the repairs on the steamer Wolfe Islander have not yet been completed, and the steamer Metropont, which has been doing the work, is required by the Thousand Island Steamboat company, the steamer Jessie Bain had to be put on the Wolfe Island-Kingston route to-day. It is expected that the Wolfe Islander will be ready for service again, in a week's time.

Holiday on Monday. The Whig will publish on Saturday and will take its holiday on Monday along with the great body of our citizens.

WAS BOY KIDNAPPED

FAILURE TO RECOVER BODY GIVES RISE TO BELIEF

That Five-year-old George Lailey Was Not Drowned at All—Youngster Says He Saw Boy Come Off Wharf.

The fact that the body of five-year-old George Lailey, who has been missing since Thursday afternoon, has not been recovered after diligent search has turned the thoughts of those who are interested in the case to kidnapping, and many are not slow to assert that the boy is not drowned at all.

The appearance on the scene of a small boy who is positive that he saw the young lad come off the wharf after he had started to go to his father on the end of it, has upset the belief to a certain extent that the boy has disappeared in the way that has been asserted. The belief has been strengthened, when it is remembered now that there were numerous larger boys on the wharf at the time swimming and it seems to some impossible that the little fellow could have fallen into the water without some one seeing him.

Gypsies were in the vicinity at the time and also some of the soldiers who were in camp left the city on Thursday afternoon for their homes out on the K. and P. railway. There is a possibility that the youngster may have been taken away by some of these. There seems to be some foundation for this belief, and the people in the vicinity of where the parents of the little fellow live, are ready to grasp at anything that will tend to end the suspense.

In the meantime the search in the harbor, where he was supposed to have been drowned has ceased, and watch will be kept on the waters in that district until the tide rises to the surface. The place where he was thought to have been drowned was dynamited, Tuesday morning for two hours in the hope that the body would be raised, but all efforts were fruitless.

When last seen he was wearing a mixed suit, was bareheaded and had no boots or stockings on. Instead of a shirt, he wore an undershirt. He was light-complexioned, had blue eyes, fair hair, and was quite chubby, being large for five years of age. He was very intelligent and could talk distinctly, being able to tell where he lived and what occupation his father worked at.
