ECHO OF A VOICE.

The Montreal Standard reprints a speech which was made in Montreal many years ago, by the late Principal Grant. He favoured closer trade relations with the empire. The theme was Canadian National Ideals. The most notable phrase in the speech was this: "We can do nothing if we barter our honour for some hope of individual gain." His idea was that if Canada was to throw in her lot with any other she should do it with the mother country. The information is added that Principal Grant was a warm friend of the late Sir John Macdonald and was "invited on several occasions to join his cabinet." The possibility of closer trade relations with England will be made clearer when the British commission, which the imperial conference has recommended, has done its work. To its cost all the colonies will contribute. It will be the most comprehensive report that has ever been written. It may warrant the announcement of the trade agreement, something better being suggested—but at present the something is not in sight.

A WASTE OF MONEY.

If anything were wanted to suggest the reorganization of the city's service, and so far as the working forces were concerned, it would be supplied in the contracts which are now going on. Take Brock street for example. Last year the street was ripped up for a block, and for one kind of service. Now it is disturbed for another purpose. The city is responsible for a duplication of toil and expense which is simply inexcusable under the circumstances. Why could not water and gas and drainage be attended to at the one time? The complaint against private ownership was that there was no control of the streets, that each corporation, made excavations when it pleased, or had occasion, and that it was impossible to keep the highways in repair. The idea was that if all the utilities were under one management, the city's system would prevail, and with it an economy of management which would certainly inure to the profit of the people. And the waste of time and money goes on because the branches of the public service are operated independently. The works department has its force of labourers, under a separate foreman; the power department and the water department are served by their own squads; there are several depots of supply, two plumbing departments, and two or three railway and cartage parties. All this means more expense than there is a necessity for. And it ought to be stopped. It is not altogether a question of whether there should or should not be a successor to Mr. Hewitt, as superintendent of the water department. Consolidation of management may not be possible for a while. Economy in management is possible now. The heads of departments can surely come to some understanding according to which there will not be a duplication of work.

A RISE IN POWER.

A former Kingstonian, Frank M. Hugo, has earned distinction in Watertown. Some men are fortunate enough to have honors thrust upon them, said the late Mark Twain, but most men have to serve the people faithfully in order to be continued in offices of trust and responsibility. Mr. Hugo is finishing his fifth year as mayor, and the people who appreciate good government desire him for another term. He left Kingston when he graduated from Queen's College, the possessor of high degrees. He selected law for his profession, and as he proposed to practice in the United States took up his studies in Watertown. In time he was admitted to the bar. Later he was induced to enter the council, and later he became the unanimous choice for the chief magistracy. He at once attracted attention by the soundness of his judgment and the vigour of his administration. Other good men had preceded him in office. No one had surpassed him in his devotion to public duty. Mr. Hugo is credited with having rendered Watertown signal service at different times. As a curator of the city's finances he has especially excelled and for this reason that he has the analytical mind, the mind that grasps details, and the will to put his plans into execution. Some times, it is said, the mayor of a city, like Watertown, cannot do anything. He can veto what others do. Yes, and a great deal more. He can eliminate or

WEYMOUTH IS ALIVE

SUPPOSED VICTIM OF MURDER FOUND ALIVE.

Disappeared Six Years Ago—Two Men Were Awaiting Trial for His Assassination.

Sherbrooke, Que., June 28.—"Charles G. Weymouth, supposed victim of murder at Biddeford, Me., said to be working as butcher in Sherbrooke." The message received in Sherbrooke was the means of clearing a mystery that has baffled the authorities at Biddeford, Me., for nearly six years. Chief Davidson was notified and communicated with the police at Biddeford, asking for information. This morning Probation Officer Daniel S. Hamilton, of Saco, Me., and L. Emery, a lawyer, of Biddeford, arrived in town. Hamilton knew Weymouth personally. A search was made among the butchers and finally one was found who said that a man answering the description of the missing Weymouth, had applied to him for work some time ago, and that he was now working for Messrs. Bray Bros., grocers. The officers proceeded at once to the grocery store and there found their man. They held a private consultation and took the man off with them to the hotel.

Weymouth has been working for Bray Bros. for nearly a year. He had stated to one of the butchers that he had formerly been a butcher at Biddeford, Me. A short time ago Dr. Snow was arrested on a charge of burglary. He was tried, convicted and sentenced to jail. He left a family of small children and one of these told a story, which threw light on the case. Two of the children told the officers that they saw two men, Buzzell and Morrill, murder Weymouth, and bury the body near Snow's house. A search was made, but no trace could be found.

Warrants were sworn out for the arrest of Morrill and Buzzell and they were taken into custody. They are being held on a charge of having murdered Weymouth. The date for preliminary hearing has been set for Friday, June 30th.

Weymouth, accompanied by Hamilton and Emery, left on the midnight Grand Trunk railway train for Biddeford, Me. He was quite willing to go with the officers to be identified in order that two men now held be released. It is not thought that any charge will be preferred against him. He expects to return to Sherbrooke as soon as possible. He has been working here for five years.

LEFT HAND IS DEAD.

Former Chief of Arapahoe Indians and Famous Warrior is Gone. Darlington, Okla., June 29.—It was learned here, yesterday, that Left Hand, for years chief of the Arapahoes, died at his home near here several days ago. He was eighty-three years old and one of the most famous warriors of the early days of the west. He became a warrior when fifteen years old and took part in every campaign in the south-west after that time. One of his most prominent fights was the massacre of Maj. Joel H. Elliott and nineteen men the day Gen. Custer fought the battle of Washita, near the present town of Cheyenne, Okla. The bodies of the slain men were not found for a week.

PACIFIC EXPEDITION.

President Will Use Persuasion Before Resort to Force. Port Au Prince, Hayti, June 29.—President Simon has staked out a claim at the head of his troops for the purpose of bringing about peace in the northern districts of Hayti. He left today with a large force under his command aboard the cruiser Antoinette Simon, his destination being Cape Haytien, but the cruiser will call at St. Marc and Port a Paix. It is said the president has undertaken the expedition with the most pacific intentions, and will make an endeavor to persuade the insurgents to lay down their arms before employing force.

BRINGING IN OPIUM.

Ringhamton, N.Y., June 28.—The order in the case of the federal government against Walter L. Funk, charged with bringing opium across the Canadian border, has returned a verdict of guilty. Funk was arraigned before Judge Ray and a sentence of four years in prison and a fine of $20,000 was imposed. At the expiration of the sentence the fine will be remitted providing Funk takes the "pauper's oath."

Funk was arraigned before Judge Ray on the charge of having brought over $100,000 worth of smoking opium into this country, and there is at present over $5,000 worth of the material in this which was exhibited at the trial, and which will be destroyed.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS OLD.

Quebec, June 29.—Ambrose Guay, the oldest citizen in Quebec, on Monday celebrated the 100th anniversary of his birth, and the event was a memorable one. Over 300 relatives and friends assembled at his residence to do him honor, and after a mass at St. Jean Baptiste church there was a banquet. Mr. Guay is still in good health and spirits, but he was spirited away by his friends while the celebration was at its height, in order that he should not be too much fatigued by the event.

HOPES MONARCHY WILL BE RESTORED.

Madrid, June 29.—The second general assembly of the Eucharistic Congress was held, yesterday, in the Church of San Francisco. The Bishop of Beja caused a sensation in a speech attacking "the Mason's" government of Portugal. He expressed the hope that the monarchy would be restored.
