CRIME AND ITS CURE.

The prison returns indicate a decrease in the number of prisoners who are committed to the larger prisons in Ontario. It is not to be inferred from this statement that there is any marked decrease in crime, for unfortunately the world is still wicked and the evil tendencies of some people are as manifest as ever.

But the parole system is in force, and wherever there is any evidence of repentance on the part of the individual, any chance of reform, this system is resorted to, and with good result. Only the vicious, the incorrigible, the really abandoned, should be kept in prison. It does not help any one who is not hopelessly given to crime to confine him in a penitentiary—for a lengthened period. The disgrace of imprisonment is very much felt.

Anything which will reprove a man in a way he will remember, or check or restrain him in a wicked course, is to be commended. A week's incarceration will, however, do some men as much good as a year, and he is saved of the contamination that follows the compulsory leading with "the submerged tenth."

The larger number of murder cases, and cases which ended in commitments to the jails alone, reminds one that the thought which begins the article is true—that lawlessness is not disappearing. The method of treating some offenders is simply different, and it is correct.

THE CLASH IN ENGLAND.

The lords will not willingly yield any of the power which they possess. For many a year it was supposed that commons could pass any money bills it pleased, but when the upper house rejected the Lloyd-George budget—it went a step further than ever before and asserted its right to correct or reject any legislative act of the lower house.

Now there is to be a direct and emphatic test of this question. The Parliament Bill defines the power of the commons and provides for the automatic passage of certain measures with or without the sanction of the lords. Various have been the assumptions as to the effect of this upon the lords. That the peers had taken fright was shown by their desire to amend their chamber in their own way and by a plan which certainly aims at leaving the control with the conservative party.

The commons has taken no notice of this bill, and will not pass it. On the contrary it has pushed its own formulae for the regulation of legislative process, and the lords have been faced to deal with it. There are two great and disturbing amendments. One refers to a committee of six, representing the two houses, the ones of deciding what establishes a money bill. The commons leaves this with the speaker. The second debars the commons from granting Home Rule to Ireland without a special appeal to the people. The referendum is thus involved and it is not generally approved.

All this while the government has not given any signs of what it will do when the emasculated Parliament Bill has been returned. The understanding is that it will be repassed, and sent back to the lords. It will then be learned what the understanding is between the king and premier. The lords can reject again and they can be overcome by an adverse majority if a sufficient number of new peers can be appointed. But what the upper house wants is not enlargement but improvement, and that improvement must eventually be made by the commons whose members represent the people and express their minds.

THE IDEA GETTING ROOT.

It is very gratifying that so soon after the Whig had expostulated against the injustice which the small boy suffers, by having no acceptable place along the water front where he could get some relief from the dreadful heat by a bath and a swim, the M.C.A. should be heard from, and as the aforesaid small boy's benefactor.

What is the proposition of the M.C.A. as stated by the secretary, whose progressiveness this paper has already commended, it is, that the representatives of the M.C.A. organize the boys into clubs with certain men as leaders; that these clubs, of a specified number, be escorted on particular days in each week, to the sandy beach close to the Lake Ontario Park; that a cheap building be erected and used as a dressing booth; that the outing be under the direction of the Y.M.C.C.A., whose attendance each day will see that the proceedings will be entirely decorous. The expense of this experiment, whatever it is—and the amount cannot be much—should be met by a generous contribution from our men of means. The boys want nothing these days so much as a bath and a swim. They want to play ball, or to swim. There are two or three hundred candidates for honours on the diamond. They belong to the Sunday School League, to the Cross Roads' Contingent, to the Budding Blades, or the star division of the A.I. Aggregation, and when they have batted the cover off a ball and tired themselves in "tagging it," they must have a dip. What more likely spot than the ball field at the Park and the beach beside it?

There is one other consideration—the street railway. It gives reduced rates to the school children—as the Whig originally suggested to Mr. R. W. Folger—and they appreciate it. Can the company see its way to make some concession to the small boys, the members of the swimming clubs, whose names are registered with the Y.M.C.A.? The whole thing—and its a momentous matter for the small boys—rests with the company. The small boy could walk to the Park for a ball game and a bath, but see him riding out on the railway as a first-class passenger, and realize how the club idea has caught him and added to his dignity!

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A life-long conservative at Saskatoon, one A. J. Brokovski by name, confessed, in the presence of Mr. Borden, that he did not expect to see a change of government for many a long day.

The liberals of Saskatoon helped to entertain Mr. Borden, and then invited him to respond to a toast in which his name and Laurier's were coupled. And Mr. Borden was equal to the emergency. Good.

The farmers of Dauphin had no regard for the size of Glen Campbell and tone of his voice. "Talk about something you understand," they shouted at him, and he immediately left off discussing reciprocity and abused Dr. Neely.

Mr. Borden went west to enlighten the people, and when they demanded more than a few non-committal statements, he referred to their "fastidious curiosity" in a fretful sort of way. The strain has been telling on the leader of the opposition.

About 50,000 labourers will be wanted in the western grain fields this year. The railway companies are expected to find them. Why should the different provincial governments not see what help they can get? This would be suitable occupation for some of the ministers who are now sunning themselves in England.

Andrew Broder, M.P., who went with Mr. Borden to talk to the farmers, because he is a farmer himself, at Dauphin, said the Canadian wheat would lose its identity under reciprocity. He lost the point of his speech when some one shouted: "What do we care about its identity if we get the highest price for it?"

"A toy dog that literally wags when one gently pulls on its leash, is the latest fashionable fad among American ladies just now. Quite a number of these toy dogs have made their appearance at Atlantic City and other seaside resorts." So the New York Herald announces. Which moves one to remark that when a woman is seen trailing about a toy dog with a string it's not remarkable that some one should question her sanity.

Mineral Clothing.

Now Thomas A. Edison is telling us that one day we shall find clothing "dirt cheap" for the reason that the sources of mineral wool are inexhaustible and processes are under way by which it will be robbed of its "scratchiness," be spun, woven, dyed and finally turned out into the latest kind of garments.

Mr. Edison might have said that it will be "slag" cheap. Mineral wool, or as it has been called, mineral cotton, is produced by turning a jet of steam through liquid slag from a furnace. Under the influence of the steam the hot slag is blown into fine white threads. Until Mr. Edison mentioned its coming adaptability for clothing, mineral wool has been valuable as a non-conductor of heat, and as such has been used as a covering for boilers and steam and hot water pipes.

Which suggests that a mineral all wool overcoat may be all right in a hard winter, while an undershirt of woven mineral cotton might be uncomfortably warm in August.—Chicago Tribune.

TWO DEATHS IN LEEDS

LATE JOSEPH CLIFFE AND MRS. MICHAEL DUNDEEN.

Oddfellows Memorial Service—Robert Meek, of Kingston, Grand Patriarch, Was the Orator of the Day.

Gatinoque, July 10.—At his home in the front of Leeds and Lansdowne township, a few miles east of the town, Joseph Cliffe, a well-known farmer of this section, passed to rest on Friday evening, in the sixty-fourth year of his age, after an illness lasting several months. Deceased lived in that section for many years. He leaves a grown-up family. The young set just finished writing on the departmental examinations Friday afternoon. Deceased was esteemed for his many virtues. His loss will be felt by the community. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon to Lansdowne vault and was largely attended.

On Sunday morning, at ten o'clock (there passed to rest, from her home in Leeds township, Mrs. Michael Dundeen, in the fifty-fourth year of her age. Deceased was widely known and highly respected by all who knew her. She leaves a family of four sons, John, Michael, Thomas and Leonard, and one daughter, Miss Margaret. Deceased, who was formerly Miss Nobes, is also survived by four sisters, Mrs. Joseph Jeray, Mrs. Allan Jeroy and Mrs. Adolphus White, all of Gatinoque, and Mrs. J. Lapper, Schenectady, N.Y., and by two brothers, Samuel Nobes, Gatinoque, and Frederick Nobes, Brewer's Mills. The funeral will take place on Tuesday morning, to St. Barnaby's church, Brewer's Mills, where requiem mass will be sung by Rev. Fr. Traynor, and the remains interred in the Brewer's Mills burying ground.

The annual memorial service of Gatinoque Lodge, No. 114, I.O.O.F., was held yesterday afternoon, and was largely attended. Headed by the fine band of the local Salvation Army corps, and accompanied by a large representation from Kingston Canton, No. 6, who formed the escort of Robert Meek, grand patriarch of the grand encampment of Ontario, the officers and members of the local lodge marched from their lodge rooms to the pavilion on King street, where a special run out was made for them by the T.I.R. Many friends accompanied and in addition to the regular coach a box car and two flat cars were required to accommodate the crowd, which was augmented at the cemetery by a large number who drove out.

The service there was very impressive. The memorial oration was delivered by R. Meek, G.C.P., while others of the local lodge also gave short addresses and bouquets of flowers brought for the purpose were laid on the graves of deceased members. The T.I.R. ran their train out again about 5 p.m. and brought back the crowd, which was by far the largest that ever attended any similar function in this section.

L.O.L., No. 51, officers and members to the number about fifty, accompanied by the S.A. band, attended divine worship in St. Andrew's church at 11 a.m., yesterday, and had an excellent sermon from Rev. Henry Gracey on the general assembly's position in the matter of the "No Temper" decree. At Round Island, Saturday afternoon, the Ganocks of this town, ran up against a hard proposition, when they met the speedy Frontenac team, and went down to defeat by a score of 10 to 1.

RESCUED FROM RAPIDS

GALLANT DEEP OF THREE YOUNG MEN AT LACHINE.

A Man in a Drifting Boat Was Snatched From the Whirlpool and Brought to Land.

Montreal, July 10.—News was received Saturday of a gallant rescue effected at the bank of Lachine Rapids by three men, at serious risk to their own lives.

On Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, while the residents of the district bordering Lachine Rapids were quietly at ease a large white boat was noticed turning round and round and drifting with the current in the centre of the river. No particular notice was taken, however, until Messrs. Napolian, Fred Robidoux and K. L. Dunn, who were taking a quiet sail on the river, observed that the occupant of the boat apparently did not know how to navigate the boat. They pulled towards him, and as they approached his craft, drifted into the first whirlpool of the rapids. Without hesitating to consider their own danger, the three young men, who are good swimmers and boat handlers, strained their muscles to reach the endangered man, who was threatened to be snatched in pieces on the rocks.

They succeeded in reaching the drifting craft and pulling it to safety as it was rounding the Montreal Light, Heat and Power company's dam. Their own boat was half filled with water. It was a gallant rescue.

Mr. Dunn, and the late D. MacDonald were the first and only white men known to have successfully run the complete rapids in an eighteen foot, skill—two years ago last Dominion day.

CHILDREN SHOULD BE ENCOURAGED to use SANITOL TOOTH PASTE. Sugar that remains in the mouth after eating, mixes with the saliva and forms an acid. This acid erodes the enamel and causes decay. A vigorous brushing after each meal with SANITOL TOOTH PASTE counteracts the acidity, thoroughly cleanses the teeth and restores the mouth to its normal alkaline condition. 25c. at all good drug stores.

FOR ECZEMA

A Treatment That is Guaranteed to Give Relief. Eczema is parasitic in nature. It is said to be a contagious disease. Until the parasite or germ hidden in the skin is completely destroyed and removed, eczema cannot be cured. Fully one-third of all skin disease is in the form of eczema. It affects persons of all ages and classes. It is very prevalent among people between the ages of 20 and 40.

We unhesitatingly guarantee to return every cent paid us for Rexall Eczema Ointment in every case where it fails to give entire satisfaction. It possesses remarkable cleansing, antiseptic, healing and curative power. Its value is very pronounced in the treatment of eczema, whether of the dry, scaly sort or of the weeping type, where there is a constant flow of an ill-smelling excretion, or of the other intermediary forms, such as hives, acne, pimples, blotches and discolorations.

Rexall Eczema Ointment is very useful in treating ulcers, sores, wounds, insect bites, nettle rash and hives. It is particularly recommended for the treatment of children who are tormented with itching, burning and disfiguring skin disease. We urge you to try a box at our risk. Your money waits if you are not satisfied with the treatment. Two sizes, 50c. and $1. Remember, you can only obtain Rexall Eczema Ointment in this town at our store.—The Rexall Store, G. W. Mahood.
