The Savings Account is often the key that opens when opportunity knocks at the door. The lack of a few hundreds in cash has allowed many a "golden chance to pass a man by."

TO HAVE NEW BARRACKS

THE SALVATION ARMY HAS SECURED THE PROPERTY.

Deal for Securing Property on Princess Street, Put Through on Tuesday—The Price Paid Was $4,200—New Building to Cost About Six Hundred.

The deal referred to by the Whig, on Monday last, has been put through, and the property on the north side of Princess street, near Clergy street, formerly owned by John Green, has been secured by the Salvation Army, and a new barracks will be erected there.

The deal for the purchase of the property was put through on Tuesday afternoon, the sale being made by D. A. Cays. The price paid was $4,200. This property was formerly owned by Mr. Green, but of late by a Mr. Waddell. The Salvation Army had an eye on the property for some little time, and Brigadier Rawlings, of Toronto, who is property secretary, was in the city on Tuesday, and made arrangements for the closing of the deal.

Tenders will be called for at once for the erection of the new barracks, and in due time the members of the local corps will be in new quarters.

It is estimated that the new building will cost between $10,000 and $15,000. Major Miller, architect for the army, will come to the city and look after the necessary work, in getting out the plans and specifications, and the calling of tenders, etc. It is not definitely known, but it is believed the new building will be brick or stone.

The present building will likely be retained by the army. There was some talk of it being used as a garage. The army has yet a lease of eighteen years on the old building. The new building will accommodate five or six hundred people.

News of Baseball—Results of the League Games.

A meeting of the executive of the S.S.A.A.A. has been called to meet this evening, in the Y.M.C.A. building, for the purpose of making arrangements for the athletic meet and field day, which the league contemplates holding at Lake Ontario Park some time in August.

Sydenham Defaulted.

Sydenham team defaulted its game with Queen street team, which was to have been played last evening. The default was handed in writing to the secretary of the association.

Junior Game This Evening.

St. Paul's and Sydenham will play in the Junior Sunday school series at Victoria school grounds this evening. Both teams will endeavor to make things lively for the other side and as both are about equal the game will be good.

Better Baseball Here.

A card has been received in the city from Ralph Powers, bats of the Y.M.C.A. here, in which he states that he has witnessed two games of the Canadian Baseball League. He says the games are not as good as played here between the Victorias and C.C.C.'s and he would like to see either of these teams play an exhibition game with the westerners.

MADE OFF WITH SKIFF.

After Assaulting a Second-hand Dealer.

After assaulting H. Sugarman, a second-hand dealer, Ontario street, two young men, apparently strangers, stole a boat from the boat house near Catarqui bridge, and made off. The police were notified, but not in time to catch the men, as they had ample time to make good their escape.

In the forenoon, the two young fellows called at Sugarman's store. One had an umbrella, and wanted to sell it to Mr. Sugarman. The latter did not want to buy it, whereupon one of the young fellows got angry and struck Sugarman over the head with the umbrella. Mr. Sugarman's son went after the young men, but they ran as fast as their legs would take them. Reaching the Montreal Transportation Company's office, the men ran into the company's yards and then out on to Ontario street again, and thence down to Catarqui bridge. Here they found a skiff, and jumping into it they pulled out. Just what direction they took, is not known. It is believed that the boat will be found deserted at some point down the river.

Will Go to Petawawa.

About two hundred men from the R.C.M.A. will leave for the camp at Petawawa, on Friday morning. They will leave the Kingston & Pembroke railway station, at nine o'clock. There will be eight cars of horses, six cars for gun-carriages, and one car for baggage. One of the cars was loaded with guns to-day, so as to be in readiness.

Building Bathing House.

The Y.M.C.A. has started to work at Lake Ontario Park building a bathing house for their swimming classes. The building will be twenty-four feet by twelve feet. Already there is a class of thirty boys who are anxious to learn to swim.

SAYS MONEY IS WASTED

IN DREDGING ALONG THE ST. LAWRENCE RIVER.

Norwegian Says the Canadian Government Should Build Dams for Conserving the Water.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., July 12.—Olgar Manheim, consulting engineer on rivers and harbors to the Norwegian government, has been spending a few weeks along the St. Lawrence river and contends that the United States and Canadian governments are wasting much money on dredging operations which might better be applied to building dams for conserving the water.

He says that he is informed that millions are spent in dredging out the channels, which are getting deeper every year, but he asserts that dredging is not permanent improvement, for much of what is dredged out one year is filled in again next year by the washings of the river.

He contends that regulation or conservation of the water would solve the problem far more cheaply and lastingly than by dredging.

While at Cornwall he visited the Long Sault rapids and says the proposed scheme of damming this turbulent stream is a mammoth one, but in his opinion is one which could be followed all along the St. Lawrence, not so much for power development as for better navigation.

The dams would hold the water back and thus regulate the depth for miles to the westward. His opinion is that the time is coming when regulation dams will have to be built at many points of the St. Lawrence to conserve the water and maintain a level high enough for the navigation of large vessels.

A CALL TO THE CLERGY.

Ye soldiers of Christ, who sit by your camp fires,
Discarding questions of little import,
Look away beyond the prejudice marches,
See far above you in heaven's high dome
The olive branch bearer, brooding over
The nations,
Resending a welcome-seeking a home.

With gun on the ocean, and drum on the ground,
Fanfare of trumpet and symbol clang,
We march to our wars, that cluster
The extent of which no mortal can tell.
Whose blood is the tears of the orphan
And widow,
And breathe the foul gases that are rising from . . .

Woe, woe, for place in your many inventions,
And shake over flames the No Temere olive,
While with love in their hearts and
Christ on their banners,
Laymen are hearing o'er mountain and valley,
The fiery cross, the signal of battle,
With the curse of the ages without end.

With heart on the road, and ear to the Liel to the road of the coming crisis,
Tis the enlightened nations, broken
loose from the curiol,
When the war god has held them,
leasts for the slaughter,
They are bearing him off in his judgment,
To bury him deep in oblivion's batter.
Napanea, July 6th, 1911. T. S.

DROWNING GIRL AND HERO WERE SPANKED.

Box Leaping in to Save Sister—Escapes Death, But Mother's Slipper Fluids Both.

New Rochelle, N.Y., July 12.—Eleven-year-old Isidor Samuels, of the Bronx, plunged off a sand bar into deep water in Echo Bay, near Hudson Park, New Rochelle, to save his nine-year-old sister, Isabel, who, while playing, waded too far out. He tried to swim back to the sand bar with her, but they both sank.

William Carroll, a life saver, leaped from his boat and dived. He brought them up, still clinging together, and lifted them into his boat. When they had coughed out the water they had swallowed, they were taken to a shady place on the beach by their mother and spanked.

STOLE HIS VALISE

After He Had Been in City Short Time.

George Cox came in from Clarendon station, on Tuesday, with the intention of going to work on Wolfe Island. After arriving he stayed at a local hotel a short time, but according to his own story it was quite long enough time for a sneak thief to get busy. When he went to look for his valise, which contained clothing, he found the valise gone, and he has not been able to locate it as yet. He has asked the police to find it.

Funeral at Glenburnie.

The funeral of the late William Craig, of Glenburnie, took place on Wednesday afternoon, from the family residence and the remains were taken to Catarqui cemetery for interment. The cortege was one of the largest that ever passed through the Glen, for the deceased had lived here for sixty years, and was known far and wide. The burial services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Mackie, of St. Andrew's church, Kingston, assisted by Rev. Mr. Brennan, of Sunbury. A large number from Kingston attended the funeral. Kingston St. Andrew's society was represented by James Stewart and George B. McKay.

Change the Dates.

The Whig has always stood against examinations in June and July for school pupils; it has almost yearly upbraided the department of education for intermeddling. This year has been a scorcher for candidates. The Whig favors examinations either in December or April. The year could begin after Christmas or Easter holidays.

KITCHENER IGNORED THEM.

But Perhaps He Didn't Know They Were From Toronto.

Toronto, July 12.—I do not know how Lord Kitchener treated the colonial troops at the coronation, because I was up in the north of England when the coronation took place, but I imagine he treated them better than they deserved. Kitchener isn't the man to treat them otherwise," said Col. G. T. Denison, interviewed on his return from England.

"I suppose some of them thought because he didn't go and talk to them individually and say to them, 'Here, you will have to take some very special part in the coronation ceremonies, because you come from Toronto,' that he treated them badly. 'Furthermore, any trooper who comes back here and gives out grumbling interviews to the newspapers is no soldier.'

THE WASHERWOMAN'S SONG.

By Edmund Ware.

In a very humble cot,
In a rather quiet spot,
In the side and in the soap
Worked a woman full of hope:
Working, slogging, all alone,
In a sort of unobtrusive
"With a Saviour for a friend,
He will keep me to the end."

Not in sorrow, nor in grief,
Working all day long was she,
As her husband, three or four,
Played around her on the floor.
But in monotone the song
She was humming all day long:
"With the Saviour for a friend,
He will keep me to the end."

It's a song I do not sing,
For I scarce believe a thing
Of the stories that are told
Of the miracle of old,
But I know that her sufferer
Is the anodyne of grief,
And will always be a friend
Who will keep her to the end.

I have seen her rub and scrub
On the washboard in the tub,
While the baby sopped in suds,
And rubbed in the duds,
Or was paddling in the pool
With old scissors stuck in spoon,
She still humming of her friend
Who will keep her to the end.

Human hopes and human creeds
Have their root in human needs:
And I should not wish to strip
From that washerwoman's lip
Any song that she can sing,
Any hope that's come from being:
For the woman has a friend
Who will keep her to the end.

A Hospital for Babies.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Post-Standard.

Philadelphia proposes a hospital for babies. The death rate among infants has reached a point where the city authorities believe that it should be checked by municipal intervention. Not hundreds, but thousands of infants in that city fall victims to intestinal troubles incident to summer weather. There is no institution to take care of them, and the poor parents helplessly offer their children as sacrifices to disease.

It is a curious fact that most cities think of the little ones last of all. There are hospitals for consumptives and for imbeciles and for other classes of patients, but there is no refuge for the baby. In Washington there is a hospital for foundlings and a children's hospital, but neither of these supplies the place in the community which the Philadelphia institution is to assume. It is easy to predict that the experiment in Philadelphia will prove the necessity for such a hospital which will undertake to care for the infants of the worthy poor. A decided lowering of the death rate will unquestionably be accomplished.

It would be wise for our own health authorities to see what can be done here toward saving the lives of the little ones.

Fight for Costless Postmen.

Washington, July 12.—"The postmasters of this country have got to treat the mail carriers with as much humanity as dogs and horses receive in the hot weather," declared Representative Berger. He announced that he had undertaken a vigorous fight to obtain a general order from the post office department instructing all postmasters to permit mail carriers to leave off their coats.

New National Anthem Verse.

London, Eng., July 12.—A new second verse for the national anthem has been arranged. It reads:
O Lord our God arise,
Scatter thine enemies,
Make ways to cease,
Keep us from plague and death,
Turn thou our woes to mirth,
And over all the earth
Let there be peace.
