THE SURRENDER IS NEAR.

It is dawning upon the conservatives of England that a second appeal to the people on the veto question will mean suicide to the lords. So the advice is being given to the lords that they had better surrender when the veto bill returns to the upper house, later, as it certainly will and in its original form.

A REFORM IN TAXATION.

The single tax is growing in popularity, and a personal witness of the fact is Mr. Dickey, of the New York Single Tax Review, who recently made a tour across Canada and found in the west a very strong sentiment in favour of the reform.

the work will be done at the property owner's expense. And right across the way, sometimes within a few feet of where the property owner is doing the duty, the burdocks and the thistles grow rankly, in great profusion, upon the sides of the streets, and so upon the land which belongs to the city.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

No, Mr. World, there will not be any election during the harvest season. Of that fact you may be certain. Parliament contains some peculiar men, but they are not crazy.

WILL STAY ON HAND.

Dr. Wiley to Continue in the Public Service.

The Hamilton Spectator refers to the statement that "a municipal lighting plant that is estimated to cost half a million dollars and not cost the ratepayers anything" as a joke. And it surely is. Municipalities cannot get anything that is of use for nothing any more than the individual.

WAGES AND THE COST OF LIVING.

The wages of labor and the relative cost of labor are two very different things. Congressman Redfield, of New York, himself a manufacturer, proved very conclusively in a recent speech that low-priced labor is not always cheap labor, and that an apparently low wage may be a very high one.

SO IT WOULD APPEAR.

Sir James Whitney, who arrived in New York from England, on Saturday, is reported as saying: "I am and always have been, opposed to reciprocity."

FOREST FIRE WASTE.

Peterboro Examiner. The loss of every kind, material and of life and health, represented by the Porcupine district fire scourge can never be estimated.

OFFICIALS SHOULD WAKE UP.

The manner in which some of our by-laws are being enforced is a positive reproach to the city. Take the by-law which aims at a prevention of the growth of weeds. The power is given the works department, which is burdened with the care of our streets.

GUIDES HAVE A CALL.

London Advertiser. Corps of Girl Guides are being formed all over the dominion. If they can locate missing collar buttons they will fulfil one of civilization's crying needs.

NOT GONE INTO REPOSE.

Ottawa Free Press. Ex-Mayor Morris has gone out of business, but, of course, that doesn't imply that he's going to keep quiet. The chances are he will have a seat in the back of the row just the same as ever at next municipal elections.

Exasperated Tourist Gives a Boy His Auto.

Hammond, Ind., July 19.—C. E. Hancock, a twelve-year-old boy, was presented with a $2,000 touring car by an exasperated New York transcontinental auto tourist, who met with an accident near the farm owned by William Hancock, the boy's father.

The tourist refused to give his name, but the auto license bore the legend 3902 N.Y.

While descending a hill near the farm the New Yorker, who was en route to Chicago and was the sole occupant of the car, lost control of the machine when the steering knuckle broke. The car landed in a ditch beside the road.

After young Hancock had helped the occupant out of the wreck the disgusted driver announced that he would be glad to give the car away and be rid of it.

Hancock said: "Give it to me." "Take the auto-licence and welcome," responded the man from New York. He then hired the boy to drive him to the nearest railroad station where he boarded a train for Chicago.

Young Hancock sold the car for a round figure to an auto dealer. He will invest the proceeds in a college education.
