

The Daily Service

The Bank of Toronto

To its many customers in the various departments of banking gives that convenience and satisfaction that is so helpful to those who have banking business to transact.

SAVINGS AND BUSINESS ACCOUNT INVITED.

BANK OF TORONTO

RESOURCES, $50,000,000.

KINGSTON BRANCH

107 PRINCESS ST.

GEORGE B. MCKAY, Manager.

Spray Your Fruit Trees.

THIS IS THE TIME FOR THE DEADLY CODLING MOTH.

And it is astonishing, but the Department of Agriculture says that 50 per cent. of the blossoms are destroyed by the Codling Moth, and the only way to get rid of it is

SPRAY

With the Arsenate of Lead for all insects and Sulphate of Lime for all Fungus Growth.

Let us tell you how to do it and increase your yield of fruit 50 per cent.

Arsenate of Lead 25c lb.
Sulphate of Lime 75c gal.

Sold only at

W. A. Mitchell's Hardware

Miss Sydney Strickland, artist, is dead in Toronto.

Linens Linens Linens

A visit to our Linen Department will convince you that we have an exceptional big display of and every other necessary required in this line. Special reduced prices for July and August.

Table Cloths, Napkins, Doylies, Centre Pieces, Towels, Guest Towels, Embroidered Chams, Embroidered Pillow Cases : : and Trays : :

A Pleasure To Show Our Goods

R. WALDRON

WILL BEGIN SHORTLY TO ERECT NEW ARC LAMPS ON THE STREETS.

The Lamps Will be Ready for Use by Sept. 1st—Places for Fifty New Arcs Have Been Decided Upon.

It will be a couple of weeks before a start is made in the erecting of the new street arc lamps. At present, the generators in the power house are being arranged for the changes. Most of the new lamps have arrived. Ald. Elliott, chairman of the light, heat and power committee, expects that the lamps will be in position by September 1st, so as to be ready for the fall season. In the meantime, the old lamps will have to be borne with.

The manager of the electric light plant and the city engineer have decided upon the corners at which to place fifty extra lamps, which are to be erected this year. Every dark place, regarding which a petition was received during the past two years, will be provided for. The list will not be announced until it is sanctioned by the city council. Fifty of the older lamps, which are to be retained, will be placed in the outlying sections of the city.

To Stop the Meetings.

Montreal, July 19.—There must in future be no more open-air religious meetings at Montreal street corners. This decision was arrived at because of disturbances between Jews and preachers, who were seeking to convert the Hebrews. The quiet manner in which the Salvation Army conducts itself has caused it to be made an exception to the orders which Acting Mayor Gavrin will shortly issue to the chief of police.

Died at 113.

Leamington, July 19.—The death occurred a few days ago of Robert Spooner, eighth concessioner of Mera township, at the remarkable age of 113 years. Mr. Spooner was born in England in 1798, and came to Canada when about ten years of age, thus having lived over a century in this province.

Triple Drowning.

Roshera, Sask., July 19.—A triple drowning occurred on Red Deer trail way Lake, those drowned being Leroy Macdonald, his fourteen-year-old son, and Owen Hughes. The three were out rowing in a small boat. Two of the bodies have since been recovered. The victims lived at Gilles, thirty miles north-west of Roshera.

Gibson sells Pond's cream. Grand Trunk Railway traffic earnings from July 8th to 14th, 1911, $294,806; 1910, $292,945; increase, $1,861.

"Hudnuts toilet water," Gibson's.

REPORTS FROM YARKER.

Seymour Power Company is Building a Dam.

Yarker, July 19.—R.N. J. Batstone gives his farewell sermon on Yarker circuit next Sunday. Rev. Mr. McCullin will be his successor.

The Seymour Power company, is building a dam at the foot of the rapids, just below Woodmuckett saw mill.

The Benjamin Manufacturing company closed down for a time, while they are engaged in stock-taking and repairs.

A sense of relief came over many a household, when it was learned that Sherman Wagat had been captured. Many thought he was still lingering around through the country, as reports would come in of his being seen here and there.

There was born, on Sunday last here, a Dear, and Henry is very proud. A. Connolly and Mr. Clark, manager of the Merchants bank, have gone on the Rideau on a fishing excursion. G. Joyner and G. Silver have been spending two weeks out in the Bald Mountains. Mrs. Frank Atkins, has returned home to Winnipeg. P. Carruthers, who has been spending a few weeks here, has returned to Winnipeg.

Mrs. William Montgomery received her check for two thousand dollars from the A.O.U.W., insurance on the life of her husband, and have gone to Vancouver, B.C., to visit their son, Stewart. They will be absent about six weeks. William Woodhouse, Jr., has secured a position in Peterboro, and will move his family there. Thomas Carr is ill.

Mrs. James Freeman, spending a week in Kingston, has returned home. Misses May Warner and Gerald Warner, are home from Toronto. William Dick and wife, Miss Minnie Allen, on an auto trip called at Yarker and remained a short time, the guests of S. Winter. This was their first visit to Yarker. Manson Lee has painted his residence. He has put a number of improvements to this place, and has now a fine home.

A NOBLE CANADIAN HEROINE'S DEATH

Mrs. Thomas Patterson, Famous Life-Saver, Passes at Alburni, B.C.

Cobourg, July 19.—The death of a Canadian heroine, who spent her early childhood and girlhood days at Brighton, Northumberland county, occurred a few days ago at Alburni, B.C., in the passing of Mrs. Thomas Patterson. Mrs. Patterson was the only child of Capt. George A. Huff, and when eighteen years of age married Thomas Patterson, keeper of Cape Beale lighthouse. During her fourteen years' residence at the lighthouse she became known to the world as having heroically exerted herself upon several occasions to assist in saving shipwrecked people on the west coast. Notable among these acts of self-sacrifice and heroism was her noble effort, four years ago, when she was directly responsible for saving the lives of the crew of the stranded ship Colina. Unfortunately at that time she suffered injury to her health, which she was not able to overcome. Besides being made the recipient of public tributes in recognition of her bravery, her work was at that time officially recognized by the government of Canada and of the United States. Mrs. Patterson is survived by her husband and a family of seven children.

OTTAWA AND THE DUKE.

Opposition to the City Spending $5,000 on Its Welcome. Ottawa, July 19.—Considerable opposition is developing to the city spending $5,000 to welcome the Duke of Connaught to Ottawa. For one thing a big civic overdraft is looming up and the aldermen feel the money could be spent to better advantage. The medical health officer thinks it would be better to place it to the credit of a modified milk scheme.

Up Against It.

Baton Hengelmueller, Austrian Ambassador and dean of the corps, gives himself on his game of chess. Some years ago the baron met a young man whose name he did not catch when introductions were made. Chess was the topic of the conversation by all those in the company; and presently the young man suggested diffidently that he would be highly honored if the baron would play a game with him. The baron consented. They sat down, after a few moves the baron looked up from the table, checked and found the young man reading a paper. The chessmen were placed again and, after not so many moves as before, the baron looked up to find himself checkmated.

After his dinner the baron came back. He wanted another game, being somewhat chagrined at the ease with which he had been beaten. As he came in he found the young man who had played with him that afternoon blindfolded and playing against sixteen opponents at the same time. The young man was Pillsbury.—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

Baseball on Tuesday.

Eastern League—Toronto, 4; Rochester, 3; Montreal, 3; Buffalo, 0. Newark, 1; Jersey City, 0.3. American League—Detroit, 16; Boston, 7; Cleveland, 9; New York, 6; Philadelphia, 12; St. Louis, 3; Washington, 7; Chicago, 1. National League—Philadelphia, 4; Pittsburgh, 2; Cincinnati, 8; New York, 2; Chicago, 14; Boston, 6; St. Louis, 3; Brooklyn, 3. Canadian League—Berlin 3; Hamilton, 2; Brantford, 10; Guelph, 6; London, 7; St. Thomas, 3-0.

In Danger of Collapse.

London, Ont., July 18.—A stream of water having made its appearance under the concrete where workmen are engaged altering the court house, a collapse of the building was feared. Occupants of part of the building were ordered out for safety's sake.

THE WORLD'S EPISODES

GIVEN IN THE BRIEFEST POSSIBLE FORM.

Matters That Interest Everybody—Notes From All Over—Little of Everybody Easily Read and Remembered.

Revolutionists have occupied St. Marc and are marching towards the capital of Haiti.

Wall Street has rumors that the C. P. R. dividend will be increased next meeting.

A Canadian Northern train for Trenton may start running about the middle of next month.

A proposal for a bull fight at the Island at Toronto, was turned down by the police commissioners.

At Reno, Nev., James Antoine, embosser, was chased and caught by fellow convicts working on the road when he broke jail.

One more case of cholera developed in New York, Wednesday. The situation is not serious. The authorities insist that they have it under control.

A. Bowen, of Sawyerville, Que., has made a contract with a Boston company to supply 3,000 pounds of butter weekly at three cents over the local prices.

At Anderson, S.C., Samuel N. Ryde, shot and killed his father-in-law and his wife and wounded his sister-in-law in a fit of jealous rage early Wednesday morning.

Rev. J. F. Scott, B.A., of Port Stanley, was extended a unanimous call to the pulpit of Stratfordville Presbyterian church, which has been vacant since April.

At Havana the work of removing water from about the wreck of the battleship Maine is now completed but the work of removing the mud will be more tedious still.

The Lyons, France, municipal council, Tuesday, voted in favor of a tax on bachelors for the first time in the history of France. The idea is to reduce the tax on large families.

At a meeting of the directors of the Lake of the Woods Milling company Col. Frank S. Meighan was elected president of that company, succeeding his father, the late Robert Meighan.

"Jack" Johnson is quoted as being so pleased with his treatment in England that he is likely to become a citizen of Britain. He would fight for England in time of war but not for the states he said.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Canadian Press Association, John M. Imrie, editor and manager of Printer and Publisher, was appointed permanent secretary of the Canadian Press Association.

McKINLEY'S VOTE.

Miss Tarbell Tells How He Came to Cast It for the Silver Bill. Trades and deals formed the life-blood of politics in the old days even more than now. An interesting story is told along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the bill along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says: "The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of