THE LEAGUE LEADERS

HOW THE VARIOUS BASEBALL TEAMS STAND.

C.L.C.'s, Civil Service, Live Coals and Brock Stand First in the Respective Baseball Leagues of Each. The baseball season is more than half spent, and the end is drawing nigh. With the idea that the standing of the three leagues in the city might be interesting, the position of the different teams is given. Each league has succeeded in interesting a large number of followers who turn out regularly to root for their respective teams.

City Baseball League.

Won.	Lost.	To Play.
C.L.C.'s	5	2	3
Victorias	4	3	3
Athletics	1	5	4

The way the league stands now the C.L.C.'s have a lead of one game over the Victorias, and to win out they must defeat the Victorias in one more game before the season is finished. They have two games with the Athletics and unless something unforeseen happens they will have no trouble in winning these. They lost one game to this team, so there is a possibility that they might lose another. The Athletics have no chance whatever of winning out, but they could make it mighty interesting for either of the other teams. Being one game behind, the Victorias will have to win every thing from now until the end of the season in order to capture the silverware. Should they win from the C.L.C.'s, August 12th, they will be tied once more, and from all appearances it looks as though the finish of this league would be very interesting. The two teams leading the league now have never been more evenly matched than they are this season, and it is just a toss-up which wins when they face each other on the field. The Givens trophy is worth fighting for, and both teams will strive for all they are worth to obtain it.

Mercantile League.

Won.	Lost.	To Play.
Civil Service	3	0	3
Locomotives	3	1	2
Bankers	0	2	4
Retailers	0	3	3

The Civil Service team, under the able direction of "Joe" Daley, has a slight advantage in this series, from the fact that it has not lost a game. From present indications, it looks as though this team would be in the final series.

GROUP "B."

Won.	Lost.	To Play.
Live Coals	3	0	3
Wormwith	1	1	4
Railroaders	1	1	4
Printers	0	3	3

Live Coals have things capped here pretty well, with three straight games. They won from Wormwith, but the game was thrown out and ordered to be replayed. They have three games to play yet, and if they meet with the same success that has attended them so far, they will fight it out with "Joe" Daley's angels.

Sunday School League.

Won.	Lost.	Tied.	To Play.
Queen	5	1	1
Brook	4	1	0
Cooke's	4	1	1
Sydenham	0	6	0
Bethel	0	4	0

At the present time Queen has a lead of one game over Cooke's and Brook, with only one game to play. Brook has still three games to play, and Cooke's has two, so that Queen, if it wins the last game, will have slim chances of winning out in the end. Brook has a strong line-up, and the three-cornered game between Cooke's, Brook and Queen will be interesting.

It was also reported that there was a very satisfactory increase in the output of "Baby" Pianos. H. W. Richardson, George Y. Chown and W. H. Wormwith were elected directors. At a subsequent meeting of the directors, H. W. Richardson was elected president; George Y. Chown, secretary; treasurer, W. H. Wormwith, was appointed manager, and H. Bretwhitte was appointed superintendent.

Trying Out the Boat.

The new yacht Watertown was tried out at Chamont, Sunday, in an impromptu race against the Crescent. The new boat showed up well but in the heavy breeze the Crescent kept up well with the Watertown. The new boat is expected, however, to "do things" when more fully worked into shape and fitted up after more complete trials.

Seeking Damages.

The hood, covering the wheel shaft upon the steamer America, is the occasion of a suit for $2,000 begun in Watertown, N.Y., by Mrs. F. Sharrag against the St. Lawrence River Steamboat company. She alleges she fell over the projecting covering after boarding the boat at the Cape Vincent dock, in September, 1910, sustaining injuries to her ankle that troubled her for some time.

There will be all sorts of games and diversions as well as band concerts at Macdonald Park, where on the last evening of their stay the visitors will join hands at an immense love feast with the Kingstonsians and all will sing "Auld Lang Syne."

Library Complaint About Boys.

Of late a number of boys, who have been frequenting the public library, have been making themselves a nuisance. If they went to the library with the object of reading and studying the papers and books placed there nothing would be said, but they have been tearing the periodicals and writing on them, as well as writing on the desks. The management committee has decided that this must be stopped and the names of three of the boys who are implicated have been secured. The authorities do not want to make any trouble but if it is necessary they will make the names public and action will be taken against them. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

ABERNETHY'S

WILD TIME IN HARBOR

THE WIND CAUSED A GREAT SEA TO ROLL.

Vessels Were in Danger of Drifting Ashore—Schooner Katie Eccles Almost Crashed Into Bridge.

The storm on the lake Monday afternoon and night, and which raged nearly all day Tuesday, was the only topic of conversation in marine circles Tuesday. "The storm for the most part was wind, although" it rained heavily for a while during the night. Evidently Kingston got the brunt of the storm for B. W. Folger was in long distance communication, Monday evening, with Toronto, relative to the safety of the steamer Chippewa, which runs from Toronto to Lewiston, and Toronto said she made a safe trip in good time. Mr. Folger informed the party at the other end of the line that a hurricane was raging here, but that they were no storm to speak of up there. As a consequence there was light moving in the vessel line Tuesday for the vessels were in shelter where they could get it. Although the steamer Pierrepont had a hard time getting over Monday afternoon from the Cape she made the return trip in good time. It took her five hours to come from the Cape in the afternoon but she left here at four o'clock on the return trip and was back in Kingston before eleven o'clock.

The schooner Kate Eccles anchored in the harbor came nearly getting into trouble. She was anchored near Cataract bridge, too near marine view say for safety, when her anchor slipped, and the vessel drifted towards the bridge. She was loaded with coal and what the calamity would have been had the boat struck the bridge could be hard to say. She drifted within a few rods of the wooden structure when help came, and she was saved from going to pieces.

The schooner Dundee dragged her anchor for a short distance where she was anchored off Richardson's wharf, but the second one was thrown out and caught.

Three vessels, the steamers Aletha and Quinte Queen, and the steamboat Waterlily, storm bound at Stells, will stay there until the gale is over.

The high wind played havoc with things at Dead Man's Bay, and on Cedar Island, where the residents got the full force of the storm. Large trees fell a foot in diameter were ground to the ground. The wind shook the large houses and caused the residents to tremble.

The steamer North King is storm-bound at Charlotte, N.Y. Neither the North King nor Caspian was able to cross the lake Monday night on account of the storm. The Caspian will come down from the Bay of Quinte as far as Kingston, arriving here about two o'clock, and leave on the return trip at five o'clock.

The Pierrepont's Battle.

The steamer Pierrepont arrived at Folger's wharf at 3:45 o'clock Monday afternoon, being about three hours late. She left Cape Vincent at eleven o'clock and it took her nearly five hours to get here. There was a fair number of passengers and a nose of them felt any too good after their long trip by way of the foot of Wolfe Island.

Quite a time was experienced in rounding Point Frederick. Captain Hinkley had to take a long turn on account of the wind and yet he seemed to make little progress. At times the boat seemed to be right out of the water on one side. It is said to be one of the roughest trips ever experienced. The Pierrepont unloaded her freight and cleared again for the Cape at 4:15 o'clock.

Movements of Vessels.

At Swift's wharf: Steamer Toronto made the river trip to-day; steamer Rideau Queen is due tonight from Ottawa and will go to Clayton, N.Y.; steamer Lamonde from Gananoque to-day.

At Folger's wharf: Steamer Pierrepont on the Cape route; steamer Aletha passed down last evening with a heavy passenger list.

The steamer Wolfe Islander had quite a time coming across the lake on Tuesday morning, on account of the storm.

The steamer Pierrepont experienced some hard times getting to Cape Vincent, Tuesday morning. On leaving the wharf here, she had to run nearly to Garden Island. Before she could turn, and when she did turn the wind carried her at a terrific pace down the river.

Ogdensburg Harbor.

United States Engineer J. C. Churchill, of Oswego, N.Y., has taken notice of the newspaper charges that were made recently in regard to alleged waste in dredging the Ogdensburg harbor to a depth of nineteen feet. It was claimed that a fifteen-foot channel was deep enough and that instead of deepening existing channels to nineteen feet they should be cleared and widened.

Engineer Churchill, who had much to do with preparing the dredging plans that are now being followed, says: "I have been much interested in the discussion regarding the width and depth to be made in the channel of Ogdensburg harbor under the project upon which the Duluth, Marine Contracting company has begun work. When the work under this project is completed Ogdensburg harbor will be one of the best and most accessible of the lakes. One of the Ogdensburg papers intimated that no vessels drawing more than fourteen feet (Welland canal draft) could enter the harbor. The fact is that every day during the season of navigation, vessels enter the Ogdensburg harbor drawing from sixteen to sixteen and one-half feet."

AT LAKE ONTARIO PARK.

The Vaudeville Bill is a Good One This Week.

The vaudeville entertainment at Lake Ontario Park, Monday evening, was largely attended. The programme was a good one and was thoroughly enjoyed by those in attendance. Frank and Hazel Houghton, acrobats, contortionists and balancing acts, performed some startling feats, which proved that they were up-to-date in their work and won for themselves vigorous applause. Miss Octavia Neal, character comedienne, in songs and dancing, is a fascinating brunette, who sings with a sweet soprano voice two pretty songs, "Tis Good to Have Some One to Love," "Yes, Boys, Let Us Have a Time," and ends her act with a selection on the saxophone, "The Motor Song March," and being recalled gave "All I Ask of You. Is Love." She was warmly applauded.

Miss Neal, who was a victim of the Porcupine fire, lost all her wardrobe and the only thing she saved was her saxophone. Miss Roseman sang with good taste "Leave Me in Lover's Lane" and "Hurry Up Those Wedding Bells." The pictures were excellent, the principal ones being "The Hippotamus Hunt," "There's a Woman in Town," "The Temptress," and "Range Pal."
