A PLAN IN COLOURS.
The decoration of the city, Old Boys' day, has recalled the practice of another city, and a practice which can be copied very readily. The tendency is to buy small flags, which, unless used in profusion, do not make much of a show. The plan, in the case referred to, was to get away from the common experience, and with an experiment of the most satisfactory character.
A committee of enterprising citizens was formed. They represented an idea which had only to be presented in order to grow in popularity. It was to expend a few hundred dollars in large flags, each five by eight feet, or eight by twelve feet. One was loaned to the merchant and citizen with the understanding, committed to writing, that it would be run up on a flag pole, or hung out on rod or cord, on every public or national day. The loan was cheerfully accepted, and the flag, because it was the property of the committee, was generally cared for. What is more, and of greater importance, the man or merchant using the flag was disposed to add to the display, and, becoming interested in the proceeding, attended to it regularly.
As a result the town in which this display is made has a reputation for hunting that is peculiarly its own; and it is a reputation which can be traced back to the work of this one committee. There is something suggestive in the recital. Kingston had recently an exhibit of colours, national and otherwise, which was very attractive, but the large and imposing flags were missing. They are not expensive, but they are not in general demand, for the reason that there is no fixed place for the use of them. All Kingston needs is a boom committee—a committee with ideas—and the rest will follow.

STORIES ABOUT SIFTON.

There is a story current that when Mr. Sifton differed with the government on reciprocity, and spoke against it in the house, he had an understanding with the leader of the opposition. It was to the effect that should there be a change of government he and two or more of his friends should be taken into the cabinet. It is further rumored that when this understanding became known the row occurred which nearly resulted in the retirement of Mr. Borden.
Now there is much about Mr. Sifton's later actions that is hard to account for. He could have differed from the government, on the trade issue, and still left the opposition to manage its own affairs. Yet he is found in close conference with Mr. Borden, dictating or directing his policy; and doing what he can to injure the government of which he was for many years a member. That is the part no one can appreciate. There is an explanation and it could be made probably by some of Mr. Sifton's former colleagues in the government. They remember him as an active and aggressive minister, who invited and received the fiercest assaults of the opposition, who was loyally supported in the interior department, and who had the sympathy of the premier until the end.
It would be remarkable if he, under all the circumstances, conspired against the government, or was guilty, as the conservative News of Toronto has charged against Haultain, that he made a secret deal with the enemy to destroy his friends. The rumours about his desire for a place in the Borden government is not believed. He had a place in a better government than Borden can form, if he had the chance, and left it. If he has an ambition it must be something greater than the head of a department. The premiership he might desire, but it is not at the disposal of any one while Laurier remains.

IDEAL HOSPITAL SITE.

The Whig has made an inspection, on its own account, of the Strathcona property which has been selected by the provisional board as a site for the tuberculosis hospital. It is an ideal spot, away from the residences of the people, and surrounded by cedar groves and natural scenery such as cannot be surpassed in the Kingston district. The air is good, because the land is high, and the residence upon the greatest elevation with an outlook that is simply grand.
Here the patient can enjoy the outdoor treatment without intrusion on any one or from any one. Here the accommodation can be had at the start for a few patients, at the minimum of expense. Here there can be an expansion of the hospital scheme, as there is a demand for it, with the greatest ease, and with the knowledge that every requirement of the law can be complied with. Here there is ample ground for every purpose, for pasturage, for gardening, for recreation, for the out-door individual or private retreats which are sometimes desired. Here are conditions which the inspectors of hospitals declares are superior to any in the province. In all Ontario there is not now in use, for the purpose, a location, a site, so admirable in any respect.
One becomes reconciled to the change in the site when he has seen this one and compared it with the contracted, limited, and, in the opinion of the medical men, unsuitable quarters in rear of the general hospital; and all who have had an opportunity to see it have expressed themselves approvingly. The Whig, at the outset, thought a great wrong had been done to the originators of the movement when the city site had been refused it. Time has permitted of further reflection, and the Whig is satisfied that the tuberculosis hospital scheme has not been hurt, that the new site is the better one, preferable in many ways, and that all who favour a consistent treatment of consumption will eventually rejoice. The late publisher of this paper, Mr. Pense, favoured the Strathcona property, and after an inspection of it the soundness of his judgment becomes apparent.
The one thing that needs to be emphasized is this: that the tuberculosis hospital is a public institution, which is designed to do a great deal of good, and all who have to do with it must perform their tasks on a purely philanthropic spirit. There is no one who has any selfish plan to promote. All are moved by one dominating all-persuading motive, namely, alleviate the suffering of the human race and to aid the consumptives of the districts by proper and scientific nursing.

A LAD WAS DROWNED

WHILE DIVING FROM A PUNT NEAR GANANOQUE.

George M. W. Kyes, Lansdowne, the Victim—Joseph Fisher, Philadelphia, Injured in Motor Boat Accident.
Gananoque, Aug. 7.—Another sad drowning fatality has cast a gloom over this section. On this occasion the victim was George M. W. Kyes, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Kyes, front of Leeds and Lansdowne township, a few miles east of Gananoque. The lad who was about twelve years of age, had gone with some others for a swim at Halstead's Bay, about a mile from his home, using an old punt paddling about. He got pretty well exhausted and at last on diving from the punt, did not come up. Whether taking a cramp or striking an obstruction, is not known. The alarm was at once given and the body recovered in a short time. Coroner Shaw of Lansdowne, was notified, but considered an inquest unnecessary. The funeral takes place this afternoon, to Halstead's Bay cemetery.

Another motor boat accident occurred at the wharf in front of the Tremont House, Saturday afternoon, whereby a young man about seventeen years of age, named Joseph Fisher, a resident of Philadelphia, Pa., spending the summer on Tremont Park, was seriously injured. He was in his motor launch, about to leave for a shore picnic, and in starting the engine it kicked, throwing him on the bottom of the boat and striking one eye on part of the engine. He was at once hurried to town, by Mr. Brown, and Dr. Bird attended to his injuries, several stitches being required to close up the wound. It is not as yet known just how serious his injuries may prove.

Lorenzo Carpenter, a well-known and highly respected resident of the Front of Leeds and Lansdowne township, passed to rest at his home near Eden Grove, on Friday evening, after an illness extending over several weeks, in the sixty-eighth year of his age. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon, to Gananoque cemetery, and was largely attended.

Mrs. (Dr.) E. E. Snider, New York city, who with her mother, Mrs. Thompson, Montague, King street, left some ten days ago, for a visit with Brockville friends, was taken seriously ill there, and had to be removed to hospital, where an operation was considered necessary. Her husband, was summoned to her bedside, and at last reports, she was gaining nicely.

Mrs. S. Latimer, Stone street, patient in Hotel Dieu, Kingston, for several weeks past, has so far recovered as to be reported able to return to her home.

The Citizens band serenaded Mr. and Mrs. Charles Macdonald on the spacious lawn at "Blinkbonny" Saturday evening, in honor of the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. Among the selections rendered was Prof. Meredith's "Blinkbonny." The S. A. band rendered another sacred concert at the public park last evening.

At the administration of the sacrament of the Lord's Supper in Grace church, yesterday after the morning service, a circumstance out of the ordinary was the service of four ministers. Reciprocity in Eggs Will Benefit Both Farmer and Consumer.

Some extraordinary statements are being circulated by opponents of reciprocity. These statements would be alarming if based on a foundation of facts.
For example, we are told, in one of the pamphlets issued by those opposing the agreement, that if the Canadian duty on eggs is abolished this country will be "literally buried by the shipments from other countries, principally the republic to the south of us."
What are the facts? On Friday, the Trade Bulletin, a recognized authority on markets gave as the top quotation for eggs in Montreal, even in a jobbing way, 24c. At the same time the Produce Review, which occupies the same position in New York that the Trade Bulletin does in Montreal, gave a top quotation of 20c. in the American commercial metropolis.
It is obvious that even if the Canadian duty were removed the egg producers of this country would not be swamped just now by an influx of eggs from the United States. It is equally obvious that with the American duty on eggs removed, as it will be under reciprocity, Ontario producers would at the present time secure a great advantage.
There is, however, another side to the story. In winter, as already shown, egg prices are higher in Ontario than they are in the United States. This is because, as previously explained, hens in the Southern States produce freely at that time, while the intense cold checks production here.
Thus reciprocity in this line will benefit consumers as well as producers. It will give to the former cheaper eggs in winter; it will secure for the latter better prices for the same at the season when production costs least in this province.

THE REAL CAUSE.

The Ancient Scalp-Fever Theory Exploded.
At one time dandruff was attributed to the result of a feverish condition of the scalp, which threw off the tired cuticle in scales.
Professor Unna, Hamburg, Germany, noted authority on skin diseases, explodes this theory and says that dandruff is a germ disease.
This germ is really responsible for the dandruff and for so many bald heads. It can be cured if it is gone about in the right way. The right way, of course, and the only way is to kill the germ.
Newbro's Herpicide does this, and permits the hair to grow luxuriantly, just as nature intended it should.

FARMER REWARDS GIRLS WITH GIFTS OF $1,000

Young Women Who Befriend Aged Man in Time of Trouble Are to Be Made Happy.
Canton, O., Aug. 5.—Samuel Rudy, aged eighty-five, farmer and philanthropist, said to be worth $80,000, came to Canton, yesterday, just to see the fourteen girls at the court house to whom he made bequests of $1,000 each, because of little favors shown him during his recent illness in court with relatives and involving his estate.
Rudy said that he was on his way to Iowa to sell a 480-acre farm and he wanted to say good-bye to the court house girls.
"When I get back I am going to hand $1,000 over to each of the girls," said Rudy. "They are nice girls and I don't want them to wait until I am dead to get the money. I can have more fun by giving it to them while I am living."

SAY WOMEN VOTERS IMPROVE POLITICS.

Premier of New South Wales and Mrs. McGowen Describe Benefits of Equal Suffrage.
New York, Aug. 5.—Bound for home after having attended the coronation, J. T. S. McGowen, premier of New South Wales, and his wife arrived in New York, on board the Mauretania, which reached her pier at a late hour Thursday night. New South Wales has been conducting its home government with equal suffrage for the last ten years, and when Mr. McGowen was asked to tell his views as to the success of the plan he said:
"In a great measure the efficiency of our government, which is better than that of any other state in the world, is due to the influence of women in its politics. The percentage of women voting in my state is greater than that of the men, and both sexes have equal power in the enactment and enforcement of law. The franchise not only does not unsex the women, but makes them more womanly, improves their conditions and does away with a number of the objectionable features of closely contested elections.
"Riots and intimidation at election polls are a thing of the past. The women are increasing their radius of operation and taking more and more the reins of government into their hands."
In reply to the implication that equal suffrage tended to lessen domesticity, Mrs. McGowen rose to the defence of her sisters of New South Wales, and said:
"They have higher standards than women in any other part of the world, believe, for they are constantly intermingling with each other and become acquainted with the joys and sorrows that elsewhere are never shared. On election day they take care of each other's babies and such things."
Mr. and Mrs. McGowen will spend several days at the Hotel Belmont before going to Vancouver, B.C., on their way back to New South Wales.
If you sit in a draft the doctor may cash it.
