REOPENING OF SCHOOLS.

Pupils Will Resume Studies Sept. 5th.

The public school and Collegiate Institute will open on Tuesday, September 5th. The scholars will be to work for another four months. Nearly all the children will go a step forward, but, sorry to say, some have to remain in the same old class for another year. A large number will start to school for the first time. There will be very few changes in the teaching staff. The buildings have been cleaned during the holidays.

A large number of pupils will enter the high school, while a number will go a step higher, by entering Queen's University.

Some of the pupils are glad to go back, while others say they would like holidays all the year round.

It was thought this time last year, that the new school would be erected for the fall opening, but the work had been delayed so that now the foundation is only being laid. The work is progressing nicely, however.

AT THE PARSONAGE.

Tea and Coffee Run Riot No Longer.

"While I had a serious time of it while we were tea and coffee drinkers."

"She had gastritis, headaches, belching and would have periods of sickness, while I secured a daily headache that became chronic."

"We naturally sought relief by drugs without avail, for it is now plain enough that no drug will cure the disease other drugs (tea and coffee) set up, particularly, so long as the drug which causes the trouble is continued."

"Finally we thought we would try leaving off tea and coffee and using Postum. I noticed that my headache disappeared like magic and my old tremulous nervousness left. One day she said, 'Do you know my gastritis has gone?'"

"One can hardly realize what Postum has done for us."

"Then we began to talk to others. Wife's father and mother were both tea and coffee drinkers, and suffered. Their headaches left entirely a short time after they changed from tea and coffee to Postum."

"I began to inquire among my parishioners and found in my stomach, most the numbers of them use Postum in place of tea and coffee. Many of the ministers who have visited our parsonage have become enthusiastic champions of Postum." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ontario.

The Man On Watch.

What would the steamboats do with out the women, the Lampan asks, and he replies that without them they would have a very unprofitable season. Like the churches, the boats could not exist without woman. Who constitute three-quarters of the passengers aboard the excursion and traffic steamers? Women, to be sure. The Lampan has noticed this during the past month, and has come to the conclusion that as woman was made for man, so was the excursion boat made for woman. No wonder a boat is referred to as "she."

"There's a reason for everything but a woman getting off a car backwards," is the flaring sign that the Lampan reads every time he boards one of the town street cars. He was wholly in accord with this philosophical saying of the street car company's superintendent until he saw an old lady attempting to get off a car the other day. The steps of the car were so high above the roadway that she could not dismount forwards, and she had to turn backwards and almost jump off. Kingston's large cars are anything but easy to board, so much climbing is to be done. No doubt when the company adds new ones, it will buy a different type so that one can step aboard them without difficulty.

If the town council is going to continue the oiling of the new macadam roads it must buy an oil sprinker and oil the roads once every week and thoroughly, the Lampan says. The way the oil is at present splattered over the roads is very unsatisfactory. It's a pity, the Lampan says, that in completing the macadam roads built this season, the top dressings were not given a soaking with oil and then rolled. The cost of the roads would not have been much more.

That the late Joseph George did not burn his last will and testament, as alleged, is now proven. The Lampan knew the deceased as too methodical man to stick such a valuable document behind the baseboard of a bedroom when he had a safe in his house. This will case, the Lampan says, shows the wisdom of a testator placing his will with a bank or a lawyer, or registering it in the registry office. The Lampan learns that although the George will was signed in the autumn of 1906 it bears date of January of that year.

LOOKING FOR A TEACHER.

The Portsmouth School is in Need of One.

The task of keeping school teachers is a very hard one, these days. The schools will soon be open, and the trustees will have their own troubles again. The school boards in the rural sections appear to have more trouble than the city boards. Portsmouth school board will have to have a new senior teacher for the opening of school, and a meeting of the board has been called for next Tuesday evening, to take up the matter. The Portsmouth school will re-open on September 5th.

Pains Have Vanished

Neuralgia Completely Cured.

The cure of Mrs. H. L. Barrett, Guthrie, P. Q., is another victory by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has succeeded in many cases where others have utterly failed. Mrs. Barrett says: "I suffered intensely from neuralgia in the head, face and shoulders. I had used various medicines without relief. I heard of Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it, and I bless the day I did. I took it several months and now feel well. All my pains have vanished."
