STEAMERS IN TROUBLE THE BILL LOOKS LARGE

AMERICA AND QUINTE QUEEN AND THE WATERWORKS COMMITTEE MAY OBJECT TO IT.

For Alleged Violations of the United States—Marine Law—A Statement of the Cases.

Two Kingston steamboats are in danger of being fined by the Washington government for alleged violations of United States marine law. The cases are now before the department of commerce and labor at Washington. It is charged that the steamer American, on August 15th, carried an excursion of New York state guardsmen, of Buffalo, N.Y., from Thousand Island Park, for a trip among the islands, calling at Gananoque, without making a proper landing of the excursionists at a Canadian port. The Canadian law does not permit of excursions landing on Sundays, and hence the American could not land her party. She merely touched at Gananoque, remained ten minutes, and received a clearance letter from the Canadian customs. The claim is that as no passengers were landed, the steamboat owners should be subject to the fine of $200 for every passenger aboard. Then the steamer Quinte Queen has been reported to the Washington authorities as having landed at Clayton, on the evening of August 15th, with the Salvation Army band excursion from Kingston when the immigration officer was not on the wharf. On that occasion, the steamer Quinte Queen was held up outside for more than twenty minutes, awaiting the arrival of the customs officer at that port. It is rather hard for steamers to be detained at night at a port, owing to the negligence of government officials.

THE LATE JAMES MARSHALL.

Particulars Regarding His Death at Paterson, N.J.

Particulars of the death of the late James Marshall, formerly of Kingston, who died in the Paterson, N.J. general hospital, has reached Kingston in a letter from relatives in Toronto. Mr. Marshall was sick nearly three weeks, having entered the hospital on July 22nd, but his case was not considered serious enough to notify his relatives until too late, and they received quite a shock when notified of his death.

The late James Marshall was in his 47th year and was the eldest son of James Marshall, for many years storeman for George Robertson & Son, of this city, but now living in Toronto. He will be remembered by some of the older members of the 14th Battalion being a sergeant and having done garrison duty in the fort during the North-West rebellion. In 1886 he left Kingston, for Rochester and was employed by Sibley, Lindsay & Kerr, later going to Paterson, N.J., where he remained until his death. The body was taken to Toronto and placed in the family plot, at Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Just a year ago his brother, Robert Marshall, known here as "Miley," died suddenly in Toronto. The many Kingston friends sincerely sympathize with the family in their old bereavement.

THEY LOVE BUT ALSO FIGHT.

Well-to-do English Couple—Seek Police Advice.

A well-to-do English couple, of education and refinement—the latter at one time anyway—called at police headquarters on Tuesday morning to lay charges against each other. They stayed last week at a leading hotel here, but did nothing except drink booze and quarrel in their room. Finally they were told to find other quarters. Now the woman has a black eye which she says her husband gave her in one of their little and frequent disputes. The man says the woman is not his wife at all, but just his companion. The couple were advised to settle their differences between themselves and not carry them to the police court.

W. B. Kirk, recognized leader of the democratic party, in Syracuse, N.Y., died in that city on Saturday. William Carroll, of Hamilton, found guilty of keeping a handbook, was fined $500.

A BOAT OWNER FINED

FOR NOT USING CAUTION IN PASSING SKIFF.

John Savage, of Dexter, N.Y., Nearly Ran Down a Skiff—Offence Occurred Near Cape Vincent.

Cape Vincent, N.Y., Aug. 29.—A fine of $100 has been imposed on John Savage, of Dexter, for a violation of rule 22 of the navigation law. Rule 22 states that every vessel owner, overtaking any other vessel, shall keep out of the way of the overtaken vessel. Savage's offence occurred on July 28th. Savage keeps a motor boat for hire and on that day had the boat out. He overtook a skiff containing an Albany party and a Watertown woman. The complainants say that Savage ran so close to them in passing that they were obliged to pull one oar out of the lock to prevent it being broken. They also complain that the swells caused by the motor boat nearly upset them. A complaint was made to the treasury department and the fine was imposed. Collector Frank D. Love said that rule 22 was one which was very often violated, and the violation of it was the cause of many accidents in which small skiffs were run down by motor boats.
