ACCUSED OF THEFT THE DAY'S EPISODES

LOCAL NOTES AND THINGS IN GENERAL

Had Young Man Detained at Police Station, and Then Apologized—An Exciting Chase on the Railway Tracks.

Cries of "Police! Police! Catch him! Catch him!" started people who happened to be on Lower Brook street, near the railway tracks, about seven o'clock on Wednesday morning, and at the same time two men, one in his shirt sleeves, could be seen dashing along at a lively clip, one with a start of a few yards, and the other following him to overtake him. The man in the lead succeeded in winning out in the run, however, and making his way around Swift's wharf, hid in one of the coal sheds.

The man who was doing his best to catch "the other fellow," went to the police station after he had failed in his "Tom" Longboat "stunt," and told his story. He claimed that he had been robbed of $21 and he accused the man he had been chasing of taking it.

Then the police immediately got busy on the case. Constables Saxton and McAdoo went to Swift's wharf, and in a very short time they found the man wanted, hiding in one of the sheds. The fellow offered resistance, and when asked to go to the police station, where he would be detained until the case was straightened out, he had no objection. The accused had no money on his person, and the police went so far as to search the shed where he was found, being of the opinion that if he had taken the money it might have been hid there. But no money was found and the young fellow stoutly denied the charge.

It appears that the chase started from a local hotel, where the young man had been accused by the other of having taken the money. However, to make a long story short, the young man did not have very long to stay at police headquarters. Early in the forenoon the man who claimed he had been robbed, called at the police station, and informed the officers that he had found the $21 he had lost, in his own bedroom, and that the story of his having been robbed, was all a mistake. The police had no charge to make against the man, and he was accordingly given his liberty. The man had only been detained, awaiting a charge to be laid by the complainant.

The young man, taken in charge, is of a rather nervous frame of mind, and when he found that he was going to be charged with theft, he thought it would be best for him to try and escape, and he took to his heels. After notifying the police that it had all been a mistake, he apologized to the young man he gave all the trouble to. He was under the impression that he had been carrying the money around with him, but instead he had left the money in his bedroom.

Sanitary Cups. Each school pupil should be supplied with a drinking cup for his own use. A very handsome and useful cup is being supplied the boys and girls of Kingston free by the Best drug store. The conditions are simple, and one goes with a five-cent purchase. Any child can biatch around and easily make up drug wants for this small amount, so when a child calls at your home and ask what you want at the drug store let him or her get it for you. It will soon be time for cough cures, etc. and by doing this you will help the kiddies to have what they should have had long ago—their own drinking cups.

THE PEOPLE ARE LIABLE TO LAUGH

When They See It, Says J. B. Walkem, K.C.—A Very Simple But a Very Valuable Invention.

"The people will laugh at the simplicity of the thing," said Joseph B. Walkem, K.C., in discussing his new ballot box, which the Dominion government has decided to adopt. "It was after the last Ontario election in 1908, when suggestions were asked for an improved ballot box that a change of cover suggested itself to me. I saw the possibilities of crooked work through the use of the old box, the cover of which only partially opens, enabling the deputy returning officer to drop a few marked ballots into it when he put his hand in to draw out the mass of ballots deposited by the voters. I have been told by old election workers that this trick was done many a time, and scrutineers failed to discover it. I think that the cover I have designed will do away with the trickery of stuffing."

As has been stated before the cover of the old type of box was divided into two parts, one part used as a lid opening on hinges, the other part fixed. The latter portion was provided with a slit through which the ballot was deposited. In the new box the lid covers the whole top of the box, locking on the side instead of on the top. The ballots will be deposited through a round hole in the cover instead.

All new boxes that are used in the election on Sept. 21st, will be of the design made by Mr. Walkem, who has given the government permission to copy it. Mr. Walkem has also suggested to the government that a stamp to mark the ballot should be given to the voter by the returning officer. He would have a rubber stamp containing a cross, which the voter would impress on the ballot opposite the name of the candidate for whom he wishes to vote. Making the ballot by means of a stamp would, Mr. Walkem claims, prevent any other marks of recognition being placed upon it. Any other mark on the ballot, except the stamp cross would destroy the ballot.

AUTO AND BICYCLE COLLIDE. And Edward Reynolds, Victoria Street, Was Injured. About one o'clock Wednesday afternoon, what might have been a very serious accident happened at the corner of Princess and Barrie streets, and as a result, Edward Reynolds, Victoria street, will be laid up for some time.

Mr. Reynolds was wheeling from his home to his work, a few minutes before one o'clock, and in front of the Y.M.C.A. building he met an automobile owned by Mr. Baldon, of Electric Bean fame, Ottawa. The car was driven by Mr. Baldon's chauffeur. The auto was going up street on the right side of the road, and Mr. Reynolds was coming down on the same side. The chauffeur thought Mr. Reynolds was going to keep to that side of the road and swerved to the left. Mr. Reynolds did the same thing and the result was he was hit by the car. He was cut considerably about the head and face, and was hurried to the surgery of Dr. Ross, where his injuries were dressed.

The car was damaged quite a lot by the force of the collision, the windshield being broken, as well as the lamps. It will be several days before Mr. Reynolds will be able to work again.

A DIAMOND RING GIVEN To D. J. Evans by the Locomotive Works Staff. David J. Evans, the retiring accountant of the locomotive works, who has accepted a position with the American Appraising company, in Montreal, was waited upon by a number of his fellow workers, Wednesday afternoon and presented with a beautiful diamond ring as a token of the appreciation his fellow workers have felt for his able assistance and ever-ready willingness to help anyone at any time when it was in his power to do so. Mr. Evans was taken by surprise. He thanked those who had anything to do with the presentation for their thoughtfulness and assured them that the office staff of the Canadian Locomotive company would always have a warm place in his thoughts.

This evening he will be presented with a token by chapter, No. 1, of the Masonic order. Reserve Bid Not Reached. The residence of the late Dr. C. E. Curtis, at the corner of Earl and King streets, was not sold at auction, Wednesday, as the price offered was not as large as the reserve bid. The highest offer was $8,500, or some $1,000 below the reserve. The prices received for the household articles were very high.

Borden's Blunder. St. John (N.B.) Telegraph. Mr. Borden has made many blunders in the course of his political career, but the greatest of all is, his cry that Canadians are about to become traitors. It would be a national disaster if the people did not repudiate this calumny.

MRS. NEOPOLITANA STARTS HER LIFE SENTENCE

Took an Affectionate Farewell of Her Children Before Leaving—Stayed at an Hotel Over Night.

Mrs. Angelina Neopolitana, who was found guilty of killing her husband, of Sault Ste. Marie, has arrived at the penitentiary. The sentence of death was passed upon Mrs. Neopolitana, but was commuted to life imprisonment through the efforts put forth by the women of Canada and the United States, together with her lawyer.

The prisoner arrived on the night train from Toronto. Constable Hearst and wife had her in charge. They reached Kingston about three o'clock, and stayed at the British-American hotel all night. The party had breakfast at 8:30, and three-quarters of an hour later, a cab was called, and the journey was made to the big prison, at Portsmouth.

Mrs. Neopolitana was dressed in a light suit, dark hat, and wore a veil. Her identity was not disclosed, and only a few around the hotel knew that she was the Italian woman sentenced to spend the rest of her life in penitentiary. The accused is very short, and stout, and from all appearances, in very good health. While at the hotel, she gave no sign whatever of being much affected by her fate, and engaged in conversation with the constable and his wife.

The party left Sault Ste. Marie on Monday night, by boat, to Sarnia, thence by rail to Kingston. It is stated that the scene at the wharf, when the woman said good-bye to her children, was a most touching one. She kissed them again and again, and when the time arrived for her to leave them, her eyes filled with tears, and she broke down entirely.

The case of Mrs. Neopolitana caused widespread comment all over the country, as just after her sentence of death she gave birth to a child.

As the trainmen were expecting the rush, no difficulty was experienced in handling the crowd.
