LOTS OF LIFE IN HER

KATHLEEN SAILED WELL IN GEORGE CUP RACES.

The Toronto Telegram Says the Supposed "Has Been" Outclassed the New Boat, Watertown, in Good Breeze.

The Toronto Telegram says there is lots of life in Kathleen, of Kingston, yet. It describes the Kingston yacht as a veteran of early George cup days which has surprised everybody by her good performances in twice defeating the new boat, Watertown.

The Telegram says of Wednesday's final race:

"Watertown wasn't in it for a minute. 'Twas the supposed has-been, Kathleen, of Kingston, that came in for second place. Watertown was clearly outclassed in the weather.

"Kathleen taking a desperate chance, set her spinaker, passing the pole away forward, and carrying the clew of the sail around to leeward of everything. It was a game move, but Skipper Gildersleeve had reckoned without the Watertown. She was to leeward of him, and began to haul up on his weather quarter. Ere he knew it, his spinnaker was aflutter, blanketed by the other boat's canvas, and the necessity for luffing. The thrashing sail had to be taken in, and ten minutes after the start, Kathleen was a hundred yards astern, sailing remarkably well, but being unable to make much impression on Vivia's lead. She passed Watertown within a mile of the next turn. Vivia was half a mile ahead at the end of the thrash.

"On the run home, Watertown and Kathleen staggered after the flying champion with ballooners tugging like wild horses, but 'twas a vain chase. Skipper Wedd brought the Vivia home almost in time for dinner, the finishing whistle blowing at 12.11. Kathleen then 'was half a mile astern, Watertown a mile back."

Carrier Pigeons Used.

An interesting feature in connection with the George cup races at Toronto this week, was the fact that the news of the races was carried by carrier pigeons.

A large number of these birds were kept on the judges' boat on the course out on the lake, nearly opposite attached to the pigeon, which is then liberated. The bird flies to its loft on shore. As the starting gun is fired, the news is written, placed in a tube and attached to the pigeon, which s then libergted. The bird flies to the loft on shore at once and is caught and the news flashed over the wires. Each of the important features of the race is sent in the same manner.

Dinghy Race Series Ends.

The last of a series of five dinghy races was sailed on Wednesday afternoon from the yacht club house. Brown was first, with Anglin second and Hill third. The races are now all over. Brown wins the first prize and Anglin the second prize. The races have caused a great deal of interest during the past five weeks.

A STRAIGHT GIFT.

Senator Smith of Michigan, in his spech in the American Senate, thus describe the reciprocity pact: "It is a straight, square, unadulterated gift of the American market to the producers on the soil of Canada without a Compensating return to our own people."

Where is the Disloyalty?

Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

An esteemed contemporary points out that out of $376,000,000 worth of goods imported into Canada for consumption last year $148,500,000 came from the United States. And a large percentage of the free importations from the United States were for the benefit of the Canadian manufacturer. The Canadian manufacturer has no idea that it is disloyal for him to import free of duty the goods he needs as raw material for his finished product. Why should it savor of disloyalty in the workingman to desire the taxes removed from his food? Food is as necessary to the workingman as raw material is to the manufacturer. To the credit of the manufacturers it must be said that many of them are taking the reasonable view that both the farmer and the consumer are entitled to fair consideration.

Postponed the Agony.

New York Tribune.

Robert W. Chambers, the novelist, was discussing at the Century Association in New York a volume of poetry.

"It is ambitious," he said, "but the tragedy seems to me to be mechanical. In fact, the grief in these verses reminds me of the grief of a Tennessee mountain woman.

"She was eating pigs' feet, one day, at the door of her cabin, when a neighbor came to tell her bad news. Her husband had got in a fight at the Three Corners Tavern, a ball had lodged in his lung, and he had died instantly.

"The woman, a pig's foot held midway to her mouth, listened to this harrowing tale in profound silence. Then, tailing to her pig's foot vigorously again, she said:

"'Wait till I finish this pig's trotter an' ye'll hear some hollerin' as is hollerin'.'"

Harlowe Happenings.

Harlowe, Aug. 30.—Most of the farmers are through harvesting. A large number left for the west. Neal Mills made a business trip to Ardendale. Mrs. Thomas Thompson, who has been ill, returned to her home at Latimer. Mrs. Thomas Thompson, Sr., and her son, Theodore, made a business trip to Ardendale. William Marshall made a trip to Flinton, Monday. Visitors: Mrs. E. Earl at Mrs. C. Miller's; Mrs. Charles Miller and Mrs. C. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. James Rombough, of Northbrook, also the latter's sister, Miss B. Milligan were the guests of Miss Sadie Scott; Mr. and Mrs. William Marshall at P. Whiteman's.

BRAVERY REWARDED

OFFERS THREE "BELLHOPS" POSITIONS.

Alexandria Bay Hotel Employees Aided in Saving Mr. Boldt's Wellesley House From Destruction Last Week.

Alexandria Bay, N.Y., Aug. 31.—The courage and presence of mind of three bell boys at the Crossmon House have proved of commercial value to them.

George C. Boldt, whose spacious country mansion, Wellesley House, was threatened with destruction by fire early on the morning of Aug. 24th, came into the Crossmon House and offered the three young "bellhops" positions on the staff of the Waldorf-Astoria, of New York city, of which Mr. Boldt is the proprietor.

The boys are Cassius Sparks, Frederick McDonald and Leon Cummings. The two first named have stated their intention of taking advantage of the offer. Cummings will return to high school and will doubtless be rewarded with funds to help him continue his education.

On the morning of the fire the three boys were the first on the scene. Making their way to the roof of the house they worked hard to save the structure and were instrumental in doing so. The barn and outbuildings were destroyed.

Mr. Boldt was in New York at the time, but upon his return heard of their act and took this novel means of rewarding the boys. The Waldorf-Astoria call bench is a charmed circle in "bellhopdom" and those fortunate enough to enter clear big money in salary and perquisites.

A letter received from Switzerland from the Misses Knapp, Johnson street who left on a continental trip some weeks ago, states that they are having a fine time, and that they were leaving for Milan and Venice. They have counted their money in English, French, Dutch and German.

A Frost Reported.

People coming in on the Kingston & Pembroke trains, on Wednesday, reported a heavy frost during the night. The Portsmouth philosopher, who is strongly in favor of reciprocity, states the frost was due to the campaign Dr. J. W. Edwards is conducting along the line, this week against reciprocity.

Parting Gift to Principal.

James E. McDonald, who, for the past eleven years, has been principal of the Cornwall separate schools, is moving to Kingston. He was given a send off by the separate school ratepayers of Cornwall in the C.M.B.A. hall on Monday night, and was presented with a substantial purse and an appropriate address which was read by D. G. McDonell, chairman of the separate school board.

He is Doing Well.

C. W. Glenn, of the C.N.R. railway, claims department, Montreal, was in the city on Wednesday. He accompanied to Kingston the remains of Mrs. William Clark, whose funeral took place to Cataraqui cemetery. Mr. Glenn, about four years ago, managed a fruit and confectionery business on King street for Joseph Hiscock. His many friends here were glad to see him again and to learn of his success in the east.

Teachers Very Scarce.

School teachers are very scarce. The Portsmouth school board has found this out. They have a vacancy to fill, that of junior teacher, but a teacher has yet to be secured. A meeting of the board was held on Thursday night but no action was taken owing to the fact that there were no applicants for the position. The matter was laid over until Friday night and in the meantime the members of the board will take up the matter with the inspector, Dr. Spankie.

Business is Good Here.

Dr. Elliott, who is conducting the optical sale at Mahood's drug store, for the International College of Opthalmology, is well pleased with the business done in Kingston. "This is the best visit we have ever paid to Kingston," he stated this morning. "The people are taking advantage of the opportunity to secure glasses selected by a professional optician after a thorough test, and getting them at the same time at a very moderate price. If we had not advertised to go to Brockville for Saturday next I should certainly remain in Kingston another week."

Great reductions in price at Prevost's, Brock street, in ready-made clothing, gents' furnishings and clothing made to order. This clearing sale to make room for fall and winter importations.

RAILWAY BUILT ON FAITH.

Money Raised by Appeals to Religious Feelings.

Cassier's Magazine.

The most remarkable railroad in the world is now in course of construction in that part of Turkey in Asia broadly known as Arabin. The railway is unusual in many ways but chiefly because it is built on the faith of the Mahomedans all over the world.

This narrow gauge railway starts from the town of Damascus and has the holy town of Mecca as its objective point. It will thus cover a distance of 1,750 kilometres. By far the greater portion of the line has been constructed, and the road is now regularly operated on the 1,500 kilometres intervening between Demascus and Medina.

The financing of this enterprise has been unparalleled in the annals of railroad building. The avowed intent of the construction was to afford primarily a convenient way of travelling to the 225,000 pilgrims, who, it is computed, come every year from all corners of the Mahomedan world, and at a cost of $250 a head, to worship at the Kabala.

It was estimated that a $50 round trip rate would be sufficient to insure the financial stability of the undertaking. Money was provided for the construction of the road by appeals made to the religious feelings of the 250,000,000 Mahomedans scattered in widely separated regions of the globe and their voluntary contributions to this pious undertaking were besought.

So successfully did this scheme work that $14,000,000 was soon collected, and for a time about $12,000,000 was contributed annually by the faithful. This operation involved no responsibility whatever to the promoters, headed by Abdul Hamid, the one time sultan of Turkey, inasmuch as all these funds were bestowed in the form of donations. Thus the road had no shareholders and no bonded indebtedness, its capital being spontaneously wiped off.

Labor costs called for no additional expenditures, as the men were drawn from the ranks of the army and no extra pay was awarded them for manual labor on the line.

On potatoes it is 25c. per bushel, corn 15c., turnips 25c., onions 40c., cabbage 2c. each, and all other vegetables in their natural state 25 per cent.

On apples the tax is 25c. per bushel, pears 25c., peaches 25c. and grapes 25c. per cubic foot capacity of barrels or packages. On berries of all kinds it is 1c. per quart.

On dried fruit it is 2c. per lb.

On butter it is 6c. per lb., on cheese 6c. per lb., on cream 5c. per lb., on fresh milk 2c. per gallon, and eggs 5c. a dozen.

All these taxes are to be wiped off under reciprocity and absolutely free access to the American market will be allowed for the Canadian farm products named, as soon as the agreement goes into effect.

Borden Has Gone Astray.

Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

Mr. Borden says he hopes Canada will take the old path. He is likely to see his hope realized this time. The old path was beaten by all the political leaders on both sides up to Mr. Borden's own time, all of whom favored reciprocity in natural products. Even Mr. Borden himself seems to have favored it up till quite recently.

SWORDFISH WHIPS WHALE.

Desperate Battle at Sea Between Monsters.

New York Herald.

Battle to the death between a calf right whale, thresher whale, and a swordfish was witnessed by Capt. P. J. Fraser, of the steamship Bermudian of the Quebec Steamship company, when that vessel was 400 miles from Sandy Hook. The conflict, according to Capt. Fraser, took place about a mile off the port bow, and went to, what he called six rounds.

There were only two or three passengers on deck at the time Capt. Fraser sighted a disturbance in the water. With his glasses he could see the three-cornered fight, which ended disastrously for the larger whale.

"When I first saw them," said Capt. Fraser, "the whole was tearing along at a fast clip in the direction of the Bermudias. The calf must have been about fifty feet long, while the thresher was less than seventy feet from tip to tip. The swordfish was large, about eighteen feet long, with a sword of extra large size.

"The thresher led the attack by swimming up close to the calf, when it spouted, and hit with his heavy tail. Then the swordfish, about 100 yards away, dived out of sight. In a moment the whale half leaped out of the water, and I knew that the smaller antagonist had struck. For the next few minutes the fighting was furious, the whale having only one resource, diving. Six times it went down, but just as soon as it would come up to breathe they would go at it again.

"When the battle was over the whale gave one final leap and sank, the victors diving quickly after it."

One of the passengers on board the Bermudian was Louis L. Mobray, the curator at the Bermudian aquarium, who brought up a collection of sea life for the aquarium at the Battery, consisting of more than 300 specimens.

The Portsmouth philosopher is well pleased with the new lights installed in the city and would very much like to borrow them for the winter season.

Wolfe Island News.

Wolfe Island, Aug. 30.—The farmers of this vicinity are busily engaged in completing their harvest. Some of the industrious harvesters of the seventh concession were greatly disappointed and surprised to see one of their seemingly well built stacks, capsize. There was a very interesting ball game played between the Boxen Harbour boys and Reid's Bay team. The score was 12 to 2 in favour of the latter. Estella Driscoll has enjoyed a very pleasant visit with Miss Molly McGlynn. Leonard Hogan has returned to make a short visit with his numerous friends and relatives on the island.
