

WHO IS TO RULE OUR COUNTRY?

The Privileged Few or the Masses of the People?

The Stubborn Opposition to Reciprocity on the Part of the "Special Interests" Introduced a New Element into the Fight--The Menace of Wealth Interfering in Politics.

Toronto Star.

This contest has developed into something more than one for or against reciprocity.

It is no longer a nice balancing of advantages between a wide and a narrow market.

The question now is whether the privileged few or the unprivileged masses are to rule the country.

The struggle which lately convulsed the old land in Great Britain has been transferred to this new Dominion beyond the seas.

On the one side we have farmers, lumbermen, and fishermen, clamorous for the wider opportunities, the higher prices, and the more stable conditions that the opening of the market of the whole continent will provide for them.

With these are the consumers, in cities which wish relief from a situation under which a few combine depress prices of raw materials in the form of hogs, cattle, or canned goods, and unduly elevate the price of the finished article when ready for the table. On the other side are the representatives of the "special interests," the "privileged few," all the other combines, and the financial interests which have accumulated millions in the form of bonus stock in return for bringing these combinations together and placing their bonds on the British market.

If these special interests win, something more than reciprocity will be lost—something more than the opportunity of buying and selling in a wider market will be placed beyond reach within the life of the present generation at least. The few will be enthroned in power; the power of the unorganized mass, if not destroyed, will be so diminished that it will be long years before it can again be made effective.

The great industrial and population changes which have occurred in Canada of late years have all tended towards the consolidation of power in the hands of the favored few. Instead of a host of small industries, with individual proprietors, as we had thirty or forty years ago, we have a few great corporations with an army of employees. The "straw vote" taken in factories under the eye of superintendents, the Eddy circular to employees practically commanding these employees that a great number will not do to vote against reciprocity, are indications of the extent to which these corporations can control the votes of their employees.

A still more powerful weapon has been placed in the hands of Privilege by the vast inflow of alien immigration which has taken place of late years. There are 40,000 aliens in Toronto alone. There is a proportionate number in Montreal and Winnipeg. Almost every town has its quota of these aliens, and in the main, ignorant not only of our language, but of our institutions. They have been trained, under popular government, but under despotic government. They have been trained to obey. They have been witnesses to political corruption in all forms. It is in the power of Capital to organize an artificial vote. By such control the balance of power can be manipulated in the interests of Capital in a dozen city constituencies to-day. In a few years the number of constituencies that can be so controlled will be further increased.

If the interests win in this present contest, their power will be consolidated, while that of the masses will be weakened. A struggle greater than that recently witnessed in the old land will be necessary to restore to the common people their just rights. And we may not then have a Lloyd George to lead in the fight.

A solemn obligation rests on all good citizens to do what in them lies to prevent Privilege from becoming more strongly entrenched than it is now. This obligation is more particularly binding upon the farmers of Canada. It is they who, by taking through their organizations for reciprocity, have precipitated the present struggle. If they now, in response to the crack of the party whip, abandon the cause which the government at their request has taken up, agriculture will largely cease to exist as a political force to be reckoned with; one of the main forces on which the maintenance of the popular government rests will be well-nigh fatally weakened. A coal many will, no doubt, respond to the whip, but the evidence is incontrovertible.

room's brother looked after the groom's interests. After the ceremony the bride party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where a dainty wedding repast was served, the citizens' band orchestra discoursing sweet music. The bride was one of Gananogue's most popular young ladies, was the recipient of many handsome and costly testimonials of esteem from her large circle of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell left during the early evening by launch for Clayton and thence to spend their honeymoon in New York city. After their return they will locate in Toronto.

Another of Gananogue's elderly and highly-esteemed residents passed away at the family residence, Pine Street, in the person of Mrs. George Emery, after an illness of considerable duration. Deceased was a daughter of the late Mr. Bradley, of Leeds, and is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. (Dr.) Hanna and Mrs. C. F. Verity, of Brantford, and one son, Joseph G. Emery, Toronto. The funeral takes place to-morrow to Gananogue cemetery.

Mrs. and Mrs. W. J. Jordan, corner Stone and North streets, are mourning the sad loss of their infant daughter, Myrtle, who passed away on Saturday morning after a short illness and whose funeral takes place this afternoon to Pine Grove cemetery.

Mary Alice Peacor, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Peacor, Jr., passed to rest after a short illness at the family residence, King street west, on Saturday evening. The funeral takes place this afternoon.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Nelson, passed away at Hotel Dieu, Kingston, on Friday. The remains were brought here Friday evening, and interment took place on Saturday at Gananogue cemetery.

The handsome pleasure yacht, "Lafayette," owned by Mr. Hardy, of Brockville, with a considerable number of guests on board, paid a visit here on Saturday afternoon.

Charles Brown, an employee of Mitchell & Wilson, was taken to Brockville hospital on Saturday morning for treatment for blood-poisoning. The Citizens' band rendered an excellent sacred concert at the public park last evening and was listened to by a large audience.

The handsome souvenir trophies won by members of the local chess club by including the padding trophy cup won by Howard Linklater, at the recent A.C.A. meet at Sugar Island, have been placed on exhibition in Bennett's window and make a fine display.

A big liberal meeting, in the interests of Freeman Cross, the liberal candidate for South Leeds, has been arranged to take place this evening at the public park. Messrs. E. A. McLaughlin, K.E., and J. D. McGregor, of Toronto, and W. C. McLaren, Brockville, are to be the leading speakers. In the event of bad weather the meeting will be held in the Opera House.

Rev. J. T. Picheur, ordered to rest by his medical attendant, recently filled the pulpit of Grace church, yesterday morning, but was unable to take the evening service, which was conducted by Rev. James Allen, of Toronto, who is spending some time

FOR THE DEAF IN CHURCH,

Whispers From Pulpit Will be Made Audible.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 9.—The Grand Avenue Methodist church, near completion at Ninth street, and Grand Avenue, will have, among its many conveniences, a complete system of instruments whereby the slightest whisper at the altar is distinctly heard in any part of the auditorium.

At each pew will be an instrument. It is about two and a half inches in diameter, and when held in the ear will enable a person partly-deaf to hear better than if the speaker were only a foot away.

The dictograph, which catches and magnifies the sound, is placed on the altar, where it will intercept the sound waves from the speaker's lips and send them in increased volume to every person holding an instrument.

Many Kingston congregations candidate for this device. The pastor of the church at Lanier will be returned to power.
