CHINESE FORCE

May Arrive in Time to Rout the Rebels.

CONDITION CRITICAL

THE CITY OF CHENTU IN DANGER OF CAPTURE.

If it Falls the Missions Will be Lost, But the Missionaries May be Spared.

London, Sept. 16.—The British minister at Peking cables the foreign office that he has received a telegram from the consul at Chung King, stating that the situation at Chentu is critical. The city is surrounded by thousands of rioters and fighting is going on. The rebels hold the roads, and are cutting within the walls of the city is feared because of the shutting off of the food supply. It is not doubted that the missions will be looted if the city falls, but it is expected that the missionaries may be spared, the rebels fearing penalties of violence toward foreigners and having before had a severe lesson.

London, Sept. 16.—The only news from China this morning is that the government is hoping that troops will reach Chentu in time to prevent the rebels doing much damage. The situation of the Canadian missionaries is still unknown.

HOW GOES THE FIGHT?

A BIT OF EVERYTHING ABOUT THE CAMPAIGN.

Who Wants to Vote for Bourassa?—A Tory Vote Means That—May Not Have Another Opportunity. Give Mowat a chance!

Three cheers for Sir Wilfrid and more good times. Cheap fish and oysters for the poor man's table.

Do not be a little Canadian; vote for Laurier and larger markets.

Vote for Mowat. He stands for cheaper foods for consumers.

There are countries in Canada, and they are all combined against reciprocity.

The intelligent conservative farmer puts his pocket before his party this time.

Can anyone name half a dozen liberal farmers who are against reciprocity?

Is there a young man in this town who wants to vote for the Bourassa-Borden alliance?

How the conservative party if in power would have jumped at this trade agreement!

Mowat is Kingston's man. He will be with the government and can get things for the city.

We can pass reciprocity one day and increase the British preference the next day if we want to.

It is not a treaty, but an arrangement that we are free to change when we think it advisable.

No wonder Hon. S. H. Blake is mad at the Tory insult that the Canadians' loyalty is in danger.

Mr. Voter, see where all the combines are in this election, and then mark your ballot accordingly.

The liberal party's color is red; so is Jack Mowat's auto. Together they make Kingston Tories look blue.

A vote for Borden is a vote for Bourassa; a vote for Bourassa is a vote for the disruption of Canada.

The Canadian packers have not designed to explain why they sell bacon cheaper in England than in Canada.

The conservatives who are going to vote for reciprocity have not left their party. It is their party that has left them.

It's up to you, Mr. Liberal, to see your candidates elected, get out and work. Don't leave the job to somebody else.

The locomotive works always excites the Tories about election times. The workmen there know who have been their friends.

If reciprocity is not accepted now, another opportunity of acceptance is not likely to occur in the life of the present generation.

We already import nearly $100,000,000 worth of free goods from the United States, mostly for the benefit of our protected manufacturers.

The prospects for the election of Hon. F. Oliver, the liberal candidate, in Edmonton, Sask., are of the best. The conservative candidate will do well to save his deposit.

If the unholy alliance of Borden and Bourassa were to prevail, you would have Canada split by racial and religious dissension, and the great work of confederation would be undone.

O, here's to the bold young Canuck! He's bfin full of ginger and pluck. He's not afraid.

With the U.S. to trade, though the Tories seem scared of their luck.

Premier Roblin, of Manitoba solemnly makes the statement that any conservative who so desired might vote for reciprocity without prejudicing his party affiliation. Good news this to Kingston and Frontenac conservatives.

Hon. Clifford Sifton is very careful to continue his misrepresentations of reciprocity agreement by deliberate referring to it as "this treaty." That is done, evidently, to give color to the falsehood circulated by the "antis" that it is a "binding" and "entangling" alliance. The statement is absolutely false.

Wasn't it awful, Mabel, to tell Kingstonians of their good fortune in having Kingston made a national port with an expenditure of $600,000 to equip it properly. And horrors, the liberal government has thus benefited Kingston. The citizens rejoice over the good tidings and will help to put Mowat in parliament to further the good work.

Perth Road in Mourning. The death of Miss Emma Roberts, of Perth Road, has placed the whole community in mourning on account of her untimely death. Thursday, the subject of conversation in the village was politics, but Friday everyone was much wrought over the death of one who had at all times been a friend of the afflicted and sorrowful. She did not drop dead as was stated in Friday's paper, but passed away suddenly after a very brief illness. She was a Methodist in religion and beside her parents, leaves a brother and sister.

FitzGerald, M.A., B.D., vicar of St. Paul's church, Kingston, delivered two most eloquent and instructive sermons.

WOULD BOOM KINGSTON. The advisability of Kingston electing a supporter of the Laurier government was made more evident by Sir R. B. Cardwright in his address on Friday evening. Kingston can be made one of the greatest points of output in the whole country, and with reciprocity that could be carried through here from all points between Toronto and Brockville to New York would be immense. Sir Richard sees the time when a bridge will be built across the St. Lawrence, over Howe and Wolfe Islands to the New York shore, and when trains will pass from this side to the other. Reciprocity would assuredly boom Kingston.
