Uses Only Cuticura Soap for Prize Baby

"I have always used Cuticura Soap and no other for my baby, and he has never had a sore of any kind. He does not even chafe as most babies do. I feel that it is all owing to Cutioura Soap for he is fine and healthy, and when five months old won a prize in a baby contest. It makes my heart ache to go into so many homes and see a sweet faced baby with the whole top of its head a solid mass of scurf, caused by the use of poor soap. I always recom-mend Cuticara, and nine times out of ten the next time I see the mother she says 'Oh! I am so glad you told me of Cuticura.' '(Signed) Mrs. G. A. Selby, Redondo Beach, Calif. Tips For the Farmer

Double the Egg Output. It is perfectly safe to say that would be easy to double the number of eggs produced in this country withany other way make the raising of wheat more profitable. We are glad to be able to get a little more hay from an acre, as we understand that investment in land, taxes and other fixed charges are no more where big crops are produced than where only

One more point should be impressed on our farmer poultry raisers : We do not keep as many bens as we might with profit. If every farm of forty acres or more could be stocked with at least 200 hens, young, thrifty, wellbred and well fed, the egg crop would be so valuable that the hog men would not say much about the mort

Changes in Seed Control Act. During the recent session in parliament, important changes were made in the Seed Control Act, respecting the The above definition still holds sale of clover and timothy seed. Under the old act, the inspector sometimes found it difficult to prove violations though misrepresentations - were being made. A dealer might offer red clover seed, containing as many ninety-two noxious weed seeds per ounce and an unlimited number of other weed seeds such as Foxtail, represent it as his best grade, and charge ed for No. 1. He would not mark it No. I, but he might state verbally that it was No. 1, or just as good. This has often been done, with the result that farmers, as well as retail merchants, who really wanted to buy pure seed. have got badly contaminated seed, and paid high prices for it. Under the new act, such misrepresentations will be impossible, and both farmers and retail merchants, will be able to buy their seed more intelligently. For grades are fixed by the act for red clover, alike, alfalfa and timothy seed, and all seed sold for seeding purposes by seedsmen must be plainly labelled with the grade. Any seed not grading No. 3, which is a higher standard than the old prohibitive line of five noxious weed seeds per thousand good seed, is prohibited from sale.

Back From the United States. "This is my Own, my Native Land," quoth Jean Lavigne, as he led his family from the train that carried them back after ten years in L'Etats Unis, said The Vancouver World

Jean's stout French-Canadian heart ourned within him as he turned his footsteps from wandering on the foreign strand south of forty-nine. Beyond acquiring several grand-sons, who may qualify for the Presi-dency of the United States, and a well developed Yankee nasal drawl in place of his native Habitant, Mr. Lavigne has little to thank the American Republic for .

The Lavigne family is the advance guard of fifty French-Canadian families from near Nork Yakima, Wash., who will return to Canada to seek their fortunes in the Skeena Valley.
On board the Prince Rupert the Lavignes left for the north last night. The head of the house explained that the high cost of living had driven im out of the United States, and he would never return. He had lived. he said, in the Province of Quebechad been born there. He was induced to emigrate to the Western States ten

Fortune did not favor him with a very lavish hand. So the Lavigne homestead in Northern Washington has been disposed of, and with the cash receipts the family starts afresh in the Bulkley Valley.

"Seven hundred people will come into Canada from our neighborhood during this year," said Mr. Lavigner. "We French-Canadians love our Canada, and we cannot stay away."
