

HEART DISEASE CURED

Kingston Girl Saved by "Fruit-a-lives"

Heart Weakness and Heart Irritation are the common outgrowth of Indigestion. Gas is formed in the stomach and this accumulation of gas bulges out the walls of the stomach and presses against the heart. Palpitation, pain over the heart, and sometimes a feeling of smothering and dizziness, all are caused by the stomach and not because of any organic heart-disease.

"Fruit-a-lives" will always cure this weak, irritated condition of the heart by curing the stomach.

91 CLERGY ST., KINGSTON, ONT.

I suffered for some years with a dangerous form of Heart Disease. My heart beat violently, and I had pain over the heart and down the arms. I also suffered with Constipation and Indigestion. This was aggravated by physicians and took many remedies, but nothing did me any good. Then I began taking "Fruit-a-lives," and this medicine completely cured me of all the heart trouble, constipation and indigestion, and gave me back perfect health.

A RATHER ODD VESSEL

IT HAS NO SAILS AND NO SMOKE-STACKS.

The "Toiler" Will Ply Between Montreal and Lake Erie—Quite a New Departure in Lake Navigation—Marine Notes of Interest.

A vessel with no sails and no smokestack, will soon make its appearance on the lake trade, running between Montreal and Lake Erie, and it is quite a new departure in the type of vessel, in naturally causing a great deal of interest. The vessel is known as the "Toiler," and is the first vessel driven by oil engines that has ever been seen in this country.

The Toiler was built at the Neptune yard, Swan, Trenton & Wiggin Richardson, Wallend-On-Tyne, and was consigned to Clarence L. de Sola, of Montreal, who is looking after the interest of this firm, in Montreal, and as often stated, the vessel will ply between Montreal and Lake Erie.

Oil combustion furnishes the propelling power, instead of coal. The vessel is remarkable in appearance, as well as in her engines.

Owing to the nature of her motive power, she possesses no funnel, and practically no masts, beyond a couple of small spars used mainly for hoisting freight.

The vessel is propelled by two sets of two-cylinder reversible Diesel oil engines. It is stated that the oil consumption is much less in weight than the consumption of coal for steam engines.

AT THE GRAND.

To-night "The Cat and the Fiddle" is on.

Theatre-goers in this city will have the pleasure of witnessing the big musical hit of last season, Chas. A. Sellen's production, "The Cat and the Fiddle," which comes to the Grand tonight.

The critics pronounce this attraction as being one of the season's best—the very essence of musical comedy, extravaganza, vaudeville, etc.

Practically the same big cast that was seen last season, including Harry B. Watson, Nellie Waters, soubrette, Minnie Manley and a big beauty chorus are promised. The production is all new and very elaborate this season.

The big song hits which are so whistly and airy are: "Rosy Dreams," "The Old Date Tree," "I Wish I Were a Sailor," "Won't You Take a Ride With Me," "Nearly Grand Opera," all remembered from last season, and the new ones: "My Maid in the Moon."

"With Edged Tools."

In comparison with recent successes, Henry Seton Merriman's novel, dramatised, possesses a record almost as enviable as the novel itself. On leaving England to come to the American continent, it had been running continuously since its production four years ago, and had reached its one thousand and twenty-ninth performance. Over one million people have paid admission to see "With Edged Tools." A great factor in the success is that the original English company has been kept together and is now performing the play for the first time out of Europe. They return after a year to take up their contracts in England for 1913 and 1914. "With Edged Tools" will visit the Grand on Thursday, Oct. 5th.

"The Earl of Pawtucket."

The enjoyable comedy, "The Earl of Pawtucket," will be the attraction at the Grand on Saturday, Oct. 7th, matinee and night, when John Cort will present John Lawrence D'Orsay in an elaborate revival of the play, supported by an excellent company of merry players. "The Earl of Pawtucket" was written by Augustus Thomas and is a comedy pure and simple.

Its action hinges on the visit of a titled Englishman, Lord Cardington, to the United States under the assumed name of Montgomery Putnam, which has been obligingly lent him by an acquaintance in Europe who is the lawful possessor of the name. The English Earl has confided to Putnam that he is head and heels in love with an American woman, who Putnam finds is the lady who was his wife for three months and then secured a divorce from him.

"My husband and my sons were up night and day wheeling me from one room to another in the hope of giving me some relief. I had tried doctor after doctor all to no avail. When a young girl I sprained my foot, I had to sit on a chair the last of the afternoon to sleep. I then lay down on the floor and slept all night long. The small hole grew to about the size of an apple, and the excema spread to the knee. I had to sit up all night long in the ankle. The whole foot ran water all the time."
