CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

HISTORY OF ITS COMMENCEMENT AND GROWTH

Told by Karl Lehmann, Interstate Secretary, Who Spoke in First Congregational and Queen Street Methodist Churches.

In two of the city churches on Sunday the story of Christian Endeavor as a world-wide movement was told by Karl Lehmann, interstate secretary of Christian Endeavor. In the morning he spoke in the First Congregational church and in the evening at the Queen street Methodist church. Mr. Lehmann told how the first society was formed in Williston Congregational church, Portland, Maine, by Rev. Francis E. Clark, nearly thirty-one years ago, and had only fourteen members, but in that thirty-one years the movement has grown and spread until today we find 80,000 societies and over four million members. These societies provide over $1,000,000 a year for missionary work and have put 6,000 missionaries in the field.

"They say that the Christian Endeavor movement is on the wane," continued the speaker, "but let me quote you a few figures to show you that Christian Endeavor is not dying. During the last two years ending in July, ten thousand new societies were formed and over 1,200,000 members were added to the movement, while 65,000 souls joined themselves to the church. Does that look as if Christian Endeavor was dying?"

Endeavors can be found today in nearly every country under the sun. They have entered the navy and also the prisons, where societies were also formed. "This was not the case thirty-one years ago, for at that time no united organization of the young people existed. Now almost every nation has its national Christian Endeavor union. Local unions exist in almost all the large cities of the world, and state, district and county unions and federations of societies bring the young people together every year in thousands of conventions, conferences and institutions, where their enthusiasm is aroused, and practical methods, proved by experience, are taught."

Mr. Lehmann also addressed a mass meeting in Sydenham street Methodist church at 8:30 p.m., at which Robert Tremey, president of the local union, presided. He will make his final address this evening at the rally in Cooke's church and will meet the officers and leaders after the rally in a conference on practical methods for running a successful society.

FREDERICK WELCH CHOSEN. Chairman of Kingston Anglican Branch of L.M.M.

A well-attended meeting under the Anglican branch of the Laymen's Missionary Movement was held in St. George's chapel Sunday afternoon. Canon Starr opened the meeting with prayer and after expressing the deep sense of the loss the society felt in the passing of E. J. R. Pease and Dr. R. V. Rogers, the moving spirits of the organization from its inception, he called on David M. Rose, the dominion secretary, who gave an interesting address on the work of the Laymen's Missionary Movement.

At the conclusion, on motion of R. J. Carson, seconded by Francis King, Frederick Welch was elected chairman for the Kingston branch. Three members were appointed from each parish to form an executive. On the suggestion of Rev. Mr. Savary a banquet was decided on for the near future. The newly-elected chairman made an excellent address and good promise is given for a strong and active Kingston branch of the Laymen's Missionary Movement.

Had Developed Idea.

T. J. Shanks, of Hamilton, formerly a newspaper man in Kingston, writes a very interesting letter to the Toronto Mail and Empire, claiming to be the first one, who had the moving picture idea brought out. He gives M. Lumiere the credit of bringing the "cinematograph" to perfection, and of coining the word for his process.

BOMBARDED BOSTON.

"Rehall" Druggists Hold Their Annual Convention.

A forceful demonstration of what co-operation can accomplish was shown last week in Boston at the ninth annual convention of the stockholders of the United Drug company. Stockholders with their families, numbering some 2,000, were there from every section of the United States and Canada, while others came from distant places, such as England, Hawaii and the West Indies. These are all representative business men, each the leading druggist in his respective town and no two men from the same place.

Tuesday morning, Louis K. Liggett, president of the company, called the meeting to order, and introduced Mayor John F. Fitzgerald. President Liggett reviewed the work of the company for the past year, which showed the tremendous growth of the concern in that time. He then traced its progress from its organization nine years ago. His report showed that the company's laboratories now occupy nearly ten acres of floor space, employ about 1,200 people, with an annual pay-roll amounting to nearly a million dollars. Where the company had little more than eight years ago had but thirty-two stockholders, it today has close upon 5,000. He told of the plans for the future, showing that it was necessary to immediately commence work upon new buildings to keep pace with the increased growth.

Mr. Liggett explained the great work the company accomplished in producing pure drugs, products that the public and practitioners could depend upon and produced at the lowest possible prices consistent with quality. Moreover, he showed that drug service within the zone of the operations of the company had been greatly improved. He stated that it was gratifying to know that in the eyes of the public, the druggist who could supply the necessities of the community was considered the leading and most dependable druggist in his community.

While the stockholders were holding their business meeting, the ladies of the party were taken to various points of interest by the ladies' committee. In the evening the entire party attended the colonial theatre, and witnessed the performance of "The Red Widow," in which Raymond Hitchcock was the star, supported by a very fine cast. It was necessary for the United Drug company to secure the largest theatre in the city in order to accommodate the entire party, the general public not being admitted. Between the acts the ladies were presented with boxes of Liggett's chocolates.

On Wednesday the stockholders held a meeting in the morning. At 12:15 the entire party took special cars for a trip to the Lynnhway Club, Revere Beach. This is one of the largest club-houses in the country, and had been reserved for the exclusive use of the stockholders. After a delightful lunch, a special performance of an old-fashioned one-act circus was given, which was followed by a splendid programme of very unique and entertaining outdoor sports. In the evening a genuine New England shore dinner was served, after which there was dancing, the music being furnished by two orchestras. This affair presented delightful carnival features, enhanced by the unique costumes of the participants, all making a most attractive sight.

On Thursday, the last day of the session, a most interesting meeting was held under the auspices of the "Rehall" club, at which there was a general interchange of experiences and accomplishments.

The affair of the week was brought to a close in the evening by a banquet held in the great hall of the Arena. It proved to be one of the most brilliant affairs ever held here.

George W. Mahood, proprietor of the local "Rehall" store, was among the delegates. He has just returned and speaks in praise of the splendid meeting and the entertainment given them.

Queen's rugby team will go to Ottawa next Saturday to play against Father Stanton's garnet and grey fourteen. Rugby Notes.

Among the spectators at the Queen's-Varsity rugby game on Saturday afternoon were two celebrated coaches—H. Griffiths, of St. Catharines, formerly of Varsity, and "Chance" Elliott, ex-captain of Queen's. Both saw very marked faults in the work of each team.

Lieut. Frederick Carson, captain of the Royal Military College team, in his championship days, has put the present team in fine shape. His far-looker in Kingston, came at an opportune time for the cadets, who appreciate his fine coaching.
