THE SPORT REVIEW

DRS. PATTERSON AND KEARNS MAY BE OFFICIALS

At the Queen's Game in Ottawa—Both Teams Are to March in the Duke of Connaught's Procession.

An Ottawa special to the Whig says: Dr. R. K. Patterson, and Dr. D. Kearns, former Queen's students, now practicing in Ottawa, will probably act as officials in Saturday's match between Ottawa College and Queen's teams at Varsity oval. Rev. Father Stanton, coach of the local collegians told the Whig that they had suggested as officials Dr. Patterson, Dr. Kearns, Dr. Nagle and Dr. Quinn. Either of the four would be acceptable to Ottawa College. A reply from the Queen's club is expected this afternoon. In any event there will be no difficulty.

In order that those intending to witness the game may also part in the reception to His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught and that the players may participate in the procession it has been decided not to start the Queen's College game until 3.30 o'clock. The opposing teams, together with the rival rooters' clubs will go down to the Union depot to welcome the governor-general and will remain in the procession until Parliament Hill is reached, after which they will drop out and proceed to Varsity oval. Dr. Chabot M.P., has consented to officiate at the kick-off.

Capt. Leckie, of the Queen's team, wired yesterday for 100 seats, explaining that a big crowd of backers would come down to cheer for the Limestone City.

Hunt Playing Rugby. "Bert" Hunt, of hockey fame, is breaking into rugby, and may make his appearance on Queen's first team in another week. He was worked out for a short time Wednesday afternoon at quarter, but may be placed on the back division. His great dodging, which gave him a name in hockey, should prove useful to him now.

LATE MISS JENNIE MULLIGAN.

Formerly a Nurse in Rockwood Hospital.

A sad death occurred at the home of William Mulligan, Albert street, when his eldest daughter, Jennie Malonor, passed peacefully away at 2.30 o'clock Thursday morning. Deceased had been ailing for some months. She was a very bright and clever girl and will be greatly missed by young and old. In religion she was an Anglican, and a member of St. James church. She had been a nurse in Rockwood hospital and after that in the State Institution, at Ogdensburg, N.Y. Deceased leaves to mourn her loss her father and mother, three brothers, Thomas, of this city, William, of Moose Jaw, Sask., and Archibald, and one sister, May, at home.

Mark Hambourg. A good impression of Mr. Hambourg's playing was published a little while ago by one of the best critics in Europe, who said: "Of the different kinds of pianists, we have in Mark Hambourg a very happy blending of the emotional and the intellectual types,—the former predominating in a sufficient degree to impart to his playing an atmosphere which glows with warmth and vitality. He is a rich, brilliant, fascinating and successfully astutious performer; he is magnetic; he carries you off your feet, and can make you cry or laugh, and compels you whether you will or not. He is a magician who paints tonectures of marvellous beauty, and he interprets as we have heard no one before his. His lightning-like speed, his accuracy of his execution, his conceptions, at times dignified and grand, at times subtle and suggestive, his marvellous tone, his wonderful use of the pedal, his abandon and finesse, and above all, the poetic feeling he displayed, drove the audience rapt with wonder and delight." Mr. Hambourg plays at the City hall, October 18th. Plan at Uglow's.

STOLEN WHEEL RECOVERED.

Sneak Thief Purloined Wheel and Then Discarded It. "How a Doctor's Bicycle Was Stolen and Recovered," is the title of this little sketch. Dr. Robert Hanley is the owner of a Cleveland wheel. Between eight and nine o'clock on Wednesday night, some sneak thief purloined the wheel, which was left in front of the doctor's office, on Wellington street, and after riding out to West street, left it in front of the home of R. D. Sutherland. It so happened that Mr. Sutherland had sent his bicycle to the repair shop, and was expecting it back. He noticed that it was not his wheel, but was under the impression that a mistake had been made, and that he had been sent the wrong wheel. He kept the wheel over night, however, deciding to clear the case up in the morning. At the same time, Dr. Hanley was investigating. When he could not find his wheel, he reported to the police, and all the constables were told to keep an eye out for it. In the forenoon, Dr. Hanley was going into Thorndal's barber shop, when he happened to see his friend, R. D. Sutherland, ride up to the barber shop on his (Dr. Hanley's) wheel. Sherlock Holmes was not in it for a minute with the doctor, and the way he handled his case. In less time than it takes to tell the story, an explanation followed between the two parties. Dr. Hanley took possession of the wheel, and the two had a great laugh over the incident. Later, Mr. Sutherland got his own wheel. Dr. Hanley thought for sure it was a case of "good-bye" to his own wheel. During the past few weeks, no less than four doctors have been robbed of their wheels.

HE WANTED MONEY.

Midnight Prowler Held up a Young Fellow a Few Nights Ago. Vincent Oldin, night telegraph operator at the C. P. R. offices, had an experience a few nights ago which he will not soon forget, and as a reminder he carried a black eye for a few days. He was going along Sydenham street about midnight on his way home from work when he noticed a man approaching. He side-stepped to allow the pedestrian to pass, but the man stepped in front of him. He stopped and said he wanted money, to which Oldin replied that he did not carry any. Oldin ducked to get past him, and ran around a tree, but the man clinched with him. He hit "Vinnie" over the eye, but in return got one that made him release his hold long enough to give Oldin a running start.

MARKET BY-LAW VIOLATED.

Several Complaints Have Been Made by Citizens. That one of the market by-laws, is being broken almost every market day is the complaint of several citizens, and there promises to be trouble for certain parties. It is alleged that certain dealers have been violating the by-law, regarding the purchasing of goods on the market before ten o'clock in the morning. Citizens say that as a result they have to suffer. If a farmer can sell several dozen eggs to the one party, naturally, he will dispose of them to that party, and then when a citizen comes along to get half a dozen, or two dozen, as the case may be, he has to do without.

ST. LUKE'S LADIES' SALE.

At Mrs. J. W. Connor's on Wednesday Afternoon. The ladies in connection with St. Luke's Church held a fine tea and sale from three to six o'clock on Wednesday afternoon at the home of J. W. Connor, Princess street. The proceeds of the sale amounted to twenty-one dollars, and the ladies who worked so hard to make it a success, feel repaid for the labor expended. Mrs. W. J. Saunders and Mrs. Forsberg poured tea, and Miss Nellie Scrivens, Miss Gladys Caldwell and Miss Wilson served. A home-made table and a flower table were well patronized. Miss Compton was in charge of the musical programme.

CHILD SWALLOWED A PIN.

Little Catherine Keenan Had a Mishap. About nine o'clock on Wednesday night Little Catherine Keenan, daughter of Thomas Keenan, Barrie street, swallowed a pin, by accident, and while she did not suffer any as a result of the mishap she gave her parents quite a scare. The child, as it appears, was in bed at the time, when she asked to have her little dolly in bed as well. Her sister was in the room at the time and while Catherine had the pin in her mouth the two got laughing, with the result that she swallowed the pin. Luckily the pin did not penetrate her throat, and she did not suffer. A doctor was summoned and attended her. No serious results are expected. Mr. and Mrs. James Cronan, of Winchester, were driving into Smith's Falls, on Monday, when their horse took fright at a piece of paper on the street and ran away, throwing them out, they were unhurt, but the horse had to be shot.

THE HALLS OF QUEEN'S

THE MEDICAL FRESHMEN ARE ARE NOW BREATHING EASY.

After Their Trials and Tribulations of Wednesday—The Queen's Rugby Team May Yet be a Winner.

The medical rush for 1911 is now a thing of the past. The recent arrivals from that district called "rural" were on Wednesday afternoon subjected to a most humiliating and extensive series of paintings, together with several situations which to the unfortunate freshman must have proved at least embarrassing, but to the many spectators who thronged the city thoroughfares upon which the young hospital was paraded, they were even more provoking much merriment was given opportunity to display anything and everything in the form of superfluous apparel; they were then obliged to run the animated and enthusiastic gauntlet that awaited them at the college entrance. The strife was not long. The optimistic forces of youth and energy were early obliged to submit to the overwhelming odds of a superior knowledge.

The youthful knowledge-seekers, on being let loose from their one o'clock class were given opportunity to discard anything and everything in the form of superfluous apparel; they were then obliged to run the animated and enthusiastic gauntlet that awaited them at the college entrance. The strife was not long. The optimistic forces of youth and energy were early obliged to submit to the overwhelming odds of a superior knowledge.

For those who are of the impression that Queen's rugby football of 1911 will not prove an organization to be taken seriously, there is in store a surprise of goodly proportions. Football teams are not made in a day. Russell Britton has wrought a revolution in gridiron tactics at the local university. Modern thought has discarded the old Presbyterian doctrine of kick-and-run, the style of play the Queen's men have restored to for several seasons. A policy and style of play which is to-day without a quota of powerful punters on the back division spells only failure.

Last evening the players had a splendid work-out on the lower campus. In all departments of the game, the men are developing at a rapid rate, and when they meet Varsity in Toronto later on they will be a combination different to that which opposed the wearers of the blue and white on Saturday last.

Capt. Leckie, who all fall, has been handicapped by injuries sustained in the theft of bases from the back lots of the Ambitious City, is fast returning to fine form and it is predicted that before the season closes he will wear even higher honors than those which he so well merited in 1910.
