THE "MOVE-ON" CRUSADE. Citizens Generally Are Pleased With It. Citizens generally, are well pleased with the "move on" crusade, started by the police, and the warning of the magistrate that all guilty parties will be fined.

It is certainly a good thing to the some of those loafers who persist in blocking up the street, remarked a citizen to the Whig, today, and in making this statement, he was at the same time voicing the opinion of many other citizens. From now on it will be a case of "move on," and for the person who does not move there will be trouble.

While this crusade is on, the Portsmouth philosopher, who always has the best interests of the city at heart, suggests, on Saturday nights, when the streets are so crowded, that baby carriages be left at home.

DAY FOR SUPERSTITIOUS. It Was Friday and Also 13th of the Month. Friday was a day entirely for the superstitious, as it was not only Friday, but also the 13th day of the month, a coincidence that made all in the superstitious class walk warily. Such a combination was almost enough to make the superstitious stay at home for the day.

This coincidence of the 13th day of the month, falling on a Friday, is somewhat rare, although this year it occurs on two separate occasions, the first having been in January.

Hambourg and His Little Girl. Mr. Hambourg's little daughter, Sonia, who, let it be said, rules her father with a rod of iron, has very decided views of her own about things in general. The other day she was staying at a seaside place with her nurse, when a serious railway strike broke out, and the village where they were was threatened with famine from want of supplies.

"Well, Sonia," said the nurse, "what shall we do if we cannot get anything to eat at all?" "Oh, that don't matter," replied the child, cheerfully, "father will come and place a penny and there will be lots of bread and butter."

She had been constantly told by her nurse, as a joke, that when her father went away to play he was getting bread and butter for her.

Burned $400 in Bills. When Newton Allen, postmaster, of Marlbank, was away during the afternoon and evening of Monday, one of the family took a roll of money, $400, and stuck it in the waste paper basket for safe keeping, believing that if burglars should nose around they would never think of looking there. Mr. Allen arrived home during the night. He was up bright and early, however, and cleaning up about the office, he dumped the contents of the waste paper basket into the stove and touched a match. The result was that $400 in good bills went up in smoke.

Heavy Theatrical Men. Three weighty and jolly theatrical men visited the Whig office on Saturday, and it was found that their total weight was 277 pounds. D. P. Brantigan, local manager of the Grand, was the lightest of the trio, tipping the scales at 235 pounds. F. M. Norcross, representing "The Imperial Russian Ballet," tipped the beam at 267, while W. D. Reed, of "The Private Secretary" company, won the honors with 275 pounds to his credit.
