THE SURRENDER IN CHINA

The surrender of the Manchu government in China, has been most abject. The edict which is said to have been signed by the emperor, (an infant), and really the handiwork of the viceroy, Chang Ming-Teh, is the most pitiful document that has ever been issued under royal auspices.

The reign of the emperor has only been one of three years, but they have been years of distrust and disloyalty. He was young and inexperienced. He was not advised by men who had only the welfare of the state before them. These men, indeed, abused the confidence that was reposed in them. They became embezzlers. They robbed the nation they undertook to serve, and, of course, in order to advance their personal ends, deceived the emperor as well as the people. "The result," says the edict, "is that much of the people's money has been taken, but nothing to benefit the people has been achieved."

There is no telling how long this thing would have continued, but for three things: (1) The rebellion became very menacing; (2) the government

NEW LIBERAL LEADER.

No man could be given greater honour than that which was on Tuesday evening tendered to Mr. Rowell, the new leader of the opposition in Ontario. The circumstances under which Mr. Mackay retired were pathetic. An attack had been made upon his character, and in a way which he could not meet and dispose of for the time being. He was served with a writ—not through any lawyer, for the legal profession seem to have repudiated the attempt to do wanton injury to a public man—and could not have the issue tried for at least three months. Meanwhile, the election would be on and over, and Mr. Mackay and the party would have suffered very serious injury. It was mainly of Mr. Mackay to retire and await the vindication that will eventually be his. He does so with the regrets and regards of all who knew him.

The contingency has led to a surprise in the political world, since it has brought into the limelight a man who is destined to make his mark. Mr. Rowell is not only a stalwart in the liberal party, but a leading light in every walk of life which has been his. In the twenty years he has been practising law he has risen to the top of his profession, and one can imagine the sacrifices which he has made in assuming to lead the liberal party. He cannot be expected to carry a party to success in a couple of months, but he will, contrary to the premier's expectation, make a

JUSTICE AND JUSTICE ONLY.

The more one studies the verdict in the McRae case, and the sentence imposed by Judge Sutherland, the more he will be satisfied of its justice and fitness. The conviction was based upon the evidence with regard to the shooting, and upon nothing else. The jurymen, Roman Catholics and Protestants, put out of their consideration wholly the distressing statements which concerned the domestic life of an unhappy pair.

They saw that there were irritating circumstances in connection with the shooting, that Dr. Magee and his friends visited the McRae homestead in search of the little daughter, and that they were prepared to do more than commit a trespass if necessary. But all this and more they waived to one side, and only dwelt upon the facts of the shooting and eventually rendered a unanimous verdict of manslaughter. The judge did the rest.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

With temperance as the issue in the local elections, and so many local option contests in the municipalities, the unexpected may happen.

The bar must go. That is the slogan of the temperance people all over the province, and they have a power, full swing in this municipal election.

The maritime provinces do not want a reduction in their representation on any account. How can it be avoided without a change in the constitution
