

FIND FORTUNE IN LONG KEPT PAPERS

Widow of San Francisco Man May Recover $800,000 From Mexican Bonds.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 7.—A petition filed in the probate department of the superior court for the reopening of the estate of Charles P. Janson, disclosed the fact that a collection of old papers which have been at the bottom of a trunk thirty-two years, represent a value of $800,000. The papers consist of Mexican government bonds and securities, and a legal examination is said to have shown that they constitute a valid claim against the Mexican government for full value, with interest.

Janson died in San Francisco, February 2, 1879. His widow, Mrs. Theresa Louise Janson, believed the papers worthless, and left the trunk unopened for years.

Mrs. Janson, in conversation with a friend, recently mentioned the papers, and the friend asked to see them, expressing the opinion that they were valuable.

Janson was in the service of the Mexican government forty-five years ago. The first of the bonds was executed in his favor in 1865. During the next seven years large blocks of bonds were given to him, some of them war issues.

HIGH CLASS CLUB FOR TRAVELLERS.

It Will be Open to New York Men of Social Eminence.

London, Nov. 7.—London's latest club is that which bears the name of the United Travellers' Club, situated in a magnificent building in Piccadilly, overlooking the Green Park, with the top of Buckingham Palace peeping over the trees in the distance.

It has been formed to meet the wants of the man of travel, and has an influential committee, with Lord Garnock as chairman, Sir William Stewart Dick-Cunyngham, vice chairman, and Sir Arthur Lushington, the Hon. Conynghame A. Denison, the Hon. R. D. Velezton, Mr. G. Cecil Whitaker and Captain the Hon. R. L. Pomeroy, members. The membership will be limited to one thousand, and though the club was opened only last week the list is growing rapidly.

The idea of the promoters has been to establish a club not only for the man of high social standing in London, but for the eminent traveller from America and the continent who desires the comforts of a club when stopping in the metropolis. The membership will be of an exclusive character, and foreign members will require the recommendation of membership of the best clubs in the big capitals of America and Europe.

Members of the Metropolitan, Union, Knickerbocker, Manhattan and Calumet of New York, for instance, are the men to whom the United Travellers' Club will be open. Temporary memberships are in operation, and the club has been furnished and appointed on a lavish scale and with artistic effect.

Simple Home Remedy For Wrinkled Faces

(From Popular Monthly.)

Thousands of women are spending fortunes in their frantic efforts to remove the signs of premature age from their faces. When in this state of mind a woman will spend almost any amount of money on worthless wrinkle removers of which there are many.

If these women only knew it, the most effective remedy imaginable as a simple, harmless face wash which can be made up at home in less than a minute. They have only to get a ounce of powdered axolite and half a pint of witch hazel at the drug store and mix the two. Apply this daily as a refreshing lotion. The effect is almost magical. Even after the first treatment a marked improvement is noticed and the face has a snug, firm feeling that is most pleasing.

A GRAVE WARNING.

To be Fat—Avoid the Walnut. For It is a Producer.

Our fat brethren ought to avoid walnuts and wine, for the London Lancet contains a grave warning by about them.

"The percentage of food in walnuts," it says, "is very high; they are very rich in fat, containing as much as sixty-three per cent., while the protein amount is only sixteen per cent. It has been calculated that thirty large walnut kernels contain as much fat as two and three-quarter pounds of lean beef, and yet the walnut is used as a supplement to a square meal."

"Added to this, the glass of port, say two fluid ounces, contains, besides 150 grains of alcohol, 70 grains of grape sugar. In the combination, therefore, we have all the elements which make for a complete diet—viz., fat, protein, carbohydrate, to which may be added mineral salts. Port and walnuts after a meal are, therefore, form a nutritive point of view, 'ridiculous excess.' The digestive disturbance to which this excess may easily lead is, in fact, the price paid for aesthetic indulgence."

WOULDN'T PAY FOR SEAT.

Stranger Resented Customary Charge of Five Cents.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—There was a sensation in St. Eusebe Roman Catholic church at early-mass, the custom is for the bundle to charge five cents for a seat, and as each sits down he goes and collects. Sunday a man sat down and was asked by the bundle for payment for his seat. The man shouted: "Ask your cure if he has seen the order of the pope that seats are to be free."

At high mass afterwards the cure spoke of the incident, saying that he had never had from his bishop any communication against charging for seats, as was done in all parishes. Moreover the edict to which the man evidently referred was addressed to the American churches, and was against taking a fee at the doors.

OIL BURNERS ON THE LAKES

Steamboats Will Shortly Be Thing of the Past on Great Lakes

Welland, Ont., Nov. 7.—A revolution in the motive power of the boats on the great lakes is at hand, according to the chief engineer of the American Shipbuilding company, who was here yesterday. "The steamboat will soon have disappeared from the great lakes and its place taken by the oilburners," was his somewhat surprising statement.

He came here to see the Toiler, an oilburning vessel from Newcastle. He made the statement that fifteen oilburners would be found on the great lakes next year.

PEEPING TOM.

Charge Made Against Bookie T. Washington.

New York, Nov. 7.—Bookie T. Washington, appeared in court as the principal witness against Harry A. Ulrich, the white man who gave the famous negro educator a beating one night last March, when he found him in the vestibule of an apartment where Ulrich roomed on West 63rd street.

The nature of Ulrich's defence was foreshadowed by his previous assertions, that he found Dr. Washington peeping through a keyhole of a door on the ground floor, and that a woman with whom he (Ulrich) roomed, told him she had been annoyed by the colored man while passing through the corridor. He had spoken very familiarly with her. The action was dismissed.

Miss Eleanor Critchley, Formerly of Kingston, the Bride.

The marriage took place, on Monday evening, Oct. 30th, at eight o'clock, at St. James' church, Madison avenue and Seventy-Third street, New York, of Miss Eleanor Critchley, youngest daughter of John Critchley, J.P., and Mrs. Critchley, of Montclair, Ontario, and granddaughter of the late Charles Critchley, of "Battley Hall," Leeds, Yorkshire, Eng., to George W. Fennell, of New York, eldest son of Mrs. Fennell and the late George Fennell, 121 West One Hundred and Twenty-First street, Rev. Dr. J. H. Remondy, of St. James church, performed the ceremony. The church was beautifully decorated with white and pink chrysanthemums and palms.

The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law, J. Charles Smith, B.A., of Wingham, Ont., looked very pretty in her lovely gown of white satin with rose point and pearl trimming and court train edged with marabout. She wore a coronet bridal veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a diamond necklace, the gift of the groom. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. J. Charles Smith, who was matron of honor. She wore a beautiful empire gown of pale pink silk with silver trimmings, and pink and white headed things, and large black and white picture hat with plumes and carried a large sheaf of pale pink chrysanthemums.

The bridegroom's brother, R. W. Fennell, was best man. The ushers were: Edward N. Fennell, brother of the groom; George Hummel, Frederick B. Kafka and Capt. Nicholas Engel.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bridegroom's mother, which was beautifully decorated with white and pink chrysanthemums, palms and shaded lights. Mrs. Fennell, who looked very lovely in black and wore a corsage bouquet of mauve orchids, and Mrs. Smith, received. Miss Kennell and Miss Bertha Fennell, sisters of the bridegroom, looked very charming, the former wearing white chiffon over pink satin, with osprey to match in her hair, and carrying violets, and the latter wearing white chiffon over rose pink satin, with gold lace cap, and carrying violets. Mrs. Edward Conklin wore a black gown trimmed with jetted tulle and carried violets, and Mrs. Edward N. Fennell a very becoming gown of black chiffon velvet and carried pale pink orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Fennell sailed on the Kaiser Wilhelm II for a trip through Europe, the bride travelling in a blue tailor-made with blue chiffon blouse and hat to match. Upon their return they will take apartments at Graham Court, Seventh avenue and One Hundred and Sixteenth street, New York.

FAVOR HOTEL BY-LAW.

A Sure Proposition Never Presented to the People.

D. A. Cays, the local real estate agent, is enthusiastic over the new summer hotel. He says it is Kingston's opportunity, one which we cannot afford to miss. Oswego, N.Y., he says, was in exactly the same position as Kingston, and it now has an up-to-date house nearly erected. And are Oswego's natural advantages to draw tourists to be compared to ours? A sure proposition, financially never came before the Kingston ratepayers.

When being interviewed on the subject, one ratepayer said that last summer he spent a Sunday at the Quinte in Belleville. On that day, he said, that house gave dinner to twenty automobile touring parties. That is only one instance of what Kingston is missing, for these people would far rather stay in Kingston than in Belleville.

"All classes of citizens realize the need of the proposed hotel. Let us get it erected first, and there is no doubt it can be run. I am heartily in favor of the Board of Trade's proposition, and will do all in my power to pass it on the 16th inst." This is the stand A. Roney takes.

A BIGGER AND BETTER.

A Former Kingstonian Writes to the Press.

J. J. Crowley, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Crowley, corner of Johnson and Alfred streets, who conducts a high-class millinery establishment at 672 Main street, Buffalo, N.Y., publishes a letter in the News of that city commending the paper for its masterly handling of the various phases of civic life. He regards the paper as being-minded in its advocacy of all matters for a bigger and better Buffalo and its strong stand in seeking to have candidates elected who have the public confidence. He looks to the paper and the men whom it supports to advance the issues and needs that will make Buffalo a city of great deeds. Among other things that Mr. Crowley calls for is the extension of the commercial development of the east side; a fine freight and passenger terminal and a harbor second to none on the lakes.

EARLY AND HARD WINTER.

The Portsmouth Philosopher Makes a Few Observations.

The Portsmouth Philosopher has assumed a new role, that of a weather prophet, and many people are inclined to take him seriously this time, though he has been noted for springing jokes on his friends. He says from observations he has made that he will have an early winter and a hard one. He bases his prophecy on the fact that we had snow earlier this fall than in thirty-five years, and an early snowfall is the forerunner of an early and severe winter. He has kept the dates on which snow has fallen for the past thirty-five years, and on no occasion has it fallen so early as this fall. Another indication of this fact is that there are large quantities of nuts this fall for rodents.

St. Agathe, Que., will in winter hold an international ski tournament.
