A THREE WEEKS' TOUR

TO BE MADE BY LIBERAL LEADER ROWELL.

Who Will be Accompanied by Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King—Some of the Places to be Visited

Toronto, Nov. 16.—The spirit of enthusiasm which is dominating the Liberal party in the province of Ontario, will shortly find its expression in a campaign tour, now being arranged for N. W. Rowell, K. C., the new leader. Immediately following the Toronto demonstration, on Tuesday, November 14th, Mr. Rowell will hold a series of meetings in different parts of the province. The precise dates will be announced later. He will spend three weeks out of the city, speaking daily from Monday till Friday. Some fifteen or eighteen meetings will be held. The following places will likely be included in Mr. Rowell's itinerary: Guelph, Lindsay, Bowmanville, Ottawa, Alexandria or Stormont, Sudbury, North Bay or Sturgeon Falls, Owen Sound, London, Hamilton, Chatham, Woodstock, Stratford, St. Thomas, Napanee, Brantford and Pelham. Mr. Rowell plans to divide his time almost evenly between the different sections. Five or six meetings will be held east of Toronto, three in the north, and the others will be distributed between the central and southern parts of the province.

Mr. Rowell's party will consist of Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Mr. Charles M. Bowman, M.P.P., chief liberal whip in the legislature, and Mr. D. S. McDougall, M.P.P.

STUDENTS PLAYED SOCCER.

Sydenham Team Defeated Owen Sounders of Queen's.

On Thursday afternoon the student representatives of Owen Sound Collegiate Institute and Sydenham High School met on Queen's athletic field for a friendly game of soccer.

In the first half the play was mostly in high school territory, but in the second half the Sydenham boys came back strong and succeeded in scoring three goals. The Owen Sound men made several strong individual rushes which were intercepted successfully by Sydenham's swift back line and the score ended 3 to 0, in favor of Sydenham.

The brand of ball played showed that there is much good material out in the Queen's senior team, and further games of this kind would do much to develop a much stronger representation in soccer at Queen's.

Owen Sound—Goal, Gilchrist; backs, McKenzie and Wilkinson; halves, McInnes, McDonald, Buchanan; forwards, Baker, Garvie, Matheson, McIntosh, and McLeod.

Sydenham—Goal, B. Riedly; backs, Stenson and Flakelake; halves, Anjou, Darling, O'Connor, Forwards, W. Shales, W. E. Shales, M. Guthrie, G. Chown, J. M. Shales.

VERDICT FOR WORKMAN

IN HIS CASE AGAINST MONTREAL WESLEYAN COLLEGE.

Justice Weir Awards Him $3,700—College Governors Had No Power to Dismiss Him.

Montreal, Nov. 16.—Higher criticism and its exponents in the Methodist church of Canada secured a notable legal victory this morning when Justice Weir delivered judgment completely sustaining the suit of Rev. Dr. George Workman for wrongful dismissal from a professorship in Wesleyan Theological College, and for libel, and gave Dr. Workman damages of $3,700 against the governors of the college.

Justice Weir said the dismissal of Dr. Workman was illegal, prejudiced, unjust and unfair, and the governors of the college being subordinate to the Methodist general conference didn't have the power to decide what constituted heresy or heretical opinions. It is likely that the case will be appealed.

DYNAMITE TRIAL PROSPECTS.

McNamara Jury May Not be Completed This Week.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 16.—With Professor C. Rosslyn, a millionaire oil operator, named for cause by both sides, and the state about ready to accept J. B. Sexton, a very wealthy orange grower, who had previously been passed by the defence, the prospects were good when the McNamara case was continued, today, that the nine seats still vacant would be filled within the week and second "exorcising" of preemptory challenges would be begun. The defence still has fifteen preemptory challenges and the state eight.

Keenon is almost certain to remain permanently. He is an educated man, a former member of the Senate, and is said to be impartial. He told Harrow he had no great opinion of Gen. Otis, nor was he impressed with his worth as a citizen, and he told the state his prejudice against Otis would not make him biased against the state's case.

Sexton is also a very prominent citizen, but the state is a trifle afraid of him, because he says he would not convict on circumstantial evidence unless it were absolute.

The case has settled into a routine and is expected to be monotonous until the box is again filled. Attorney Harrow and his associates are preparing affidavits for a change of judges but are not expected to submit them to the court before the middle of next week.

CREDIT TO WIVES

CANNOT BE GIVEN

By Merchants When Husband Makes Her Allowance for Necessaries

Says Judge.

St. Thomas, Ont., Nov. 16.—A decision of considerable interest was given at the division court in the case of Mehan & Regan vs. Walker. This was an action brought by Mehan & Regan for goods sold to the wife of the defendant at the time. The defendant had given notice some time before that he would not be responsible for goods sold to any one on his credit. At the trial it was shown that the defendant had given his wife a cheque for his wife each month, and that the amount drawn by him was more than sufficient to provide necessaries for the family.

Judge Ermatow, in dismissing the action, held that the wife had no absolute right to pledge her husband's credit for necessaries, and that where necessaries were supplied to the wife the presumption of debt ought to be rebutted by showing that the wife had been supplied with necessaries to meet the needs of the family.

The judge also held that although notice had been given in this case which had come to the attention of one of the members of the plaintiff's firm, that it is not necessary in order that the defendant might avail himself of the defence to show that any notice had been given. Merchants who supply goods to the wife without direct authority of the husband take the chance of having him dispute their account when payment is demanded.

PHOTOGRAPH TO PLAY

A BIG PART IN RICHESON MURDER TRIAL.

The Police Will Present a Complete Story of the Courtship of the Accused Pastor and Miss Linnell.

Boston, Nov. 16.—The police are completing the evidence they will present at the trial of Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, on the charge of causing Miss Avis Linnell's death by poison. Their search is in line with their purpose to place before the jury a complete story of the acquaintance and courtship of Richeson and the young music student.

One of the chief exhibits at the trial will be a photograph that the police have in their possession. It is the picture of the accused clergyman and was highly prized by Miss Linnell.

The police got the photograph from the room in the Boston Young Women's Christian Association building, occupied by Miss Linnell when she met her death. The girl had it in a small frame and it shows Richeson standing on a seashore with a lighthouse in the background.

An announcement of the engagement of Miss Linnell to Richeson, written by one of her girl friends, found at Hyannis, is another of the exhibits that the police will place in the case when it comes to trial. Up to the present the police have not found that Miss Linnell had any other admirer or kept company with any other man than Richeson. Residents of Hyannis who knew her well declare that she never was attended by any other man.

MUST ATTEND SCHOOL.

A Truancy Case Heard by the Magistrate.

Boys who play "hooky" from school will always be in trouble, likewise their parents. At a session of the juvenile court, Friday morning, a case was heard, in which the father of the lad was accused of neglecting to send him to school. After taking evidence in the case, the magistrate enlisted the case for a week in order to give the parents a chance to send the boy to school.

All truancy cases are being closely watched, and it is a very difficult matter for a boy to play the old truancy game, without being caught.

SLEW WIFE AND ACTOR

HUSBAND OF THE WOMAN IS SOUGHT BY POLICE.

J. K. Beatty Shot to Death at Fort Worth, Texas, When Walking With Mrs. Carl Robinson.

Fort Worth, Texas, Nov. 16.—Half an hour after he had fallen to the stage of a vaudeville theatre, "killed" by his rival in a sketch with which he was travelling around the country, J. K. Beatty, an actor, was shot to death, Wednesday night in the outskirts of the city while walking with Mrs. Carl Robinson, and a second later the man was slain. The police are seeking Carl Robinson, husband of the woman, from whom she separated several weeks ago.

Beatty's sketch was a dramatic one and had attracted great attention here, being booked for an additional week because of the comments of persons who had witnessed it and urged their friends to attend. Soon after coming here, Beatty met Mrs. Robinson, who had expressed her admiration for his acting. They were seen together several times after the performance.

According to witnesses after the shooting the couple were walking slowly along a parkway, near the city limits, when a man rushed up from behind and opened fire. Beatty fell with a bullet wound in his right side. Then the assailant turned the weapon on the woman, firing two shots in to her heart. She fell dead across the body of the actor. Robinson was seen running from the scene of the shooting, but has eluded the police.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

An English Opinion of an American Comedy.

The London Standard says: "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" was certainly a surprise, pathetic and dramatic incidents follow, unfolding the story, while May Robson as the New England spinster, dominates and holds the humor; occasionally little bits of pathos creep in here and there as a relief from excessive laughter. Perhaps the picture of an eccentric old woman enjoying for the first time a sumptuous dinner in a first-class hotel is funny, but the mistakes are pathetic and Miss Robson develops and holds interest as the play progresses. At Terry's theatre last night, there was almost a continuous ripple of laughter, and yet at the moment "Aunt Mary" became serious, she compelled absolute silence. Miss Robson is certainly a clever woman, and her sense of comedy is enormous, and being supported by a clever company of English actors, all London should see this very funny play, under the fun-producing, May Robson."

Miss Robson comes to the Grand for two nights, presenting "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," on Tuesday, Nov. 14th, and her new comedy, "A Night Out," on Wednesday, Nov. 15th.

TERRIBLE INJURIES

SUSTAINED BY YOUTH

Caught in Shafting--Patches of Flesh All Over Body

Dug Out.

London, Ont., Nov. 16.—William Jarvis, a youth employed in the Wingham foundry, was terribly injured while up-rilling the shafting. His sleeve caught in a set screw and he severed himself from being instantly killed by "bracing himself" against the ceiling. His clothes were ripped off instantly and torn to threads while large patches of flesh all over his body were dug out before the machinery could be stopped. He may recover.

B. ROSEVEAR DEAD.

Was Father of the Well-known Singer.

The death occurred at 297 Queen street, on Friday morning, of Robert Rosevear, in his sixty-seventh year. About eight years ago deceased suffered a paralytic stroke, and for the last few years had been affected with dropsy. Deceased was born in Cornwall, England, and came to this country when a young man, settling in Tweed, Ont. For years deceased kept a butcher shop in Belleville, and on coming to Kingston, fourteen years ago, went into the grocery and butcher business on Earl street. Twenty-nine years ago he married Sophia, daughter of Hiram Smith, Westbrooks. Those left to mourn are his wife and two daughters, Mrs. C. W. Drury, of this city, and Miss Ada, at home. Deceased also leaves a brother and sister, William Rosevear, Belleville, and Mrs. J. W. Palmer, Camilton, Ont. He was a member of Brock Street Methodist church. What makes the family trouble doubly sad is the fact that Mrs. Rosevear's brother, Dr. S. Smith, Emporium, Penn., is at present lying in a critical condition.

Wheel Still Missing.

No trace whatever has been found of the bicycle stolen from G. A. Bateman on Thursday afternoon. It was taken by a boy, so it was alleged, but so far it has been impossible to locate him and the police have no description to work upon.

McGill Rugby Team Here.

McGill rugbyists arrived in the city Friday afternoon and registered at the Randolph hotel. They were expected to arrive by an earlier train but the mid-afternoon train suited their convenience better.
