

TRAPPED 60 MILES TO SAVE HIS CHUM

Prospector at Larder Lake Got Back with GIN PILLS Just in Time.

LARDER LAKE, ONT., MARCH 26th, 1911.

"I am writing to tell you the good GIN PILLS did me. I had been suffering for some time with my kidneys and urine. I was constantly passing water which was very scanty, sometimes as many as thirty times a day. Each time, the pain was something awful and no rest at night. I began to feel worn out. I heard of your GIN PILLS and decided to give them a trial at once. I sent my chum out to get them (about 60 miles) and I am pleased to inform you that in less than six hours, I felt relief. In two days, the pain had left me altogether. I took about half a box and to-day I feel as well as ever and my kidneys are acting quite natural again. Thanking you for the pills which I always intend to keep by me. Yours respectfully,

SID CASTLEMAN.

We have never received a letter that pleased us more than this one. When we realize what GIN PILLS meant to this sick man, lying on a bed of pain miles away from a doctor in the frozen north, and how they helped him, we feel that our efforts to prepare a standard preparation for kidney and bladder troubles have been crowned with success.

GIN PILLS is a wonderful solvent for uric acid. It instantly neutralizes the hot, scalding urine, allays the burning pain, soothes the irritated bladder and heals the kidneys. Take GIN PILLS on our positive guarantee for the pills which I always intend to keep by me. Yours respectfully,

WELCOME RELIEF.

The Famous Rayo Lamp

The Rayo Lamp is the best and most servicable lamp you can find for any part of your home.

It is in use in millions of families. Its strong white light has made it famous. And it never flickers.

In the dining-room or the parlor the Rayo gives just the light that is most effective. It is a becoming lamp—in itself and to you. Just the lamp, too, for bedroom or library, where a clear, steady light is needed.

The Rayo is made of solid brass, nickel-plated; also in numerous other styles and finishes. Easily lighted without removing shade or chimney; easy to clean and rewick. Ask your dealer to show you his line of Rayo lamps; or write for descriptive circular to any agency of

THE LEAST FUEL, THE MOST SATISFACTION,

When You Burn the Coal See That You Get the Value

It requires no argument to prove that the range you can use every part of, at the same time, is the range that will give you the full return for the fuel you burn. On the

HAPPY THOUGHT

Range you can use the oven and the top of the stove at the same time. While ironing you can have a batch of biscuits in the oven and when baking you can prepare dinner without cooling the oven. This is the only way to keep down fuel bills and the only true range economy. The Patent Damper regulates the heat so that it can be used on any part of the range or on all the range.

Everywhere the Happy Thought, by its many labor-saving devices, is lightening the work of the housekeepers. Its efficiency is the result of the care taken in its construction, and it amply justifies anything said in its favor by those who have used it.

BORN STORY, TELLER

FLAT WAS HAVEN FOR HER FRIENDS.

Myrtle Reed Drew About Her a Fine Company—The New Master of the Vineyard.

Myrtle Reed was not only a good story writer, but a good storyteller, says Jean Blewett, Canadian Courier, speaking of the ill-fated Canadian authoress. A born mimic, dramatic to the core, she was wont to keep her friends so well amused that they forgot all about time flying when they visited "Paradise Flat." She had a fine sense of humor, and a laugh which was contagious. It will be a long while before her own circle forgets her warmth of her greeting, her pleasant raillery, her brightness. It was a spinster who lamented that no man had sought her hand, that Myrtle Reed first said by way of comfort, "Is the average man one of a mushroom; at his best a delicacy; at his worst a poison?"

Those who knew the romance of her marriage to Mr. McCullough, and how much in love with her husband she continued to be to the end of her days, expressed as, "Man, the married kind, are the greatest good-brick artists in the world." She glowed with good nature. Her stories were always being repeated, her jokes retailed. She was a woman big of body and of mind; good hearted to the point of prodigality. Also she had her whims. One of these was to condense all the social life possible into a few passing months, teas, suppers, theatre-parties, unique entertainments thought up by herself and sprung upon her friends, then, of a sudden, to retire from her world—a big busy world it was—and write a book.

Not only did she keep religiously to the quiet of her home, but to her own room. Lying in bed she penned the romances which made her beloved by an army of readers. "I'm a shut-in," she explained by note to one half-shocked, wholly angry friend "I had been refused admittance, 'the greatest shut-in you ever saw. From friend and neighbor, from laughter and love, from the cuddling of little folks, from music, especially the sobbing breath of song, from art, from all things dear and familiar I am a shut-in. Why? That my creative faculty (if I have any) may have the chance to work. I am the woman ruminant—half fearful, wholly wrapped up, with the brain child I am to be."

The production of a book would be heralded to the circle by announcement cards of her own designing. Thus upon one the picture of a baby all dimples and rings of fat and the announcement, "Born to Myrtle Reed on" (date given) "A Spinner in the Sun."

And another: "Myrtle Reed announces the arrival at Paradise Flat of a lusty male infant who is already the Master of the Vineyard." And of a favorite book of hers: "I have due up some Lavender and Old Lace" which I hope will please you. Help yourself to it." She was only thirty-seven when she died. Her "Love Affairs of Literary Men" is perhaps the strongest work of her prolific pen.

Modernizing Province of Quebec.

Events, which have lately transpired, seem to indicate that there is a plot on foot to modernize the Province of Quebec. For instance, just this fall, 1910, Quebec enrolled her first law student, at McGill University Mrs. A. Langstaff takes her seat among the acute young men who until now have monopolized the law course. Mrs. Langstaff, in her legal ambitions, undertakes an unusual role. She is the first woman ever to enter upon the study of law in the regular way in the Province of Quebec.

In Quebec there never has been a woman lawyer. At the Bar of other provinces women have pleaded cases. The Ontario Bar has a rather prominent member in the person of Miss Clara Brett Martin, a lady who has enjoyed political distinction on the Toronto Board of Education.

Mrs. Langstaff is not a Quebecer. She is a native of Prescott, Ont. Five years she has been plugging the law in the Montreal office of Jacobs, Hall & Garneau.

Faddist this courageous lady is not. She is not studying law for her health. But, though not a woman's rights champion, Mrs. Langstaff's legal ambitions may gain her a place upon the scroll of fame; for, after she graduates from McGill, Mrs. Langstaff's first professional problem will be to reverse the ancient legislation in Quebec, which excludes woman from the avenue of the law as a road to a livelihood.

Sydney Active. Sydney, Nova Scotia, is to have a town fair. The other night, a meeting was held in Sydney and an exhibition board elected, of which the mayor is chairman. It is proposed to hold two fairs a year. The co-operation of the Farmers' Association, who hold sway on the north side of Sydney Harbor, will be sought.

There is no way to boost a town like a good, clean exhibition. The fame of Toronto, Winnipeg and Brandon is proof enough of this statement. An exhibition of local industry promotes civic spirit. By bringing country folks and town people together, it contributes directly to fostering Canadian national unity.

Sydney, which is one of the liveliest towns in the Maritime Provinces, is on the right track all right when the city fathers link up with the exhibition idea.—Canadian Courier.

An Independent Mayor. The mayor of St. John, N.B., is an independent gentleman.

Recently there has been urged the need of extra playgrounds for St. John Junior's after school hours.

The other afternoon a Council meeting was held in St. John and the playgrounds question came up. A committee was appointed by the mayor to consider the matter.

Another of the committee refused to acquiesce. The committee held forth to the effect that he saw boys playing ball on the streets, and that there were enough parks in St. John—anyway for mere boys to romp in. He remarked, however, that he was ready to serve.

But the result of this expectation was that the mayor of St. John fired the committee and ordered up another.

HOW THEY APPEAL

Ready Retort Plays a Big Part in the Politician's Equipment.

Among the best-known members of the House of Commons is W. B. Northrup, M.P. of Belleville, who has represented East Hastings at Ottawa for several terms. Always faultlessly attired, one would never think that the votes of farmers, for his constituency is largely rural, extending to the farthest point north in the large County of Hastings with its twenty-four townships. When he rises to address the House, he is off like a race-horse. Verbally he travels at times at the rate of two hundred words a minute or more, and the Hansard men are kept at top speed. It is no easy matter for even these expert stenographic writers to follow the whirlwind debater, who has been dubbed the "General Ben Butler of Canadian lawyers."

Butler was the most famous American attorney in his day for his ready retort, but Mr. Northrup would give him a close contest on the stump or before a jury.

Mr. Northrup was speaking at a recent village in his riding during the recent election campaign, and denouncing reciprocity in unmeasured terms, when a young interrupter at the back of the hall started to hiss. The candidate paid no attention, but, on the succession of sibilant sounds grew renewed with increased vigor, he paused and looked straight at the offender, observed: "Mr. Interrupter, there are three things that hiss—a snake, a goose and a fool. Will you please stand a moment in order that the audience may judge which of the three you are?"

Col. Sam Hughes is also adept in homely images that appeal to the rustic mind. When he enters into the serious discussion of any problem he does not like to be interrupted and was betide the man who is flippant enough to break in with an irrelevant question. Some years ago the gallant soldier was addressing a crowded meeting in Lindsay, when a voice from the gallery was heard. Col. Hughes was condemning the military policy of the Laurier Administration, and the interrupter shouted "Rats."

The speaker took no heed at first, but when the meaning of the term was hurled again, there was a pause—the discussion was weighty and thoughtful. "My friend, I am here this evening loaded for bear and have not time to stop and skin a skunk," shouted the orator, and Lindsay went mad with delight.—Saturday Night.

Cabinet Peculiarities.

Premier R. L. Borden is a golfer. Commenting on this fact, the Ottawa Free Press jokingly remarks that it is to be hoped that Mr. Borden's golf is not as bad as that of Premier Asquith, Mr. Lloyd George, or Mr. A. J. Balfour, whose putting has become the jibe of the English humorous wackies.

Mr. Borden's Ministers, it would appear, are despisers of conventionality in dress. At the solemn ceremony of the opening of the new Governor-General, only six of them wore silk hats and frock coats. They were: Hon. Messrs. Borden, Crothers, Kemp, White, Monk and Foster.

Anglicans predominate in the new Cabinet. Eight Ministers—Hon. Messrs. Roche, Borden, Perley, Rogers, Roche, Borden, White and Loughheed attend the Church of England.

Fourteen members of the Cabinet were born in the fifties—Hon. Mr. Roche, 1850; Hon. Mr. Crothers, 1850; Hon. Mr. Hughes, 1852; Hon. Mr. Coughran, 1852; Hon. Mr. Borden, 1854; Hon. Mr. Loughheed, 1854; Hon. Mr. Doherty, 1855; Hon. Mr. Monk, 1856; Hon. Mr. Perley, 1857; Hon. Mr. Pelletier, 1857; Hon. Mr. Nantel, 1857; Hon. Mr. Burrell, 1858; Hon. Mr. Kemp, 1858; Hon. Dr. Reid, 1859.

The law continues to be the strong profession for developing Cabinet Ministers. Eight of Mr. Borden's Cabinet are lawyers.

There are four reputed millionaires in the Cabinet—they are not of the lawyers.

Canada's Trade Grows.

Canada's trade figures for the first six months of 1911 show a material increase over those for the same period of last year. The totals as given recently by the Department of Trade and Commerce are for the six months ending September, 1911, amounting to $490,470,855, as against $360,277,276 for the 1910 period.

The September trade totalled $69,898,429 as against $64,450,465 for September, 1910. Imports for the six months amounted to $285,406,094, domestic exports $129,606,982, and foreign exports $12,257,779. The 1910 figures were imports $223,465,647, domestic exports $127,526,432, and foreign exports $9,235,137.

THE PROCLAMATION.

How "Arthur" Was Created Governor-General of Canada.

This is the text of the elaborate official proclamation of the Duke of Connaught's appointment as Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada, published in the Canada Gazette, and which is of especial interest to Canadians at this time. It will be noted that the signature is "Arthur," as members of the royal family sign only their Christian names.

CANADA.

By Field Marshal His Royal Highness Prince ARTHUR WILLIAM PATRICK ALBERT, Duke of Connaught and of Strathearn, and Earl of Sussex, in the Peerage of the United Kingdom, Prince of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, Knight of the Most Noble Order of the Garter, Knight of the Most Ancient and Most Noble Order of the Thistle, Knight of the Most Illustrious Order of Saint Patrick, one of His Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, First and Principal, Knight Grand Cross and Great Master of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, Knight Grand Commander of the Most Exalted Order of the Star of India, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, Knight Grand Commander of the Most Eminent Order of the Indian Empire, Knight Grand of the Royal Victorian Order, Personal Aide-de-camp to His Majesty the King; Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief of the Dominion of Canada.

To all whom these presents shall come.—Greeting.

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS His Majesty the King, by Commission under His Royal Manual Sign and Signet bearing date at the Court of St. James's the twenty-first day of March, 1911, has been graciously pleased to appoint me to be, during His Majesty's pleasure, His Majesty's Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief in and over His Dominion of Canada, and has further in and by the said Commission, authorized, empowered, and commanded me to exercise and perform all and singular the powers and directions contained in certain Letters Patent under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom, of Great Britain and Ireland, bearing date at Westminster the fifteenth day of June in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and five constituting the said office of Governor-General, or in any other Letters Patent adding to, amending, or substituting for the same according to such Orders and Instructions as the Governor-General for the time being hath already received, or as have been given to me with the seal of the Commission, or as I shall hereafter receive from His Majesty.

Now therefore Know Ye that I have thought fit to issue this Proclamation in order to make known His Majesty's said appointment, and I do also hereby require and command that all and singular His Majesty's Officers and Ministers in the said Dominion of Canada, do continue in the execution of their several and respective offices, places and employments, and that His Majesty's loving subjects and all others whom it may concern do take notice hereof and govern themselves accordingly.

Given under my Hand and Seal at Arms at Quebec, this THIRTEENTH day of OCTOBER, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eleven, and in the second year of His Majesty's Reign.

ARTHUR.

A Journalistic Jibe.

Hot criticism of Canadians and Canadian civilization has just been handed out by one of the old country journalists now touring the Dominion under the guidance of the Immigration Department.

The critic is Mr. H. H. Baird, hailing from Belfast, Ireland, where he owns seven papers of large circulation.

In his remarks, Mr. Baird evidently wishes to depart from a custom of joy-riding newspapermen who some times are inclined, perhaps, to flatter Canadians with eloquent tributes to the natural scenery of the Dominion.

Mr. Baird hits at what he regards weak spots in ourselves.

One of his sharpest attacks is directed against the Canadian husband, of whose virtues he entertains no very lofty opinion.

A British Columbia paper thus summarizes his sentiments on Canadian married life:

"According to Mr. Baird, who had talked with many housewives on the prairies, they were treated to much more harshness by their husbands in Canada than in England and Ireland. The average Canadian was surly and uncivil, and not inclined to give any information, and when a young Englishman has lived here several years, he easily and rapidly fell into the ways of the Canadian, and treated womenkind and men with the same measure of surliness as his Canadian conferees."

The Beaver.

The beaver is really a sort of portable pulp mill, grinding up almost any kind of wood that comes his way, says a writer. I once measured a white birch tree twenty-two inches through cut down by a beaver. A single beaver generally, if not always, amputates the tree, and when it comes down the whole lot is to be had in a regular, lar friole with the bark and branches. A big beaver will bring down a fair-sized sapling—say three inches through—in about two minutes and a large tree in about an hour.

Enterprising Climbers.

A.L. Munton, mountain climber, and his companion, Dr. N. Colby, have been at it again. Mount Robson, in the Rocky Mountains, was this time the scene of their upward plodding.

Their field glasses revealed some extraordinary features. They encountered two of the largest glaciers ever seen in the Rockies, one of which was fifty miles long and eight miles across. They took observations of a peak even higher than Robson, which itself is 13,700 feet above sea level.

All things "the hustler" doesn't want comes to him who waits. You can form a pretty good idea of what a man hasn't done, by the things he is going to do.

HOW A MOTHER USED

"How do I use up my stale bread? Why, with OXO Cubes. They taught me a new dish that perhaps other women, who keep house, would like to try.

"With two children in the house, it is only natural that there are many broken slices and ends of loaves that would accumulate.

I call my new dish Oxo Bread Pudding

"For four persons, I soak ¾ pound of bread to a pulp in boiling water—then drain. I chop 2 ounces of suet and a small onion, and stir into the bread. Season this with a teaspoonful of minced parsley, pepper and salt, and mix in a dessertspoonful of flour.

"Dissolve two OXO Cubes in a little boiling water and stir into the pudding. Turn into a greased mold, press down and bake brown in a moderate oven.

"I have found OXO Cubes wonderfully helpful in making Soups, Sauces and new dishes, and now I do not feel as if I could keep house without OXO Cubes. They are so handy".

OXO Cubes are the greatest advance in food invention since men began to eat and women learnt to cook.

Laboratory of Provincial Government Analyst.

MONTREAL, 22nd February, 1909.

I HEREBY CERTIFY that I have drawn by my own hand ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's EXTRA STANDARD GRANULATED SUGAR, indiscriminately taken from four lots of about 150 barrels each and six lots of about 450 bags each. I have analyzed same and find them uniformly to contain 99-99/100 to 100 per cent of pure cane sugar, with no impurities whatever.

QUALITY

in the flour means quality in the bread and the pastry you bake. Without quality behind your efforts, no knowledge or skill can bring good results. Better be without the skill than without the quality.

"BEAVER" FLOUR

is the highest development of blended wheats, embracing the rich health-giving properties of Manitoba Spring wheat and the carbohydrates of Ontario Fall wheat, which make delicate, white, light bread and pastry.

Remember, it is for bread and pastry, both. With BEAVER FLOUR in the house, you only need one kind to attain the best results in every form of baking.
