IT IS QUITE POSSIBLE

KINGSTON WILL GET POWER FROM CHATS FALLS.

Statement of J. A. Ellis, of the Ottawa Municipal Electric Commission—There Would be Ample for Kingston and Other Places.

The Whig on Saturday, referred to the statement of a well-known citizen, who is well posted on the power question, and who gave it as his opinion that Kingston might within a very short time, be provided with power from Chats Falls, near Ottawa. Regarding this the Ottawa Citizen has the following:

"J. A. Ellis, of the Ottawa municipal electric commission, says that it is quite possible that Kingston will get its supply from Chats Falls and such action will not affect Ottawa. Chats Falls has such immense possibilities that all Ottawa is concerned with just now is a small part of them. If Ottawa were successful in acquiring this power there would still be ample to supply Kingston and other places. "Nothing new has transpired regarding the efforts to have cancelled the patent granted D. O'Connor. The hydro-electric commission has joined the city in its protest to the government and the city is now waiting for J. Lynch Staunton, the lawyer representing the hydro-electric, to come to Ottawa to interview the minister of public works."

MILITARY CONFERENCE

IN OTTAWA AT CALL OF MINISTER OF MILITIA.

Spirit of Anti-Militarism Lamented—Lieut.-Col. Fisher, Brockville, Suggested Some Sort of Conscription.

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—The military conference, called by Hon. Col. Sam. Hughes, which took place in the railway committee rooms of commerce this morning, was a decided success. After the speech of welcome from the minister of militia, it was decided to divide into three sections, infantry, cavalry and artillery. The chief proposals submitted by the commanding officers are that more pay was needed for the militia, and better armory accommodation, especially for rural corps, better clothing and exemption of militiamen from various forms of taxation.

Lieut.-Col. Ponton, of Belleville, urged the need of a campaign of education to inspire the young men of Canada. He lamented the spirit of anti-militarism, which was now rampant in the country, and urged that the privilege of voting should be made conditional upon military service. This idea was approved by several other speakers, one Lieut.-Col. Fisher, of Brockville, going so far as to assert that the success of the militia depended upon some form of conscription. Finally it was decided to appoint a committee which should draft a series of recommendations to minister and report tomorrow morning.

INSURANCE ON ST. LAWRENCE.

Canadian Organization May Compete With Lloyd's.

London, Nov. 16.—The Financial News says in a special article that the directors of the marine underwriters at Lloyd's to reduce the insurance rates on vessels engaged in the St. Lawrence trade, the formation of a Canadian organization on the lines of that world-wide institution is now being considered, and the proposal is receiving a good deal of influential support.

Although navigation in the River and Gulf has been greatly improved by dredging and the provision of fog signals and wireless telegraph, it is argued that the premiums "continue to be high, and the result that many tramp steamers discharge cargoes at Portland, and other United States ports instead of proceeding on to the St. Lawrence to Montreal.

WILL EMBARRASS BORDEN.

Liberals Have Some Pointed Questions in Order Paper.

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—Plenty of evidence that the opposition is on the alert, was furnished this morning by a series of questions on the order paper, and which will be asked of the government as soon as the regular order of the sessional business is begun. Some of the questions will bring with intended embarrassments for the government.

Mackenzie King All Right.

Canadian Courier. It is as strange as it is becoming to hear a young Canadian solemnly devote his life to the public service and state at the same time that he is going to train himself for it by study. Most of our politicians cut the studying out. They will cross the bridge when they come to it, so they say. They hope they have enough common sense to pull them through. They are practical men, and what they want is to get down to brass tacks and leave the theorizing to the doctrinaires and visionaries. All of which amounts to that they are content to be lazy and ignorant and let somebody else do the thinking. Doctrinaire! Visionary! These are names to be proud of. A doctrinaire is usually a man who is concerned for abstract right as against concrete wrong. A visionary is a man who has imagination. The government which wholly disregards abstract right is salt without meat; the government which has no imagination is meat without salt. Mackenzie King is young; he is a doctrinaire; he is a visionary; he is an altruist. With all these faults we can love him still. Politics is worth just as much studying now as when Aristotle wrote a book about it.

Medicine Hat, Alta., Nov. 16.—The coroner's jury has rendered a verdict in respect to the Rockville wreck, in which Fireman Bishop and Brakenham were killed last week. The finding places the blame on Engineer Caver for running into the curve at high speed. Car has left the country.

Wholesale Art Thefts.

MACPHER IS ELECTED

TO THE PRINCE, EDWARD ISLAND LEGISLATURE.

He Defeated His Opponent by 240—The Liberal Government Defeated—Parties Stand: Conservatives, 16; Liberals, 14.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Nov. 16.—The result of the provincial by-elections in the third and fourth districts of Queen's, yesterday, was a big landslide for the opposition. The Liberal government, in power since 1891, has been defeated. The new house will consist of fourteen liberals, fifteen straight conservatives, and one independent conservative. Dr. Dewar, a straight conservative, defeated Premier Palmer (liberal) in the third district by a majority of 351, with one place to lose from, which will increase his majority. Mr. Palmer's majority in the same district at the general election of 1908 was 106.

In the fourth district, Prof. Alexander MacPhail, of Queen's University, Kingston, a native of Belfast, defeated Frederick J. Nash, managing editor of the Patriot, Charlottetown, by 210. The liberal majority in 1908 was 116. Mr. MacPhail ran as an independent, but was nominated by the conservative convention and endorsed by the conservative leader. He was strongly supported throughout the contest by his brother, Dr. Andrew MacPhail, of Montreal, a well-known journalist and political economist.

When the legislature pronounced in May last the parties stood: Liberals, sixteen; conservatives, fourteen. (The two vacancies for which elections were held to-day, were caused by Premier Hazard, member for the fourth district, resigning to accept a supreme court judgeship, and Hon. H. J. Palmer, representing the third district, being appointed premier and attorney general.)

J. A. Mathieson, opposition leader, will be called upon to form a new government. There is another session yet to be held, but whether he will endeavor to carry on the administration with a majority of one clear of the speaker, or bring on a general election, is not yet known. The conservative victory is largely due to the triumph of the party in the federal elections, their excellent organization, and the fact that the government was a little over twenty years in power, the grant of a change. The liberal vote went into the contest feeling heavily handicapped in fighting a party flushed with victory and with the influence of the federal government with them.

REV. J. P. McINNES

Nominated as Liberal Candidate for Frontenac.

The Frontenac Liberal association met at the court house Thursday afternoon and nominated Rev. J. P. McInnes, Presbyterian minister of Harrowsmith, as their representative to oppose Anthony Rankin (conservative) for the Ontario house. President Waller was in the chair. There were three nominations: Mr. McInnes, W. J. Franklin, Pittsburg, and F. W. Vallon, Cataract. The two latter retired and Mr. McInnes was made the unanimous choice, on motion of R. J. Fair and W. J. Franklin. The liberals are confident that Mr. McInnes will win the seat.

THE HALLS OF QUEEN'S

LECTURE BY PROF. WILSON OF JOHN HOPKINS.

Arts Faculty Games—Classes of '13 and '15 Play for Championship on Thursday Afternoon.

A very interesting lecture was given to an appreciative audience in the history room, Monday afternoon, by Prof. H. L. Wilson, of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore. Prof. Wilson was an honor graduate of Queen's, class '88, being medalist in Latin and Greek. The subject was "Etruria." The address was illustrated by a large number of slides, many of which were obtained by the personal efforts of the speaker. Considerable light was thrown upon the civilization of the Etruscians. Works of art in bronze and clay were pictured on the screen. The debt of Rome to Etruria, in the matter of methods of road building, architecture, fortification and art was clearly shown. There is nothing new under the sun," said the speaker, and the lecturer pointed out that even in the time of the Etruscians, over 400 B.C., gold bridge work for false teeth was an accomplished fact. The value of the lecture was greatly enhanced by reason that the speaker had spent considerable time in excavation work in Italy, and had been the means of bringing to light many interesting evidences of the skill and beliefs of that mysterious people, whose skill in art architecture was so high, whose civilization was so far advanced, and whose untranslated language has given many hours of, up to the present, fruitless pleasure to archaeologists.

The incentive to sport given by Prof. Mitchell, has already borne fruit. On Monday, arts '12 and arts '13 met in battle royal on the gridiron in a contest for possession of the Mitchell trophy. Arts '13 proved too much for the seniors, beating them by 12 to 0. On Tuesday arts '14 and '15 fought out their tie. Arts '15 easily beat the sophs and thus avenged themselves for the indignity put upon them in the "rush." Several men interested in rugby were watching the games, and it is very probable that many new players will be marked as candidates for a place in the teams of next year. There was considerable talent and knowledge of the game exhibited by some of the players. The final tie, between '14 and '15, will take place on Thursday.
