Berlin, the city of cafes and music, is shortly to have another palatial establishment in which visitors may sip their coffee or light German beer and listen to the music of well-trained orchestras any hour in the twenty-four.

The new popular palace, situated in the Potsdamer Platz, in the heart of the city, is to be called the Piccadilly, and some idea of its gigantic size is afforded by the fact that the proprietor will pay a yearly rental of $16,000 for his premises.

The interior furnishings will be of the most luxurious description. Each single chair, of which there will be hundreds in the building, will cost $2 1/2, and will be upholstered with the furniture of a well-known royal residence. No fewer than 100,000 electric lamps will illuminate the great building at night, and four orchestras, playing in relays of six hours each, will render never-ceasing music for the enjoyment of patrons.

The egotist always wants you to listen.

WOMEN DO NOT WANT

THE BALLOT, SAYS MAYOR GAYNOR, OF NEW YORK.

Who Addressed Federation of Women's Clubs—Not Two Per Cent. of Women Anxious for the Franchise.

New York, Nov. 16.—Mayor Gaynor forgot the street cleaners' strike long enough yesterday, he said, to come to New York 1,500 members of the state federation of women's clubs at the opening of their seventeenth convention, and to chide them upon the gress haste in working for reform and changes, notably woman suffrage. He told them that he opposed woman suffrage, but conceded that they would get the ballot when they wanted it.

"The men are not going to keep it away from you," he said. "The question is whether you want it. My experience is that there is not two per cent. of the women that want it. You people of these clubs think you are the whole world of womanhood, but you are not. Here are a whole lot who are not here today. You want to break up the old nation of the unit of man and woman. It is a charming notion. Do not break it up altogether, leave us a little of it when you get through. You take a great solace out of the world when you take all that away."

A passage of the bible that is good "to fasten inside the crown of your hat with a long stickpin and read it once a day," he said, was the admonition to teach "Line upon line, precept upon precept." He had talked with some people, he said, who wanted to destroy everything and do it within twenty-four hours.

"That is the worst part of it," he continued. "It may be a very bad thing even to destroy a bad thing within twenty-four hours. The things of the earth that are good are of gradual growth. The reformers today men and women, who go around noisily declaiming against everybody and everything, calling themselves radicals, it may be under the definition that a radical is one who wants to instantly pull up everything by the roots, are more of a nuisance in this world than anything else, to my way of thinking. Those who want to accomplish something do it with patience, care, chagry and gentleness, a little here and a little there.

A WONDERFUL CASE.

Months in Hospital and Uncured—Zam-Buk Cured Him.

Frederick Mason, the well-known upholsterer and mattress manufacturer of St. Andrews, N.B., says: "I had eczema on my knee, which caused me terrible pain and inconvenience. The sore parts would itch and burn and tingle, and then when rubbed or scratched, would become very painful. When the knee got warm, it burned worse, and the itching and burning and smarting were almost unbearable. I tried various remedies, but got no better, so I decided to go to Montreal and take special treatment. I received treatment at the Montreal General Hospital for thirteen weeks, but at end of that time I was not cured, and almost gave in. A friend advised me to give Zam-Buk a trial.

"Almost as soon as applied Zam-Buk stopped the itching and the irritation, I persevered with the balm, and it was soon evident that it would do me good. Each day the pain was reduced, the sore spots began to heal, and by the time I had used a few boxes of Zam-Buk I was quite cured.

"Since then Zam-Buk has cured blood-poison in my finger, and at a time when my finger was in such a terrible condition that I feared it would have to be amputated."

For eczema, blood-poisoning, piles, ulcers, sores, abscesses, varicose ulcers, cuts, leg, cold sores, chapped hands, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin injuries and diseases, Zam-Buk is without equal.

SHOUT AGAINST IT

CONSERVATIVES CONDEMN THE RAILWAY BOARD.

Liberals Propose Reorganization of the Board and Enlargement of Its Powers—Should be Effective in Public Interest.

The liberal programme calls for the enlargement of the powers and reorganization of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, so as to render it an influential and effective tribunal in the public interest.

The proposal of the new liberal leader to reorganize and enlarge the powers of the Ontario railway and municipal board so as to render it an influential and effective tribunal in the public interest is timely, and will meet with almost universal endorsement. The board, as at present constituted has manifested its limitations, circumscribed its usefulness, and forfeited its claim upon public confidence.

In the session of the legislature of 1906, the creation of a railway and municipal board to regulate public provincial charters and supervise municipal contracts and by-laws, was accorded a favorable reception by both parties. Notwithstanding the high hopes which were then entertained, the board's probable usefulness, the announcement of its personnel was received with many misgivings. It was at once seen that public interest had been made subservient to party exigencies, and the opportunity presented by the necessity of selecting the membership became a means of balancing the political ledger. As a result, the board in operation proved a petty article for local technicalities, more concerned with party procedure, fuss and feathers than with evidence either the desire or the capacity to serve the public interest.

Probably the only thing which may be advanced as the board's excuse for existence during its five years of life was its initial affirmation of a provincial enactment that a two-cent-per-mile rate should prevail on all rail-trips under the jurisdiction of Ontario—as administrative rather than a creative act. In other matters when trying grievances have driven various municipalities to the point of exasperation, the board's conduct has proved disappointing indeed to those who looked for either inclination or ability to afford relief. There has been a conspicuous lack of mandatory authority to enforce even such orders as have been made. If, as Chairman Leitch once declared in a judgment, the board was called upon to "blaze its way," it is manifest that it is still engaged in circuitous process of finding its way.

One need only peruse the record of efficient service established by the dominion railway board to see what possibilities were within the grasp of the provincial body, and to realize the opportunity which has been wasted. Instead of "blazing its way" and talking "balderdash," the dominion board from its very inception set out upon a vigorous, progressive and purposeful policy of fulfilling its mission. Chairman Mabey, as the minister of railways and canals frequently expressed it, doesn't wait for precedents; he makes them.

The course of the provincial board has been remarkably different. Here inertia has given place to domestic disagreements, and the unseemly spectacle was publicly paraded. So far as the situation here, the board was designed to look after the interests of the common people just as the railway board at Ottawa does. That is what the government appointed them for, and if they have failed, they have failed to do their duty." The premier, Sir James Whitney, was himself compelled by the force of public opinion to take cognizance of the matter, and made the tardy admission that "It is evident

SHOCK CAN ALTER COLOR OF THE EYES.

LONDON SURGEON IS AUTHORITY FOR A NEW THEORY OF PIGMENTATION.

The possibility of a man's eye changing color as the result of mental shock or physical ill-treatment, was the subject of an interesting discussion by surgeons of the eye ward of one of the great London hospitals, says the London Daily Mail.

One of the surgeons said—"It is common knowledge that great physical hardship may suddenly turn the hair white. The loss of color here follows on certain chemical changes due to disturbances of nutrition, taking place in the tiny particles of coloring matter which give the hair its color.

"All infants at birth have blue eyes. In some babies immediately after birth pigment granules begin to develop in the iris. Thus they become brown or black-eyed. In others, however, no such pigment formation takes place, and the eyes remain blue or gray throughout life.

"If this at present blue-eyed former convict is really the missing brown eyed banker, a reasonable explanation of the discrepancy in the eye coloring would be that under the stress of physical and mental shock the coloring matter which had in early life developed in each iris had atrophied or disappeared, leaving the eye the original blue coloring at birth."

GANANOQUE TIDINGS.

Town to Vote on Future of the Public Library.

Gananoque, Nov. 16.—Ernest Royal Chismore, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Chismore, Front of Leeds, and Langdown township, passed away on Tuesday, after a short illness. The funeral takes place today, to the Cross cemetery at Halstead Bay.

In the surrogate court, before Judge H. S. McDonald, probate of the last will and testament of Elizabeth Ferguson, spinster, late of Gananoque, was granted to Elizabeth Adams and Alma de Pencier, the executors named in the will.

Quite a largely-attended dance was held in the amusement hall of the Gananoque Inn, on Tuesday evening.

The coal schooner Horace Taber pulled into Gananoque river, yesterday, to discharge the balance of her cargo at Robertson's sheds, after which she will be dismantled and lay up in Gananoque river for the winter.

Mrs. Henry Lynn, Sunbury, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Scott, River street. Miss Gertrude Bamford, nurse-in-training at Brockville general hospital, is enjoying a short furlough here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Bamford, Pine street.

It is very probable that at the time of the next municipal elections the citizens of the town will be called on to vote as to whether the public library shall be taken over and run as a free library by the town, as if the town withholds its grant next year it will be impossible for the library to continue, and municipal ownership will be the only way out of the difficulty.

CENTENARIAN HAS NOT MISSED ANGLING IN FORTY YEARS.

Bristol, Tenn., Nov. 16.—Mrs. Jane T. Hinkle, who was born in Wylie county, Va., in 1811, has celebrated the hundredth anniversary of her birth at the home of her son here. Still vigorous for one of her years, Mrs. Hinkle firmly believes that her long life and her bright prospect for living a few years longer is due to her activities and to her fondness for the open air.

"I have hardly passed a fishing season," she said, "in fifty years that I failed to go to the river with hook and line," and her friends declare she has been a most successful fish-woman.

A single man is seldom as good as his sweetheart, think he is, or a married man is so good as his wife suspects he is about the things of the house.
