GLENBURNIE GARNETS

HELD GENERAL MEETING ON MONDAY EVENING.

R. H. Fair was re-elected President—The "Glen" Will Put Two Good Hockey Teams on the Ice This Winter.

At the largest attended hockey meeting ever held in Glenburnie the senior and junior Garnets, on Monday evening, got a good send-off.

It was determined to place a team in the senior Kingston township hockey association, for which Reeve Rankin has offered a cup, and a junior team for the G. S. Cobett trophy.

R. H. Fair was unanimously re-elected president of the club and occupied the chair.

Plans for the welfare of the senior were arranged and the officers for the coming season duly voted as follows:

Honorary president, Rev. J. P. McKeown; honorary vice-president, R. H. Fair; first vice-president, M. McLean; second vice-president, J. L. Gillies; secretary-treasurer, J. M. McKeown; manager of senior team, T. Lavelle; mascot, E. Brundage; manager of junior team, G. Smythe; captain of junior team, G. Vair; mascot, G. Blacklock.

After the adjournment of the business meeting speeches were delivered by the newly-elected officers, who assured the supporters of the club present that both teams would make a good showing this season.

The rink managers have already started improving the rinks for the skating season by adding a new gasoline plant which will also benefit the hockeyists in their night practices and games.

A LIFE OF SLAVERY.

White Woman Makes Terrible Charge Against Negro.

Winnipeg Man, Nov. 21.—A solid and pathetic tragedy of the underworld was revealed in the assize court, when the trial of Prince Cleveland, the colored lumberman, of procuring and forcing by threats Mrs. Kate Kalk, a white woman into shocking slavery, was commenced.

In the witness box the woman made a pitiful sight, as with downcast eyes filled with tears, and in a low voice chipping with sobs, she made public her terrible story.

Her thin figure, neatly and modestly attired in a pale blue striped princess gown, and the ev'nt youth of the prisoner, although her face was prematurely aged, and wrinkled by her dreadful experiences, excited for the immediate sympathies of the crowded court room, and her tale was followed with intense interest.

It was repulsive and sad indeed. It told the story of a woman without a friend or protector in a strange city being coerced by threats and brutal treatment to abandon her three little children, and yield to the commands of a brute who, the witness alleged, had threatened to murder her if she complained, and to turn her children into the streets to perish from want and exposure.

"My husband had left the city to obtain work," said the witness, in her low and almost incoherent voice, and he rented two rooms from Cleveland. He paid for a month's rent in advance, and left me some groceries and a little money. He had not been gone for a day when Cleveland said he would not have a woman around the house who would not make money for him."

"I swore that I would not, but when he threatened me and said that he would also drive me into the streets, I did not know what to do. I knew no person and I was afraid. He said that if I escaped he would kill me. He then took me to a number of Chinese laundries, and also had cards printed, which he widely distributed among the Chinese."

The witness told of how he would never let her out of his sight, and of how he kept her children locked up in a cupboard when away. Oriental visited the house. It is also alleged that he beat the little ones severely. Finally, being unable to stand the treatment any longer, she managed to elude the man and at last succeeded in making a complaint. The arrest of the prisoner followed quickly. He has been sent to prison for seven years.

SEAWEED WORTH MILLIONS.

Ocean Growth Found Rich in Precious Potash.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—Seaweed found along the Pacific coast from Mexico to northernmost Alaska is a source from which the department of agriculture believes potash worth $12,000,000 annually, can be produced to meet the demands of the American fertilizer market.

This is not a discovery of the department of agriculture, however, for scientists have long known of extensive potash in Pacific seaweed, some of it when burned or subjected to dry distillation yielding sixty to seventy per cent. its weight in soluble potash salts, worth twenty dollars to twenty-five dollars a ton.

The supply of this seaweed is enormous, and in many places it has been carted from the beach, and applied to land, showing its worth as fertilizer.

Valuable seaweed grows in water fifty to seventy-five feet deep and some weeds attain a length of sixty feet.
