WHY THE DELAY?

The council will hold a special meeting to-night, to appoint the architect who will, on behalf of the city, supervise the new hotel building. His choice will be made conditional, of course, upon the necessary appeal being made to the legislature and the act being passed which will confirm the recent vote of the people. It may be that the referendum cannot be regarded as the equal of one for a bonus, but the question will only be settled when the legislature has passed upon it.

Would it be in order for some one to ask what the position of the hotel scheme is to-day? Rumours are in circulation, and they cannot be correct. The mayor, or some member of the finance committee, could explain briefly what has been done about the

A LAND MARK GOES.

There is a little old house on Queen street, immediately below St. Paul's church, which is historically of the greatest value. Here were the offices of one of the earliest governors of Canada, and visitors to the city are driven past it and pointed with pride to the building in which some great thoughts of great men were born and nurtured.

A former Kingstonian, on a visit recently, dwelt upon the richness of the city in historic places, and referring to this little house, said it would be an everlasting shame if it disappeared. And it is advertised for sale! Mr. Mayor, on behalf of an indignant people, who can, if necessary, be summoned for expression of their opinion, stop this sale.

It is not so long since the old block

GOING TO EXTREMES.

The argument of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in the discussion on dismissal of public servants, is the only tolerable one. Men may offend, by reason of their partisanship, and they may, in their zeal, do something which an opposite party, in power, will not forgive. But the individual ought to be able to present a defence. The liberals gave every one against whom a charge was made a hearing. He was not moved in any case unless the complaint was put in writing, and submitted by a member of parliament.

Dismissals have been made—hundreds of them—since the Borden government came into power, on very little evidence, or without evidence of any kind, and there are thousands of persons, still unprovided for, who are clamouring for recognition. The situation as it appears in Ottawa was explained by Mr. Frigg, in a recent political meeting, said he: "I hope those looking for positions are not disappointed. We have received 2,600 odd applications, and I am glad to say a very small percentage of these came from the capital ward. My good friend, Dr. Chabot, has had to go

EDITORIAL NOTES.

There is no graft in Australia, and Prof. Cox, formerly of McGill college, says it may be due to the fact that the women have votes. Here is a boost for women's suffrage that counts for something.

Mr. Foy says the government must, through the education department, stop the grants to bi-lingual schools. Without waiting for Dr. Merchant's report? Is this not making light of the reference and the commission?

Mr. Justice Hughes, of the supreme court, declines to be a presidential candidate against any one. Sensible man. Who that has been in politics, and drawn out, wants to go back to them? No man that values his comfort and peace of mind.

Hamilton is having some trouble in introducing medical inspection, and because the people, and some of the trustees, do not understand what it implies. Again the education department is remiss in not giving information with regard to the work.

The Toronto World thinks Sir James Whitney has made a mistake in opposing the return of Allan Studholme to the legislature. A mistake, Mr. World? Know ye not that Sir James never errs? He is the only one who is infallible in the world.

Now that the election is over Sir James will find great interest and inspiration in very carefully reading the criticisms of the conservative papers. The files of the Ottawa Citizen and Journal and Hamilton Spectator will afford him fine reading on a lonesome evening.

The local parties in South Renfrew agreed—being sick of elections—that Mr. McGarry should be elected to the legislature and Hon. Mr. Graham to the commons by acclamation. Mr. McGarry has been returned and the Ottawa government says Mr. Graham must be opposed. Well, it remains to be seen whether or not the local men must break their words.

RECEIVED A LETTER

FROM THE MAYOR THANKING THE STUDENTS

For the Way They Behaved on the Night of the Rush—Alma Mater Society Did Not Like the Way Mayor Graham Trusted the Students.

The Alma Mater Society of Queen's University expressed its strong disapproval of Mayor Graham's conduct a week ago, Saturday evening, on the occasion of the annual rush of Queen's students. The society met, Saturday evening and a communication was read from Mayor Graham, thanking the students for their gentlemanly conduct during the rush and told them that their manner of behaviour would long be remembered by the citizens of Kingston.

When the letter was first read a number of the members of the society were strongly opposed to receiving it on the grounds that Mayor Graham had not really kept to his promise. He said that the fact of his presence at the college and the speech had quite an effect upon the students and when they gave their promise in a body that they would not do any damage to property he should have been satisfied with that and not had policemen posted in front of all the theatres and himself at the head of them.

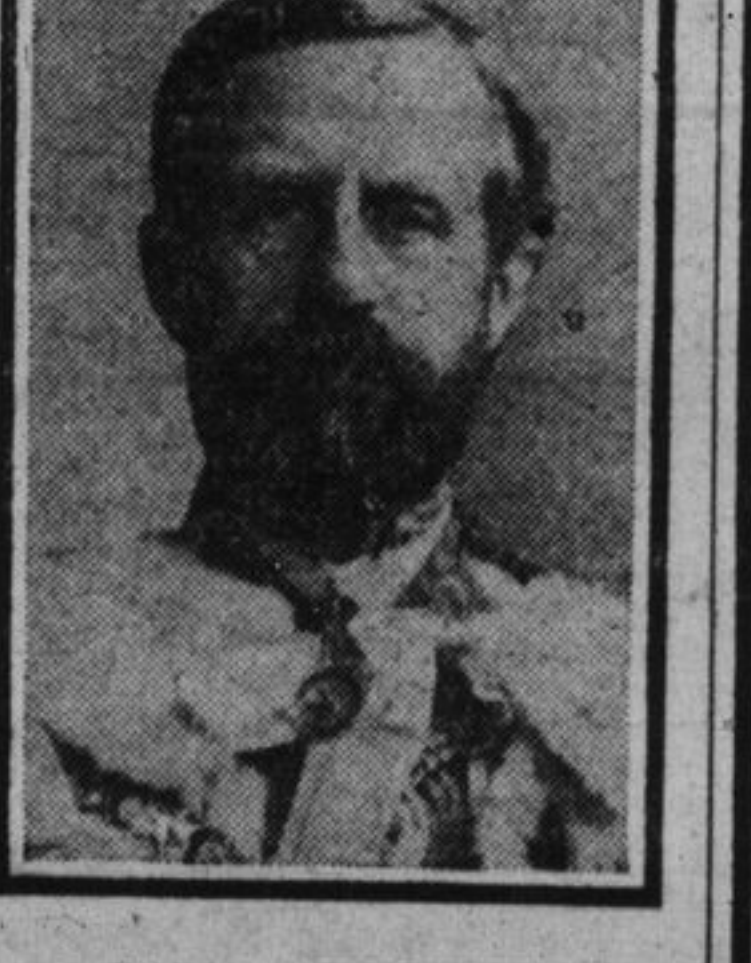

The sending of the letter of appreciation to the students by the chief magistrate was also much appreciated but the thought of the ordering out of the police constables still rankles in their hearts. After much discussion it was decided to receive the letter, but a reply has not been sent yet, but will likely be done this week.

One of the most important features of the meeting was the installing of the new executive which was elected a week ago.

One of the members of the executive of the A.M.S. told the Whig, Monday, that if Mayor Graham had not ordered out the police and had trusted the students, as he said he would, he was of the opinion that the rushing of the students in a body would have been put down for all time. The students liked to be treated like men and when they gave a promise they lived up to it.

ABERDEEN'S TITLE

It Took Several Years to Establish It.

EARL OF ABERDEEN.

It is a tragedy that Lord Aberdeen really owes his succession to the peerage. His brother, the sixth earl, adored the sea and sailors. Unknown to his family, he shipped as first mate on the Hera, a schooner bound for Melbourne, but on the night of January 27th, 1870, he was washed overboard in a storm. He had called himself "George H. Gordon," and here arose a serious difficulty in connecting the dead earl with the first mate of the Hera, it took nearly two years to establish the identity and during that period, Lord Aberdeen was unable to take his seat in the House of Lords.

Increased Prosperity in Ireland.

At the annual general meeting in Dublin of the United Irishwomen, a body that has been formed under the auspices of the Irish Agricultural Organization Society, Mrs. Harold Lett said that in every part of Ireland a higher standard of comfort was becoming general, and even in small towns in the West leaders were enlarging their stores to deal with cheap furniture for which there was a growing demand. Prosperity without pleasure was of very little use to a race of people with the temperament of the Irish, and pleasure without prosperity to back it was practically impossible. A combination of the two was more readily found in America than in Ireland; hence the constant stream of emigration.

A Concert at Elginburg.

Elginburg, Dec. 9.—The tea meeting at Elginburg on December 7th was a grand success, the largest crowd in years being present and about $300 were realized. The programme was excellent. The speeches of Rev. F. W. Neal and Rev. Mr. Cassidy were much enjoyed. The singing and recitations were appreciated and the chairman Elmer Davis, of Kingston, was in his best form. Much credit is due the minister, Rev. F. W. Danby, B.A., for his efforts in making the affair a success. He has won the hearts of the people here by the kindness and energy he has displayed during the last three years and has brought the Elginburg circuit to the front, so that it is now recognized as one of the best country circuits in the Kingston district.

Protective Association, comprising 1,300 Families, Seeking Competitive Bids From Grocers and Meat Dealers.

Indianapolis, Dec. 8.—As a direct result of the organization of the "Housewives' Protective Association" and the efforts of Mayor Shank to reduce the cost of living by selling potatoes and fowls on the market at cost this city now has several organizations that are buying in large quantities from the producers, and arrangements have been made to withdraw all restrictions at the city market, and let the producer sell to the consumer direct.

The effect of the campaign thus made against high prices is seen in a gradual reduction in vegetables, fruits and poultry by the market dealers themselves, and many of them say that though their prices are lower they are really making more money.

because of their larger sales. The Housewives' Protective Association has increased to nearly 1,300 members, and within the last few days they have taken steps to buy in large quantities in order to reduce the cost of groceries and meats, and the indications are that they will succeed.

No Need of Haste.

At a lecture a well-known authority on economic matters mentioned the fact that in some parts of America the number of men was considerably larger than that of women, and he added, humorously: "I can, therefore, recommend the ladies to emigrate to that part."

A young woman seated in one of the last rows of indignation, left the lecture rather noisily, whereupon the lecturer remarked: "I did not mean that it should be done in such a hurry!"

The story told by Orrie McManigal to the grand jury at Los Angeles, Cal., implicated other men in the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers. McManigal alleges that persons, other than J. J. McNamara, paid him for twenty jobs of dynamiting which he did since 1897.

The books of the iron workers' local union at Salt Lake City, seized by the U. S. Federal officials are wanted to trade large sums of money sent by the J. J. McNamara, Secretary International Association of Bridge Iron Workers Union, to the local union for organization in the west.
