And Delayed Thursday Morning Passenger Trains.

Cornwall, Jan. 4.—There was a bad pitch-in on the G.T.R. near Wales, this morning, between two freights, one of which was going very slow when the other came along at a great speed, split the van and smashed and derailed the cars, blocking both tracks.

Conductor Beilieu, of the leading train, was in the van, but escaped with a cut in the head. The Brockville auxiliary was called out and had the track cleared about 11 a.m. The International Limited, westbound, was delayed for a short time at Miller Roche, and No. 12, local, eastbound, express, was delayed west of the wreck.

RETURNS TO SERVE TERM.

Slayer Had Been Released on His Word.

Salem, Ore., Jan. 4.—Honor bound to return to serve out his life sentence as soon as he had earned money to pay off a debt owed his father-in-law, William Mack is back in the penitentiary again after an absence of six months.

Mack is serving a sentence for killing George Carter at Grants' Pass. That he might have money to defend himself at the trial his father-in-law mortgaged his home.

Gov. West learned that Mack's family was destitute. Bidding the prisoner to go out and earn enough to pay off the mortgage and provide something for his family, the governor released Mack with only the man's word as security.

SLOOP ARRIVES JAN. 4TH.

The Belle Malone Sailed Into Port From Clayton.

The sloop Belle Malone, of Clayton, arrived here on Thursday afternoon in company with the schooner, who claims that his vessel will be about the last that will land at this port before the season. It is wonderful for a sailing boat to arrive in the city on January 4th and to make good time on the trip. The captain met with a great deal of ice when he got near Wolfe Island. The sloop is not the latest to arrive in Kingston. It will be remembered that some years ago Captain Steve Tvo arrived in port from Oswego later in January than this. The Belle Malone will be loaded with cedar logs and go back to Clayton.

FOR PROTEST ON TAVERN LICENSE REDUCTION BY-LAW.

So Says City Solicitor McIntyre—The Ballot Was Drawn in Accordance With the Provisions of the Statute.

On Monday last, hotel men stated that if the reduction by-law was carried, they might ask the courts to quash it, on the ground that a municipality cannot declare that ten licenses shall be taken off, but only may declare that the number of licenses to be issued shall be such and such a number. They hold that the ballot on Monday should have read: "Are you in favor of limiting the tavern licenses of Kingston to fifteen?"

No decision has been arrived at with regard to the matter, but the hotel men are seeking advice from headquarters.

City Solicitor McIntyre, when seen to-day, by a Whig representative, said that there was no ground whatever for an appeal, because the number of licenses was not printed on the ballot paper. It is not necessary to mention all particulars in a by-law, he says. The city clerk drew out a form of ballot, as provided by the statutes, and he approved of it. Mr. McIntyre pointed to section 204, cap. 223, R.S.O. 1897, which says:

"No election shall be declared invalid by reason of a non-compliance with the provisions of this act as to the taking of the poll or the counting of the votes, or by reason of any mistake in the use of the forms contained in the schedules to this act, or by reason of any irregularity, if it appears to the tribunal having cognizance of the question that the election was conducted in accordance with the principles laid down in this act, and that such non-compliance, mistake or irregularity did not effect the result of the election."

The by-law, as published in the newspapers, called for the limiting of the licenses to fifteen, and the ballot had reference to this by-law. Mr. McIntyre says that the ballot of Monday was quite ample.

MAKES AN ATTACK

On the Canadian Locomotive Company Directors.

Special to the Whig. Montreal, Jan. 4.—The financial editor of the Montreal Herald, in an attack on the Canadian locomotive directors in to-day's Herald, says: Amelius Jarvis, the new president, should make a complete statement of the company's present position. It has been rumored for some time that the company has not been making much profit, and it is, therefore, all the more difficult to justify the prospectus which secured so many shareholders of the company's stock. The situation in anything but pleasant, and a thorough airing is the only way to remove the bad impression.

It was awfully good of those Canadian locomotive directors to help along the dividend payments by personal cheques to the amount of $100,000. Such action, no doubt, enabled the dividend to be continued. Of course this $100,000 loan carries interest, and of course it will have to be repaid out of earnings. The fact that one of the first dividends had to be met in such a manner, so soon after re-organization, will be inclined to make the shareholders feel peculiarly fitted for permanent residence in an institution set apart for the benefit of foolish people.

Jarvis Company's Statement.

Toronto, Jan. 4.—Amelius Jarvis & Co. made the following statement, to-day, as to Hon. Mr. Hartley's resignation from the presidency of the Canadian Locomotive company, limited: "As there have been so many distorted reports in the newspapers as to the cause of Mr. Hartley's resignation from the board, we desire to make the following statement in reference thereto: "The true cause of the friction between Mr. Hartley and the board of directors is not as stated in some of the newspapers, but arises from several causes, the chief one being over-estimated profits.

"In order that the shareholders who subscribed for stock, under the circular issued by us in June, should not suffer, we, on the advice of our counsel, Messrs. Blake, Lamb, Anglin & Cassels, paid the company $100,000 under our guarantee that the profits down to July 1st, 1911, would reach the amount represented. This money absolutely belongs to the company, and is not a loan, as some of the newspaper reports have intimated, nor is there any liability on the company to repay it under any circumstances whatever.

"Since Mr. Wheatley has assumed the management, the earnings of the company have increased to an enormous extent, and, notwithstanding the absence of profit in the one contract in question, the profits reported at a meeting of the directors, yesterday, amounted to $87,000 odd dollars, and it only takes $52,500 to pay the six months' dividend."
