IN HOCKEY CIRCLES

QUEEN'S HOCKEY TEAM IS AFTER MILLAN.

Claim That He Can Play Regardless of Registry Rule—Frontenacs Accept Brockville's Offer for Thursday Night.

Queen's hockey team is now after Leo Millan, the last year's wing man of the Frontenacs, who has been playing this winter so far with Ottawa College. Queen's authorities claim that the fact of Millan not being registered by November 15th does not prevent him from being eligible to play hockey with them, as he was an Ottawa College student. It will certainly be a tussle between Frontenacs and Queen's to see which will get him.

Frontenacs Entertained Them. The same good spirit which prevailed before and all through the exhibition game between Queen's and Frontenacs, Monday night, was manifested after the match also. After everyone had been rubbed down, Frontenacs entertained their opponents in the club room to sandwiches and coffee.

Frontenacs to Play Brockville. The senior Frontenac hockey team has at last decided to play the exhibition game which Brockville wanted a few days ago. Secretary Trotter telephoned Brockville Monday night, and said that Frontenacs would play in Brockville Thursday night. With a practice at the rink to-night, they should be in good form to meet the eastern team.

Two Teams to Practice. Both junior and senior Frontenac hockey teams will practice at the covered rink to-night, after skating. The junior team has to get in shape for the game Wednesday evening with Belleville, and the senior team to get in trim for the clash with Argonauts in Toronto Saturday night.

Frontenacs vs. Belleville. The junior Frontenacs are a little cocky over their victory over Picton here last Friday night, and consider they got away with a good start when they defeated the apparently strongest team in this group. What Belleville will do to them in that town tomorrow night is hard to say, but one thing is assured, and that is, Frontenacs will not "lie down on the job." That has never been characteristic of them yet, and this team, although a new one, will uphold the old slogan, "Never quit till the whistle blows."

The lineup may be changed somewhat for the game, and a few spare men will accompany the team. It will likely be definitely settled after practice to-night who will represent the team.

Senior Frontenacs vs. Argos. From all accounts, Toronto Argos have not been doing much so far this season, although it is being rumored that they will seek revenge from the senior Kingstons, next Saturday night, for the defeats they have been suffering at the hands of the Detroit team.

Frontenacs have numerous good men to pick from. Whether George Richardson can be coaxed out on the back division of the senior team is an uncertainty. Hyland and Crawford will be right on the job, if George does not appear. Crawford has been suffering from a cold, thus explaining his non-appearance last night. Porteous will, in all probability, be in the nets. The forward line will be made up of Nicholson, Brouse, Boyer, Reid and "Doc" Weicker. "Doc" improved considerably Monday night, but has still some distance to go. With the practice to-night, and the game Thursday night in Brockville, the team should be in splendid shape for the raising of the curtain in Toronto Saturday night.

Curling Games. Four more curling games were played at the local rink on Monday evening. Curling this season is more popular with the men than it ever was. In the "A" series, played in the afternoon, Skip Gill won from Skip Laird by a score of 9 to 8. In the "B" series, the rink skipped by A. Strachan won from A. Turcott's team by 14 to 10. In the "C" series, Skip Sills won from Skip Spalding by 12 to 10. In the "D" series, Skip Sliter won from Skip Powers by the very close score of 11 to 10.

Hunt Sure of a Place. There is every indication that "Bert" Hunt, last year's centre, for junior Frontenacs, will hold down the same position for Queen's this season. While others were changed around on the team Monday night, he played centre the entire game. His game as box is in the hospital with measles and will not be able to perform for a couple of weeks.

Rugby Club Meets. Queen's rugby club has a meeting called for Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock in the gymnasium for the purpose of drawing up a schedule for the winter rugby games for next fall. The rugby club has awakened to the fact that it must make preparations in advance in order to have everything in working order when rugby time arrives.

Notes on Sport. The new open-air rink at Queen's was opened, on Monday afternoon, for the first time this season. The ice was in perfect condition and the boys had a fine practice. The year '15 militia, was given a first practice. The Arts '14 has the rink this afternoon. The Arts Basketball League opened at the gymnasium on Tuesday afternoon.

noon, at two o'clock. The two teams that played were years '12 and '13. Queen's basketball team leaves, on Friday, for Montreal, to play the first game in the Intercollegiate Basketball League. The team this year is looked upon as being one of the best that has ever represented the college.

The street railway suffered, perhaps, most from the effects of the storm. At 7:20 o'clock Monday evening the last car ran into the barn and there was nothing doing after that as far as carrying passengers was concerned. The sweeper and the crew worked all night in a vain attempt to keep the track clear but as fast as the snow was cleaned off the gale blew it on again. There were no cars all day Tuesday as it was impossible for them to navigate at all. The sweeper and a gang of shovellers circled the line time and again, and when they reached a bank of snow too deep for the car to get through the men shovelled it away. The conductors and motormen were dismissed in the morning and were told to report at five o'clock in the afternoon, when an attempt would be made to get the service going again.

Many men who were out of work had a chance to pick up a little loose change on Tuesday after the storm. There are many people who would rather give a man a dime than get out and clean off their portion of the pavement. The deserving ones were grateful for the work.

As usual, there are many who will not get out and clean off their sidewalks. This is a problem which has to be dealt with every winter. Especially so was the lack of interest shown in the residential sections of the city.

The crossing from Wolfe Island to the city was terrible. In many places there was no semblance of a track, and as the road has not been marked out it is a wonder that someone was not lost when the gale was at the highest.

University Book Store. Queen's Alma Mater Society executive met on Monday afternoon to consider plans for the establishment of a university book and supply store. The idea is not to take away all the business that is at the present time being done by the regular dealers, but by co-operating with the dealers to make the prices of the books required by the students as low as possible.

No Cause For Complaint. "If the cuts on our line had been filled with snow before Monday night's storm, we would have been badly blocked on our line Tuesday morning," remarked an official of the Kingston and Pembroke railway. While the storm was a bad one, it did not interfere with trains to any great extent, and the trains were all fairly well on time.

Electrical Heaters. The street railway company is going to install electric heaters in two or three of the cars. A few years ago they were taken out, and replaced by coal stoves. But the power is cheaper now, and it is thought the electric heaters are more comfortable. They are placed under the seats, and with the coal stoves removed, space is made for at least two more passengers.

Y.W.C.A. IS INCREASING

AND GENERAL SECRETARY, MISS KNOWLES, WILL REMAIN.

Meeting of the Board on Monday—Report of the Month—Membership to be Increased to 600.

The monthly meeting of the Y.W.C.A. was held Monday afternoon, with a good attendance of members and the president, Mrs. E. McLelland, in the chair. The general secretary's report was very satisfactory, and the work seems to have received a stimulus and taken a fresh start, since Miss Knowles took charge. Affairs are so encouraging that Miss Knowles will remain for the year.

Some interesting items in the general secretary's report for the month of December were as follows: Calls received, 129; applications for employment, 9; applications for domestic, 8; applications for board, 11; total attendance at gym, 169; visitors at gym, 18; total attendance, penmanship class, 15; children's free sewing class, 48; mission study class, 8; religious services, 226; socials, 85; fellowship club, 36; outside clubs, 43; total attendance at the building and gym, for December, 861; meals served, 1,096; transient meals, 58; transient boarders, 5; boarders in residence, 5; business calls made by secretary, 54; letters mailed, 499; new memberships, 76; total membership to date, 401.

The women have collected $352 in membership fees, so far, which is very encouraging. A free cooking class for children opens this month under a competent teacher. The shirt waist class re-opens, Tuesday next, at seven o'clock; $1.50 for ten lessons. Gymnasium classes have opened in the K.C. I. gym, and are well attended. There is room for more, and the fee is $1.25 for the second term.

The Fellowship Club of twenty-one members is doing good work under Miss Ethel MacNamee. It dressed sixty dollars for the Santa Claus fund, and has prepared a series of lectures on books, travels, hobbies, law and health. Prof. W. W. Swanson, of Queen's, opens this series, Tuesday evening, with a talk on banking. Mrs. (Prof.) McNeil and Miss Machar and others have promised talks. These lectures are open to all girls. The Fellowship Club will entertain the girls of the Kingston Business College on the 27th of January, and have also planned to do some work in connection with the Victorian Order of Nurses.

The religious committee has provided for a Sunday afternoon Bible class, to be held in the building, under the general secretary, for girls who are unable to attend Sunday school.

Miss Ruth Rouse, world's secretary for the Student Volunteer Movement, will be in the city in February. She will visit the college and city Y.W.C.A. At a tea, to be given in the residence, she will give an address.

The social committee wishes to thank St. James', Chalmers and St. Andrew's churches, and Miss Mowat and Mr. Steacy for refreshments; the ladies and gentlemen who gave musical selections at the New Year reception.

It is hoped to raise the membership to 600 before the year closes.

Clearing Away the Snow. The police were on the job, to-day, to see that the snow was removed off the downtown streets. There was a few negligent ones and they were given notice that they must remove the snow. The most trouble was experienced at the vacant stores around the city but the owners of the property were notified and soon had some person engaged on the work.

A Record. Curing a heavy cold in less than one hour is the proud record of Dover's Cold Breakers. Enough for a whole season in a 25c. box, at Best's.

Plans of New Hotel. It is expected that the plans and specifications for the new hotel will be here next week. The Boston architect of the company has been ill, and this caused a delay. The plans will be placed in the hands of the civic finance committee, and will then be reported upon by the city's architect, William Newlands. As soon as the legislature meets, in February, ratification of the by-law passed by the ratepayers will be asked.
