Told in Twilight

The Engineering Society of Queen's university gave their annual dance in Grant hall on Friday evening and as usual it was one of the most successful dances of the year. Every-thing possible was done to give the guests pleasure, and those in charge deserve a great deal of credit for the splendid music, perfect floor, and unusually tempting supper. The halls and class rooms were arranged as sitting-out places and were very popular during the evening. The programme of eighteen dances was much too short and only repeated encores would satisfy the guests.

The guests were received at the entrance to the hall by Principal D. M. Gordon, assisted by the patronesses, Mrs. A. K. Kirkpatrick, in hand- some gown of black satin, with se- quins over dress; Mrs. W. L. Good- win, in gown of amethyst chiffon over satin; Mrs. Arthur Clarke in old rose satin; Mrs. J. C. Gilliam, in black satin, with touches of pale blue.

Opposite the entrance to the hall, just above the platform, hung a large face of the man in the moon with its eyes and mouth lit up by electric lights and the numbers of the dances were marked in the eyes. Supper was served in the reading room at quar- tet tables, each prettily decorated with flowers. In the centre of the table napkins.

The invited guests included: Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Goodwin, Professor and Mrs. F. O. Willhoft, Professor and Mrs. Arthur L. Clarke, Professor and Mrs. A. K. Kirkpatrick, Professor and Mrs. J. C.
