THE SPORT REVIEW

LOOK OUT FOR FRONTENACS IN SEMI-FINAL.

What W. A. Hewitt Thinks of the Kingston Hockey Team—The Results of Saturday's Curling Matches.

W. A. Hewitt of the Toronto Star, writes: The Frontenacs surprised even themselves by the excellence of their showing, but their success has not been due to any haphazard, taken-chance policy, but to a definite system employed, involving conscientious practice, clever coaching, good training, and the spirit of the "home town" always before their eyes. When the Frontenacs are on the ice they are playing for the glory and honor of Kingston, and there is no keener incentive to great achievement than this devotion and loyalty. Furthermore, the Kingston players have had it drilled into them, morning, noon, and night, to play clean hockey, and to "stay on the ice," not to retaliate under punishment, but to take their medicine for the good of the whole team. This rule they follow religiously, and has been the secret of their success as juniors, and now as seniors. Other teams in competition with Kingston have always considered it a pleasure to challenge them, as they were assured of a good, clean game, win or lose. This is an enviable reputation, and one that redounds to the credit of the Limestone City.

Intercollegiate Hockey.

The Frontenacs may not have any great class, according to some of the Toronto critics, but they can be depended upon to make a determined fight in the finals with whatever team should happen to be their opponents. They have a strong defence and a strong-checking forward line, with a good combination. The Varsity, the official organ of the students, in a fair criticism of Kingston's most recent game, said: "It was individuals against team play, both in respect to offensive and defensive play; and as is invariably the case, the answer was yes. Kingston's team work was most apparent on the defence. The forwards checked back hard and faithfully, but without overlapping, and on several occasions the Varsity attack on getting past Nicholson, would find another forward waiting with Hyland. It will be an interesting game when the Frontenacs go up against Eaton's in the finals. Eaton's ought to win, and win easily, if comparatively certainty of success constitutes an 'easy' victory. From 100 yards distance, however, it looks like a 50 score. The Kingston septette played a great defensive game, one the adumbration. Meekin & Co. will have no difficulty in solving this situation exactly. What 'ought to happen' in hockey usually fails to come off as the results frequently bring.

Notes on Sports.
W. S. Hancock, of Toronto, has been appointed referee of the Detroit hockey games at Cleveland on February 9th and 10th, by Secretary Hewitt, of the O.H.A.

Montreal Witness: Ottawa will have to go very slow, as any further breach of the laws will mean expulsion. Another syndicate is ready to take over the franchise, and not one game will be missed.

The Ottawa College hockey team will be seen in action for the first time this season, on Wednesday, when the Javalins seven from Montreal will journey to the capital and figure in an intercollegiate League game.

Spouting Notes.
Birth Road Beavers defaulted their game to Cataract, Saturday afternoon.

Cataract seniors will play Front Road, Tuesday afternoon, at the Palace rink.

The junior Frontenacs will play an exhibition game with Perth, in Perth, Friday night, of this week. Queen's play McGill here Friday night, in the final Intercollegiate hockey match in which Queen's will participate.

The Outlaws defeated the Dramatic Club team at the Palace rink, Saturday night, by a score of 6 to 4, in the Y.C.R.B. League.

The Garnets, of Glenburnie, defeated the Midgets, of Mount Chesney, at Glenburnie, Saturday afternoon, by the score of 11 to 0.

Glenburnie seniors were defeated by Wolfe Island, in a senior game, at Glenburnie, Saturday night, by the score of 6 to 0.

The representatives of Queen's, Royal Military College and Regiopolis will meet, Wednesday afternoon, to draw up the intermediate and junior rugby schedule for next fall.

Dr. Robert Hanley witnessed the Eaton-Stratford game in Toronto, Saturday night, and thinks the "Big Store" team has a big job cut out in ousting the Frontenacs from first place.

Two junior games will be played in the Sunday School League, at the Sunday School rink, to-night. The first will be between St. John's and Sydenham, and the second will be between Queen's and Bethel.

"Scotty" Davidson and "Bill" McCann are playing in an outlaw league in the west, composed of four teams, whose players were not there soon enough to qualify under the residence rule. Both are attracting attention by their playing.

Innovation at Panama.
New York, Feb. 3.—Among the curious sights enjoyed by tourists to the Panama canal this season are the remarkable self-lighting lamps installed by the government. An ingenious plan has been set up for lighting automatically the hundreds of buoys which will line the Panama canal. The great canal will be the most brilliantly illuminated waterway in the world, and a considerable force would naturally be required to run on and off the lights, morning and night. The acetylene burning lighthouses along the banks will be equipped with copper cylinders exposed to the sun. When the sun rises and the rays fall upon these cylinders, their expansion will serve to close valves that admit gas to the burners. At the close of the day, when the power of the sun's rays diminishes, the cylinders will contract and in turn, turn on the gas. The gas will be ignited by small pilot jets. It is expected that this plan will save both labor and gas. It is estimated that the actual cost of operating the canal will be about $1,000,000 a year.

Under the new system the child was ill, the classes were watched each morning for indications of the disease in the other children. Thus an outbreak of diphtheria was ended before it began, without interruption of the work of the school or danger of an epidemic. Public money was never better spent than is the cash which maintains and extends the work of medical inspection in the public schools of Toronto.

The value of medical inspection was illustrated this week in one of the schools attended by a child suffering from diphtheria. In the old days, the child would have attended school throughout the early stages of the disease and spread the infection throughout the whole class. The school would have been closed, and its district might have been the scene of an epidemic.
