THE PLANS ARE MATURING.

The people will surely buy Cataraqui bridge now, in view of the fact that it will in time be replaced by a new and commodious bridge, a couple hundred feet or more wide, strong, staunch and secure for any traffic.

The idea was repudiated a while ago that the government meant to take over the old bridge as soon as it had been acquired by the city. There was no undertaking to that effect, it was said. It transpires, however, that the bridge must eventually become a part of the national harbour equipment, and that it will be made serviceable to the large dockage accommodation which will be necessary when the vessels of greater depth sail into Kingston.

The plans are taking definite shape for bridge and wharf and elevation for accommodation of the amplest character. Nor is it expedient that there shall be any lessening in the energy which is being put into the work.

Hon. Mr. Hazen, the minister of marine, will be here on Wednesday, and he will, no doubt, be shown about and given an opportunity to understand what our harbour wants and what it will be with reasonable government aid.

PELLETIER IN MEDITATION.

What Mr. Lemieux and Mr. Mulock, (Sir William), accomplished for Canada in the post office department, Mr. Hitecock has accomplished for the United States. A deficit of varying size—in the United States amounting to $17,500,000 in 1910—has been converted into a surplus, and not by any scamping of the service, but "by scientific economy," to use the words of Mr. Taft.

At one time in Canada it was not expected the post office business could be made sustaining. The rates were high—five cents for general letters and two cents for drop letters—and a vigorous protest was entered by the conservative opposition when it was proposed that there should be lower rates. The idea was preposterous. But Mr. Mulock had faith in the future of Canada, and launched the first reforms which turned out so well. Mr. Lemieux followed in his footsteps and carried these reforms further, and with immense advantage to the whole of Canada.

CONSERVATION OF HEALTH

The great insurance companies are no longer content to accept certain risks upon the lives of men, but are concerned in the prolongation of those lives as much as possible. Hence they have their conservation departments, and what they are attempting and accomplishing may be ascertained from a recent circular of the Equitable Life Assurance company, New York.

"Civilization," it is pointed out, "may have reduced the average size of families, but it has also provided an increase in the life-saving knowledge by which to reduce the waste of life. It, therefore, follows that if this knowledge is used there will be a reduction in the death rate, individuals will be healthier, and their offspring, while perhaps fewer in number, will start life with better chances of reaching a ripe old age."

Four out of every ten deaths, it is alleged, are due to preventable causes, and should these causes be done away with the average death rate of the country might be brought down from fifteen to nine per thousand of population. These are statements worthy of consideration, and while it may not exactly be within the province of a life insurance company to take an active part in the establishment of accident and disease prevention methods, it can at least do something toward educating the general public regarding the necessity of such methods.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Woodrow Wilson has announced himself as a democratic candidate for the presidency. He ought to win. The Taft-Roosevelt quarrel is spoiling the chances of a republican success.

There is a loud call for new managers of the conservative party in Ontario. Ministers Reid and Cochrane made a mess of it in South Renfrew. They may as well pass in their checks at once.

Mr. Roosevelt, while president, declared that he would not under any circumstances be a candidate for a third term, and he is now hot after it, and doing his own campaigning. The spectacle is not elevating.

The Hamilton Herald thinks it is nonsensical to talk of South Renfrew election being a blow to the Borden government. Well, Mr. Foster said a defeat would mean that, and he was speaking on behalf of the ministry.

Mr. Borden leaves the boundary issue with Mr. Robin and Sir James Whitney, for some reason, declines to protest against it? How docile all hands have become now that the pro-

The Early Education. Telling children fairy stories is good training for them, says Prof. Leacock. Sure; prepares them to listen to arguments in favor of high protection and the conservative party when they grow up.

Wake Up, Sir James. Sir James Whitney is confident that Ontario will still get a port on Hudson Bay. If Sir James means access to a port, that seems to have been arranged already, but if he means possession of a port, he will apparently have to make a little more of the noise he is so capable of creating.

Good for Canada. Hamilton Times. Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper returned from England a few days ago with a new complaint against Lloyd-George. He declared that Lloyd-George had forced British capitalists to invest very largely in Canada. That, if true, is an offence upon which Canadians will be inclined to look indignantly.

Women Against the Suffrage. Montreal Gazette. The women students of Ohio Wesleyan University have voted by 110 to 8 against the suffrage for women. As the proposition is generally favored more by the highly educated among the fair sex, than by their more ordinary sisters it is evident the advocates of votes for women have much proselytizing work ahead before their idea becomes an accomplished fact.

NEWBORO NEWS BUDGET.

Presbyterians Have Not Decided About Rebuilding Their Church.

Newboro, Feb. 24.—Edmund Moore met with a painful accident on Monday afternoon, while examining a dynamite cartridge. He was holding the cap in his left hand and not knowing what it was, struck a match and the cap exploded, blowing off the thumb of his left hand and so badly lacerating the second finger that amputation was necessary. The wound was first dressed by Dr. R. B. King, and he was then taken to the Westport hospital where he is now getting along as well as can be expected.

J. R. Dargavel, M.P.P., of Elgin, will tender the members of the Newboro hockey team, winners of the L.C.H.L., and Ellenville hockey team, winners of group No. 2, of the Leeds County Hockey League, a dinner, at P. J. Fahy's hotel in Elgin, on Saturday evening.

The Newboro Stars intend challenging the Leeds all-stars for a game in Brockville next week.

Miss Muriel Singleton was in Brockville on Tuesday. A load of visiting people from here drove to the home of Hugh Moles on Tuesday night, where a very enjoyable time was spent. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Switzer, are quite ill with grippe. Mrs. Barber and daughter, Mrs. Morrison, of Westport, who have been visiting (the former's sister, Mrs. C. Vicary for the past two months, returned to the home on Tuesday. William Topping, of Westport, was in town on Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Shaw are visiting relatives at Inverary this week.

Roy Halliday, of Elgin, has purchased the Ontario cheese factory from J. H. Singleton, of Smith's Falls, and will begin operations about April 1st.

The last hockey match of the season was played here on Saturday afternoon before the largest crowd ever seen at a hockey match in this vicinity. Nearly seven hundred people paid admission. The contest was between Ellenville winners of group No. 2 of the L.C.H.L., and Newboro, winners of group No. 1, and resulted in a victory for the home team by a score of 2 to 1. A. Gillerlain, of Brockville, acted as referee.

On Sunday, February 11th, fire broke out in the Presbyterian church here at 11.30 p.m., and had gained headway before it was noticed that it was impossible to save the edifice and the complete structure was burned to the ground. The walls being brick saved the fire from spreading to close by residences, but as it was the home of W. H. Gorsline was badly scorched. This church was built in 1880 and was a fine brick structure. The insurance on the building was $1,600, which nearly covered the loss. The congregation has not decided when it will again build, and services are now being held in the village hall.

Mrs. George Bawden left on Tuesday to visit relatives in Kingston. R. G. Leggett was a visitor in Seely's Bay on Thursday. B. J. Cavanaugh was in Brockville on Tuesday. Miss B. Mulville and Miss M. Golden, of Burridge, visited relatives in town on Friday, and Saturday of last week. Miss M. Moriarty visited friends in Westport last week. W. Kirkpatrick, of Bedford Mills, visited here on Monday. George Warren has sold out his business on Drummond street to Mrs. J. Hazlett. H. S. Foster was in Westport on Tuesday.

It is easier to hear about ghosts than it is to see them.
