"It must for once and all be understood that the resources, of this province, and of every legitimate agency which the government finds at its disposal, will be used to preserve or regain that heritage, and that in doing so we are not prepared to compensate anyone for gains made which were known to be unlawful or immoral, so that the powers of eminent domain existing in the crown as representing this province will be exercised upon such basis as to render nugatory any attempts at political brigandage or the baser methods of those who seek to prey upon a political party for the advantage of themselver or of a corporation, no matter how gigantic, which they represent."

The situation, so far as the city of Ottawa is concerned, has been one of some anxiety. Recently an application was made to the minister of public works, Hon. F. D. Monk, to invalidate the grant of October last to O'Connor. This, however, has been hanging fire, with the result that the Hydro-Electric Commission dec ded upon summary action. Hon. Mr. Beck made it clear that this step on the part of the Hydro-Electric Commission was in harmony with the power policy of the government to serve all sections of the province alike. Some criticism had been made over a seeming delay in extending the work of the commission into the eastern part of the province, but 20th, it was pointed out that no lasting in good would be served by developing terest to D. O'Connor for $167, and small powers only, which would not satisfy even a local interest. The east
