

THE MAN WHO CURSES

IS NO GENTLEMAN, DECLARER'S EVANGELIST YATMAN.

The Man Who Meddles With a Woman's Purity Will Some Day Reap the Whirlwind.

"Gentlemen, hear me now. A man that will curse a poor gentleman. He comes so close to a blackguard that his feet are on the other side. You may not like it, but it's true."

"If you or any other man meddle with a woman's purity, you'll surely reap the whirlwind. Some day God Almighty will shake you, so hard that you'll wish you never were born."

The above are a few of the more striking utterances of Evangelist Yatman in a Bethel church, Sunday afternoon, at the men's meeting, the subject of the plain man-to-man talk being "Wild Oats."

The building was well filled, and the male chorus did good service. The quartette also sang.

The meeting was particularly worthy of note in more than one respect. The address was one of the most powerful along that line ever heard in the city.

The different classes of men in the audience was obvious. As well as the business man, the clerk, and the tradesman, the number was largely made up of men very seldom seen at such meetings.

Mr. Yatman based his discourse on Hosea viii, 7: "For they have sown the wind and they shall reap the whirlwind."

He said a man could no more escape reaping the harvest of what he sowed, than he could escape from himself.

"You men, without Christ, with the young men just starting out on a career, and even the indifferent of these wild oats," and their inevitable wreathed harvest, it was only too apparent that many had passed through this experience, and many were already reaping the harvest.

Throughout the evangelist made use of very effective and appropriate illustrations, and personal experiences.

In closing, while impressing that the harvest is always reaped, the evangelist said:

"Do you think you can, in your little mind, change the order of things. God never changes his laws. It's only Him, in His mercy that has permitted you to live so long."

"I call upon you now to quit sowing wild oats, and have faith in and live in obedience to God for the balance of your life."

Announcement was made that the services would continue all this week and close next Sunday. Monday and Tuesday at 4.15 for boys and girls.

Wednesday a Bible address at 3.30, and on Thursday and Friday addresses at 3.30 for women only. Mr. Yatman will preach every night at eight o'clock.

Last night the church was filled. Much by the large and well-trained choir proceeded the sermon. Miss Gertrude Holland and E. F. Trimble each sang a solo.

HELD ANNUAL MEETING

COUNTY CONSERVATIVES ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

Thomas Fawcett, Wolfe Island, Elected President—Addresses Delivered by Dr. Edwards, Anthony Rankin and Dr. Ross.

At the annual meeting of the liberal-conservative association of the county of Frontenac, held at the court house, on Saturday afternoon, Thomas Fawcett of Wolfe Island, was elected president.

The retiring president, James Martin, presided. He gave a review of the work of the association, after which a resolution of appreciation of the services of J. S. Gallagher, Harrowsmith, who represented the county in the Ontario legislature, for fifteen years, was passed. The following is a list of officers:

President, Thomas Fawcett, Wolfe Island; first vice-president, John Taylor, Latimer; second vice-president, John Kennedy, Bedford; secretary, William McNeely, Sunbury; treasurer, George Stewart, Pittsburg.

The following chairmen of townships were elected: Wolfe Island, George Friend; Hinchinbroke, C. D. Godfrey; Godfrey Station, Kennebec, G. A. Miller; Arden, Clarendon, B. Godkin; Farnleigh, Pittsburg, The Hon. W. C. Enhall; Lorbrough, Jackson Downey; Sydenham, Olden, Henry Drew; Long Lake, Howe Island, Matthew Cox; Bedford, Nathaniel Shillington, Burridge; Kingston, William Cordukes, Elginburg, Storrington, James Sherman, Latimer; Garden Island, Sandford Callin; Portland, L. H. Rutan; Harrowsmith; Oso, E. Burns; Barrie, Charles McGregor; Myer's Cave, Palmerston, James Allen, Donaldson.

Dr. A. E. Ross, M.P.P., was called upon for an address, and in his opening remarks, he paid a warm tribute to Anthony Rankin, M.P.P., the county representative in the legislature, a man who was "on the job" all the time.

The speaker was inclined to believe that the west was ahead of the east, but everything was being done to arouse interest. The speaker would go hand-in-hand with the county member, for all that would help the farmers. He believed that to a great extent, politics were being eliminated, that people were standing out for what was good for the country and not merely going on politics.

Referring to the educational question, the speaker said that the great demand for teachers in the far west was the best advertisement this part of the province could receive. The educational policy of the Whitney government was the best that could be secured, although a great deal of criticism was passed upon it.

The prosperity of the country now depended upon the conservative party, and just because the conservative party had won out in the two elections they should not be satisfied to sit back and have any old kind of government. He appealed to the young men, to take an interest in politics, and suggested that the county and city associations unite for a series of meetings, to hear addresses from prominent men.

One of the farmers asked Dr. Ross what Premier Whitney intended to do in the bi-lingual school question. Dr. Ross said that the premier, no doubt, had a policy, and would look after it all right. He had nothing to say about the matter.

"English speaking sure," cried out the electors, and the matter dropped. Dr. J. W. Edwards, M.P.P., paid a warm tribute to Dr. Ross, and spoke at some length on the question of rural mail delivery. He had interviewed the postmaster-general, in regard to having the county of Frontenac mapped out for delivery. The postmaster-general had asked for a day in the matter, as Waterloo county was at present being mapped out.

The work would be carried on as speedily as possible. The speaker advised going slowly in the mapping out of the routes, in order to have them mapped out right, as it would be a difficult matter to make any changes. Dr. Edwards made it plain that he had no definite route of his own, mapped out for the rural delivery.

Dr. Edwards said he had made a request to the minister of agriculture for the appointment of a co-testing inspector for the county of Frontenac, and that he had promised to make the appointment, if the farmers and factory men expressed a desire to have this work carried on. This testing was for the purpose of weeding out of the poor cows. Petitions had been sent out, for the signatures of farmers desiring the inspector, but as yet, none of them had been returned. If the farmers did not get the inspector, it would be their own fault. He hoped they would take an interest.

Touching on the question of good roads, Dr. Edwards stated that a scheme was being outlined, but as yet no definite plan had been adopted. One suggestion was to establish one good road through from one end of the county to the other. The second reading had been given the bill, and when it was passed, it gave the minister of railways power to negotiate with all the provincial governments.

Dr. Edwards caused some amusement, when he stated that he regretted not get every man a government job, who wanted it. "And I regret it as much as those who want the job," said the doctor.

"The number of jobs are limited. I also want you to understand that I have not been deluged with requests for positions."

Anthony Rankin, M.P.P., spoke briefly speaking on the question of co-operation among farmers, for their own benefit. The only way that the farmers could make headway would be to work together and solve the questions. The farmers must do all in the power to help themselves, if they would succeed.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the retiring president, James Martin, for the able manner in which he had carried on the work of the association.

Samuel Robinson, of Ottawa, spent the week-end in the city with his parents on Division street.

WAS AN ENJOYABLE EVENT.

Queen's Masonic Banquet Held on Saturday Evening.

Queen's Masonic banquet, held on Saturday night, in the red room at the university, was a most enjoyable event. A fine spread was provided, after which there was a programme of toasts, which brought forth some very interesting addresses.

Bro. J. C. Connell was the toastmaster, and proposed the toast to "The King and the Craft." Other toasts were as follows: "The Grand Lodge of Canada," proposed by Bro. E. Eberington, and responded to by R.W. Bro. A. Shaw; "Masonic Bodies," proposed by W. Bro. A. R. E. Williamson, and responded to by Bro. D. Buchanan, Blue Lodge; W. Bro. W. T. Donnell, Royal Arch; W. Bro. R. J. Gardner, Knights Templar, and T.P.G.M. A. W. Richardson, thirty-two degree Scottish Rite; "Our Guests," proposed by Bro. William Nicol, and responded to by W. Bro. P. H. Burke, W.M., the Ancient St. John's; W. Bro. J. R. Forster, W.M. Minden, and W. Bro. J. E. Singleton, W.M. Cataract.

During the evening a fine musical programme was rendered, including solos by W. Bro. W. P. Spaulding; piano solos by C. W. Peppert; and a recitation by V.W. Bro. John Smeaton.

WAS NOT IN ONE. J. McDonald Mowat Says He Was Not Present.

Vancouver, Feb. 27.—(To the Editor): News travels slowly and it was only to-day that I learned, from your issue of the 20th inst., that I had been present at, and had even taken my own negative part, in a hold-up in a restaurant in this city. I do not like to spoil a good story, but cannot bear honors to which I am not entitled and so must tell you that I have never been in the restaurant in question or in any hold-up and know nothing of them outside of what I read in the papers.

So far, my only contact, even indirectly, with the criminal classes here has been in court. I am afraid your informant has been reading shilling shakers and thought he would try a small one on his own account.—J. McDONALD MOWAT.

ANOTHER COLD SNAP. Thermometer Registered 6.6 During Sunday Night.

Better keep a good stock of coal for a time yet as there is still more cold weather coming. During Sunday night the weather took a cold dip and the official record was 6.6 degrees below zero. At eight o'clock on Monday morning the thermometer registered 3.8 degrees below zero.

Case Was Withdrawn. The case against John Eaford, who was charged with the theft of some lumber from J. H. Truesdell, was withdrawn on Saturday and a settlement was made between the parties before Justice of the Peace George Hunter. Eaford paid for the lumber and also the costs of the court. The case, so it was claimed, was one of misunderstanding between the parties.

Rev. Thomas Brown, of Brockville Preached Anniversary Sermons in Princess Street Methodist Church on Sunday.

Princess Street Methodist church celebrated its anniversary on Sunday. Both morning and evening services were well attended, the speaker for both being Rev. Thomas Brown, of Brockville, a former popular pastor of the church.

Mr. Brown recalled the days of his ministry at Princess street church, and spoke very pleasantly of the labors and friendships of those days. He said he always, looked upon Kingston as his home, and looked forward to the time when he should be able to come back and make his home among the old friends and old scenes of his former work.

His morning sermon was preached from the Epistle of Paul to the Philippians iii, 12-13.

Mr. Brown noted that Paul was apprehended for the work of Christ. Paul realized that he was not a chance atom nor a steady force in the world, but that he was sent for a definite purpose. So we find him in the great centre of Europe proclaiming Christ Jesus.

A man who fits into God's plan and works with it may do the work of a hero, and God has a plan for each of us. Sometimes we are not in our place, and one who should have been a preacher is a carpenter, and one who should have been a writer is behind a plough, but let us not dream of what we have not, but make use of what we have, and God will make His plan for us plain, if we learn to use what He has provided.

Mr. Brown spoke of the moulding of the young mind in the right direction. He said children were a bundle of tendencies to both good and evil and they were susceptible to training which would make them reject the evil and choose the good. Some people try wrongly to prolong the age of innocence. When a young man reaches the age of twenty, untaught, he is not innocent, but ignorant. The blossoms are beautiful in May, but in August we look for fruit. The blade is beautiful in the field, but at harvest time the farmer reaps the ear. Children should be taught to withstand evil and not be kept ignorant of it. Young men should be trained for life's battle.

Mr. Brown said some were inclined to brood over their failures, but Paul says to press on, forgetting those things which are behind. Lives of great generals are not all victories. A failure does not make a whole campaign. The best men rise on failures and blunders to lives of credit and worth.

The best and greatest aim should be to "press on." Forget the difficulties, we have had, the mistakes we have made, the jeers of those about us, and with our eyes fixed on the goal, "press on" toward the mark for the DEATH OF HENRY HOGAN. A Well-known Wolfe Island Farmer Passes Away.

The death occurred at Wolfe Island on Saturday of Henry Hogan, one of the island's oldest and most respected residents. The late Mr. Hogan had lived on the island nearly all his life, and was a farmer by occupation.

This is the third death in this family within the past ten months. His two brothers, James and John, predeceased him within this short time. He is survived by his wife and a family.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday morning to the Church of the Sacred Heart, at Wolfe Island, where a solemn requiem mass will be sung.

The late Mr. Hogan was seventy-two years of age and had been sick only about a week, with pneumonia. He was a kind husband and loving father, and the sympathy of a large circle of friends will be extended to the bereaved.

Police Court Brevities. At the police court, on Monday morning, an employee at an hotel, was accused of using abusive language towards another, but as the offence was alleged to have taken place in the kitchen the court could not take action, the by-laws only covering such an offence in a public place. The magistrate said the plaintiff could enter a civil action for slander.

CROSS, SICK, FEVERISH CHILDREN NEED GENTLE, THOROUGH CASCARETS Most of the ills of childhood are caused by a sour, disordered stomach, sluggish liver and constipated bowels. They catch cold easily become cross, listless, irritable, feverish, restless, tongue coated, don't eat or sleep well, and need a gentle, thorough physic—but don't try to force a nauseating dose of oil into the little one's already sick stomach—it is cruel, needless and old-fashioned. Any child will gladly take Cascarets, which act gently—never gripe or produce the slightest uneasiness—though cleanses the little one's system, sweetens the stomach and puts the liver and bowels in a pure, healthy condition. Full directions for children and grown-ups in each package. Mothers can rest easy after giving this gentle, thorough laxative, which costs only 10 cents per box. Cascarets REGULATE STOMACH, LIVER & BOWELS TASTE GOOD—NEVER GRIPE OR SICKEN. THEY WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP.
