McLeod yesterday afternoon, that twenty of more additional hydrants were required. property was to receive ample protec-tion. He has been making a thorough investigation, and finds that this num-ber of additional hydrants are needed. The nearest hydrant to one section of Victoria street, for instance, is 1,200 never smokes. feet, or about four blocks. In other sections, hydrants are from 600 to 800 feet away from groups of dwellings.
There is a lack of hydrants in the vicinity of the Orphans' Home, the Victoria school and the Collegiate In-"caught" in case of a big fire, and, therefore, has placed himself on rewe have added to our cord by recommending more hydrants on these streets: Frontenne, Alfred, Victoria, Union, Clergy west, Brock, Garrett, Stuart, University, St. Law-rence, Johnson, Raglan at Vine, John Cataraqui, Orchard, Montreal, Mait land and at Frontenac school.

The committee requested the chief to give it a more detailed report, and will consider the question at its next meeting. It will likely recommend to the utilities committee that a number of new hydrants be erected at once.

A Serious Deficiency.

Another recommendation by Chiel Armstrong was that the fire depart ment should be notified at once of all excavations, made in roadways. The firemen run big dangers in not know ing the location of excavations, and about street crossings. The matter was brought to mind more forcibly by the shutting off to traffic of the corner of King and Brock streets. The chief remarked that not long ago, a fire team had a narrow escape from a serious accident on Division street, where a drain had been opened. The danger was greatest in turning cor-

It was decided by the committee to recommend to the city council that immediate notion, be given the department of every street excavation. Ald. Turkington drew attention to the fact that several are lights were required in Frontenae ward for the penetit of the fire brigade. Some of the streets up there were so dark that it would be dangerous to drive rapidly through them at night.

Cannot Loan Hose.

Chief Armstrong directed attention of works for flushing purposes. There was 3,500 feet of hose on hand and every bit of it was needed. After the Dalton fire there was only 700 feet of hose fit for use for several days, the remainder being drying in No.

He reviewed the history of the old bridge and harbor, also referring to all the scheme set forth for improvement eight or ten years ago. Afterwards, Mr. King referred to the bridge and its present condition, impressing upon the minis ter the necessity of its being attended to, and also the great necessity of it e ng left in its present location, for military purposes. He drew attention to the statement, recently made by the minister of militia, that the bridge must remain in its present position for the use of the militia.

Mr. King dwelt at some length on the necessity of harbor improvement from the standpoint of the Welland canal improvements, and went into de-tails regarding the transfer of grain from Port Colborne, either by way of Buffalo or Montreal, pointing out that Kingston would be the natural transshipping point for the grain. It was absolutely necessary that the improvements should be made to the Kingston harbor.

After Mr. King had finished his remarks, the minister asked the deputation if the bridge was now in the hands of the city, and upon being informed that it was, stated that the transfer would be made, and that action would be taken as soon as possible for the new work on the bridge and the harbor improvements. Mayor Hoag, and the other members of the deputation also spoke, giv-
