It was learned, in conversation with the party, that there is now a gap of only 32 miles in the line between Queber City and the New Brounswick boundary, and from this boundary to Moncton the whole line is completed. West, from Quebec the whole line is completed tr a point 100 miles west of La Tuque and Cochrane, Ontario, there is still a gap of about 200 miles to be filled in. This, it was stated, will be the last piece to be constructed on the whole of the Transcontinental. The contracts have already been let, and the grading on the last contract of 113 miles has just been started. It, is expected that this final link will
