At Mountain Grove. Mountain Grove, June 10.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Crook, on Wednesday, conducted by Rev. W. Hall, assisted by Rev. Mr. Hornby, was largely attended. EDITOR RECEIVES WARNING.

Archbishop of Montreal Bans One Paper—Mr. Langlois' Position. Montreal, June 11.—A mild sensation was caused in Roman Catholic and newspaper circles throughout the archdiocese of Montreal on Sunday by the reading in all the churches of a mandement from Archbishop Bruchési, forbidding the faithful to read La Lumière, an anti-Catholic monthly of little prominence. At the same time his grace issued a severe warning to Le Pays, a French weekly, which has achieved much popularity under the direction of Gouffroi Langlois, M.P.P., for St. Louis division, formerly chief editor of Le Canada, who had to resign because of his views on religion and education. His grace, in the mandement, stated that unless the tone of Le Pays was completely changed he would not hesitate to take the strongest measures against it.

Mr. Langlois has always taken a strong interest in education, and has not hesitated to criticize the present clerically administered system among Roman Catholics of this province, declaring that it is responsible for the retrograde condition in most of the province. He has in Le Pays, as in the legislature, demanded more attention by the government to primary education, and also demanded compulsory public education, which is distasteful to the Roman Catholic interests, hence the action taken by Archbishop Bruchési.

Mr. Langlois has a large number of sympathizers, practically all the English-speaking people of the province, favoring his views, as well as many French-Canadians. He is a man of strong personality, who has refused in the past to accept clerical dictation as to his politics, and the present clash between himself and the archbishop has aroused great interest, especially in view of the recent widespread movement throughout the province in favor of a better educational system.

Some married couples can patch up a quarrel until it looks as good as new.

CIRCUS IN FEW DAYS.

Great Event Awaited With Unusual Impatience. Ringling Bros' circus and the newly added spectacle, "Joan of Arc," will be seen in Kingston next Friday, June 14th. The spectacle in itself is a wonderful attraction, worthy of special trains, excursions and all the elaborate preparations usual to the coming of a tented show. It will prove a great surprise to those who attend, as nothing like it was ever seen here before.

The advance brigade of the circus is expected in the city hourly to make final preparations for the coming of the five trains with their burden of wonders. All provisions for the day's stay will be bought in the local markets. John Nevin and William Carr, the "twenty-four-hour" men, will lay out the parade route with the assistance of the city authorities. The parade will leave the grounds at ten o'clock in the forenoon. There are three miles of it.

Arrangements have also been made for a down-town ticket office in Best's drug store. Those who wish to avoid the crowds on the grounds will find this a convenient place to buy reserved seats and admissions. Prices will be the same as at the regular ticket waggon.

Many a man imagines he is a great financier until he tries to discount a note. One of the unpardonable political sins is the acceptance of a small bribe.

A BORDERED VOILE EFFECTIVELY USED.

Cream embroidered voile has been used most effectively for this dainty frock for summer days. The border runs around the edge of the skirt above a band of Nattier blue velvet ribbon. Insertions of Cluny are set down the skirt at back and front and between narrow tucks over the hip serve to fit the skirt gracefully. The Cluny insertions on the bodice correspond with those on the skirt and seam sleeves of the bordered material and finished with Cluny. A Nattier blue sash encircles the waist and under the blue-velvet hem peep out dainty button-Oxfords of white buckskin.

ETIQUETTE IN SIAM.

On Hands and Knees Before the King Was Long Custom. Perhaps the most revolutionary reform carried out by the late king of Siam was the abolition of the arbitrary rule of etiquette which forbade an inferior in rank to raise his head above that of a superior or even level with it. The inferior must not even pass over a bridge while a superior was underneath it, nor must he enter a room in an upper storey while a superior was occupying a room beneath it. Servants approached their masters on hands and knees. This custom is by no means obsolete to-day in spite of the royal edict, for many of the powerful nobles who live far away from the court still enforce it. In 1874 the king held a large court, at which no one present presumed to appear otherwise than on hands and knees. It was at this audience that the edict forbidding the custom was read to the prostrate multitude. They there and then rose and stood before the presence of their sovereign for the first time on record.

SIGNALS FOR AIRSHIPS.

Colored Puffs From Exhaust Pipe Suggested. London, June 11.—James Means, writing in Nature from Boston, urges that methods of visual aerial signalling be not neglected, as in the event of war the enemy may deliberately disturb or prevent communication by wireless telegraph. For aerial signalling and other purposes, Mr. Means suggests "puff" signalling as a simple and trustworthy method.

"By this method," he says, "coloring matter is intermittently injected into the exhaust tube of the flying machine motor from a pipe. This is emitted in large and small puffs resembling very black smoke, whose durations correspond to the dashes and dots of the Morse code."

Kitchenettes.

To open a stubborn fruit jar, invert the top of the jar in hot water (boiling hot, but not boiling), taking care that the water is not deep enough to touch the glass. The principle is to expand the metal top. Then open as usual. A minute or two is sufficient; should it remain in too long the glass would also be expanded.

To use sour milk for griddle cakes never add baking powder, but instead an even teaspoonful of baking soda to each cup of milk. Potato balls which are salted in butter after being boiled are delicious. They should be served with a generous sprinkling of minced parsley. Stale macaroons, which can be bought cheap at the baker's, make the most delicious addition to pudding and custards if pulverized and sprinkled over the top.

More Dollars for Jingles

In June, 1912, 25 persons will make $20.00 each writing short, snappy Post Toasties Jingles most acceptable for a "Toasties" Jingle Book.

This offer for June, 1912, is entirely separate from, and in addition to, the Jingles purchased by us in May, 1912.

Read instructions below, then see how good a Post Toasties Jingle you can write. It's pleasant amusement for Girls and Boys and older folks.

A COMPLETE JINGLE. (As an example only.) Early morning breakfast, and 'tis to relate, Servant over-slept to-day, getting awful late. Father growing nervous wants a bite to eat. Calls for his Post Toasties, goodness, that's a treat. FINISH THIS JINGLE. Old Mother Hubbard's family, a happy bunch were they. Of healthy little kiddies playing all the day. History hasn't told us, but to me 't would seem, (Fill in this line, mentioning Toasties and write plainly) Use of above form of answer is suggested, but not required.

We will buy 25 Post Toasties Jingles, acceptable for use in a Jingle Book, received during June, 1912, at $20.00 each. Only the Jingles we pay for will be used, but no Jingles, whether purchased or not, will be returned.

The names and addresses of the writers of the 25 Jingles purchased in June, 1912, will be printed and mailed to each enquirer who sends us a 1c. stamped and addressed envelope for return.

The Jingles will be judged honestly upon merit, so if you are a sensitive person and not a good sportsman, DON'T TRY, for we have no time to "pet up" those whose Jingles are not accepted.

Fill in the missing line of the incomplete Jingle printed above, making the last line INCLUDE the name "Toasties" with correct rhyme and metre. Or, write an original Post Toasties Jingle of not less than 4 lines, any one line of which must contain "Post Toasties" or "Toasties."

As many Jingles may be submitted as desired. No Jingles submitted in May, 1912, will be considered in this June, 1912, offer. One can make this a pleasant form of entertainment, may make some extra money, and in addition become acquainted with Post Toasties —the delicious ready-to-serve, crisp bits of toasted Indian Corn. Try a dish with some milk or cream and a sprinkle of sugar.

"My Business is Scientifically Managed" WHEN you say that you mean, of course, that it is thoroughly systematized, brought abreast of modern business conditions, by the adoption of tried and proven time-and-labor-saving office methods. But can you truthfully say the same of your shipping department? Has it kept pace with the advancement of your other departments? Or, is the work still carried on in accordance with bewildered, traditional custom, without regard for the greater facilities which Otis-Fensom Elevators place at your disposal? THE waste that is caused, first, by the lack of mechanical equipment; and, second, by the unnecessary and duplicated effort on the part of the worker himself; the thousands of steps, the "false" motion, the constant and useless expenditure of energy necessitated day after day when goods have to be laboriously tramped from floor to floor by the stairway—all these wasteful labor leaks can be eliminated by the use of an Otis-Fensom Elevator. Goods can be properly stored and classified to be reached and removed at a moment's notice. Floor space is increased, the habit of order and neatness induced, and every flat and department made as readily accessible as the ground floor. Errors and delays in shipments are minimized. Incoming goods are promptly, systematically and advantageously distributed, and overhead expenses are kept down to the lowest notch. Your shipping department and an Otis-Fensom Elevator can do the work in one half the time and with one third the labor now required. Your regular line shafting can be used if an Otis-Fensom is put in. For those who do not require a Power Elevator we offer our Hand Power Elevator.
