THE SPORT REVIEW

C.L.C.'S DEFEATED ATHLETICS BY 3 TO 2.

The Winners Have About as Good a Team as Before. Although They Lost Five of Their Players.

The much looked forward to game of baseball between C. L. C. and Athletics was played on Saturday afternoon on the cricket field with a large crowd of spectators in attendance. The game resulted in the interesting score of 5 to 2 in favor of C. L. C.

The personnel of the Locos was somewhat changed, but they are playing good ball and any one who has watched the play of the departed five will agree that with the exception of Reitzger the team is as well off as previously.

The game had no sooner started, with athletics to bat than Barber made the sensational hit of the day. Spencer had been first to bat and knocked a fly, which was gathered in by Shirrell. Barber went to the batter's place and getting a fast ball on the end of his bat he drove it to the limits of the field and circled the diamond bringing in the first run for athletics. Duffy and Muckler were both put out promptly.

In the last of the first innings another of Athletics men drew a great deal of attention. It was Gotherier at short stop, who allowed Esford of C. L. C. to make first base by juggling the ball and then caught Laird out on a fair hit. He received his error in the eyes of the spectators when a hot liner from the end of Laird's bat whizzed toward him. It was far to his left, but with a sensational reach, he gathered it in and by throwing it to second was able to get the fast man, Esford, on his way to second. Daley, the next batter was put out on first so the first innings ended with Athletics ahead, the score being 1 to 0.

After this Gotherier, at short stop had five putouts unassisted and won great applause. The number of flys dropped in the neighborhood of the short stop showed how Muckler's pitching was checking them. One of the interesting points in the game was the breaking in of Evans to senior league ball. He made his debut on the line-up of C. L. C. and played at short stop, and brought in the first run for C. L. C. while running bases for Dice who had a sore foot, but fielded well, batting in splendid style, and even made one sensational put-out when he had to run in to the home plate to get the ball. Oliver hit the ball about ten feet in front of him and when he reached first Dice, in spite of his sore foot, he delivered the goods and he was out.

Saunders pitched a splendid game for C. L. C. His presence in the box seemed to steady the team and they played with wonderful coolness. The teams with their scores were:

THE DAYS OF EILBECK

ONE OF THE BIG FOUR PLEASANTLY RECALLED.

Robert J. Eilbeck and Some of His Service in Kingston—A Leader in Sports, in Politics and in Good Deeds.

The Ottawa Journal, under the heading of "These Men Have Birthdays Today," prints the following: "Robert James Eilbeck, Vancouver, born, Newcastle, Ont., 1859; telegraph operator in early life, later a steamship man, and then a mining prospector in the western states; a pioneer of the Yukon, of which he was sheriff for many years."

Who that reads this modest little paragraph would identify the man who for many years made Kingston his residence, and contributed so much to local history. Bob Eilbeck! Who does not remember him—tall, broad-shouldered, brawny, athletic, with a cheery word for all who knew him and a laugh that was usually contagious.

He reigned twenty odd years ago, when there were some sturdy boys in town, when the Big Four held the passes.

Eilbeck, originally an electrician and a live wire business man and broker he laboured at a time when the remark was patented, "that he made others sit up and take notice." The big four metaphorically painted the town red about once a week.

baseball Eilbeck excelled. He helped to make the clubs famous in his days. Carson and Lovett became the catchers who dismained the pad and Dolan ranked high as a batsman and at Picton made a "pourable." Eilbeck went him one better and at Brockville broke the pitcher's collarbone. That was the time when there was some batting.

In politics, R. J. was one of Hart's mighty men. Mysterious he had to be as a result of long association with men whose thoughts sometimes ran to the devil. He was a member of the council for years, got a speech-maker, and a check upon those who would be such by stealing their notes. A fast friend of Redden and Creighton because they always carried the bag of candy.

Supposed to have a hypnotic eye and alleged to have used it on one occasion when a certain alderman rose in confusion, voted against his party and lost his head in consequence. Altered the political map of this city during one night by adding Garden Island to it for electoral purposes. Received a wireless message which, when laid before the politicians of the city, created a profound commotion. What was seen and said in caucus dependent sayeth not.

Detected once in raiding the front garden of a certain gentleman on Colborne street, with a member of the big four, was fired upon, to the apparent peril of his life.

The man with a prodigious memory, a fondness for a good story, the fellow-citizen whom everyone liked, and whose departure from Kingston every one lamented. Removed from the office of sheriff in the Yukon, by the Borden government, but not deprived of the common touch which made everyone his friend.

Ten Cents to Complete Order.

A story comes from a town, where firms advertise to sell fish direct to small purchasers. The glowing advertisements asked for the sending of half a dollar with a list of the varieties of fish preferred. One letter read: "I want two salmon, a dozen whiting, a dozen herring, some flounders, and if you have them you can add a lobster."

The next day the lady received a letter, which ran: "Dear Madam: Please send another dime and we will forward the fisherman."—Dallas News.
