

THE YOUNG MAN

wants Clothes that are different --not too "loud" but Clothes full of life and go.

The Spring models have many fascinating features—collars, lapels and general lines are graceful and impressive. Critical Young Men are certain to appreciate these smart styles.

The Woolens are the latest and are very effective in coloring and weaves.

Suits, $10.00, $12.00, $15.00, $18.00, $20.00.

There are many new things to see here at this writing, and our time is always at the disposal of the Young Man who is casting about for "Just the Right Suit."

BRYAN LOOMS LARGER

AT DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION IN BALTIMORE.

He is Angry at the Choice of Judge Parker as Chairman—The Democratic Party May be Torn Asunder.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN.

Baltimore, Md., June 24.—The scene of political storm of the United States has shifted from Chicago to this city. William Jennings Bryan has also shifted from the position of opposition reporter at the Republican Convention to that of boss and possible Presidential nominee at this Democratic one. Mr. Bryan was on the job this morning at sunrise. Early this morning he met newspaper men and told them there would be no compromise in the opposition of himself and other progressives to the choice of Judge Parker as temporary chairman.

As hours pass, Bryan looms larger as the outstanding figure of the democratic convention here. About noon, when it seemed apparent that Judge Parker would be temporary chairman whether the Bryanites liked it or not, the man from Nebraska was very much angered and showed it. The old time fighting fire was very apparent. He made it plain that if the progressives could not agree upon any other man to oppose Parker for the chairmanship he would oppose him himself. There is no doubt that an open break between the forces of Champ Clark and W. J. Bryan is pending, and that it may be as serious rupture as that which tore asunder the republican party last week.

LATE MRS. MARY BAKER

Died on Sunday After Brief Illness.

The death occurred on Sunday evening, of Mrs. Mary Baker, relict of the late John Baker, of the Bath Road, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Anglin, Queen street. The deceased was born in Devon, England, in 1836, and came to this country with her father, George Andrews, when only seven years of age. Her husband predeceased her, in 1876. The deceased lady has not been ill very long, having attended two services in Sydenham Street Methodist church lately, and seemed comparatively well until Thursday evening, when she took a bad turn. She leaves seven children: Edwin C., Everett, Wash; Sidney, Tacoma, Wash.; Frank L., Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. Annes Rockwell, Duluth, Minn.; Lillian (Mrs. L. W. Newcombe), Seattle; Edith M., New York City, and Mrs. F. R. Anglin, Kingstons.

Mrs. Baker had been for sixty years a member of the Methodist church, and latterly of Sydenham street church.

APPLIES FOR DISCHARGE

In Order to do Mission Work in North Ontario.

Br. Ernest Potter, of "B" Battery, R.C.H.A., has made application for his discharge, in order to go out under the Methodist church, to work in the mining camps of Northern Ontario, at St. Nicholas. He is the son of a British officer, who was stationed and died at Malta, some years ago. The young soldier has proved himself of the true British blood, has received a good education, and been a great help to all who came within his reach, gaining a wide experience. Mr. Potter, while in the battery, has been looked upon as most active and conscientious, and was connected with different activities of the First Baptist church. He is going out on the mission field as a representative of Sydenham Street Methodist Bible school.

School Appointments.

LITTLE GIRL DROWNED

AT FOOT OF PRINCESS STREET, MONDAY AFTERNOON.

Five-year-old Daughter of F. W. Day, Princess Street—Body Recovered by Joseph Pound.

Ivy, the five-year-old daughter of F. W. Day, lower Princess street, fell off Crawford's wharf into the water shortly after two o'clock, Monday afternoon, and was drowned. Several attempts were made by men to reach her, the water being quite deep. The body was finally brought to the surface by Joseph Pound, Division street, after the first dive.

Dr. W. G. Anglin and Corbett's ambulance was hurriedly summoned. The doctor, with S. S. Corbett, John Cornelius, John Donnelly and Thomas Burns, worked over her for half an hour, employing all methods of resuscitation with no avail. Once during the process it was thought she could be pulled through but she had been in the water too long. The little girl had gone down to the foot of Princess street, with one of her playmates, a young girl, of about nine years of age. They were sailing a toy boat, and in their attempts to reach it, Ivy Day fell into the water. Men working on Richardson's elevator wharf a short distance away, were attracted by the cries of the boy and rushed to the scene. For a couple of minutes, it is said the child kept her head above the water, clinging to the side of the wharf, and if a man had been on hand at the time, she could have been reached. Arthur Pound, and another man dove in, with their clothes on, but were unable to reach her. It was then that Mr. Pound made the successful attempt. She had been in the water about fifteen minutes. Her mother and some neighbors hurried to the scene.

GIVEN CABINET OF SILVER.

Presentation to S. S. Corbett on Saturday Evening.

A pleasant affair took place on Saturday evening, when S. S. Corbett was waited upon at his home by a party of his gentlemen friends, numbering about fifty, and presented with a cabinet of silver, on the occasion of his wedding, which taken place this week. The gift was accompanied by a beautifully arranged address, which contained the good wishes of Mr. Corbett's friends.

The address was read by Charles Smith, and the presentation made by W. H. Montgomery. The address was signed by ninety or more people. Mr. Corbett, in reply, made a neat little speech, in which he returned many thanks to his friends for their kind remembrance.

Subsequently, all present had a fine time around the festive board, when addresses were given by R. J. Vair, Glenburnie; Drs. Young and O'Connor, Ald. W. Peters and John Laird.

Benefit Society Aid Needy Artists.

A membership of the famous Royal Academy of London carries with it numerous advantages. In a word the academy is a benefit society founded on a very generous scale. The pension fund of Burlington House is a splendid one. Any Royal Academician who falls upon hard times or who is prevented by ill-health from following his profession may claim a pension, and the pension sometimes runs into as much as $2,000 a year.

The Royal Academician who dies in straitened circumstances and leaves his widow and children insufficiently provided for is not thought any the less of for his ill-fortune. The Royal Academy shows its sympathy by generously allowing those who were dependent on him a liberal sum for their maintenance. And the wife and children of a Royal Academician receive many kindnesses and acts of charity from the hands of the living Royal Academicians, which are quite distinct from those given by this academy.

Use for Old Paving Blocks.

A great deal of wook block is made use of in the paving of the streets of London, and the machine has been recently built by which these blocks are renovated after having been taken up from the street after a period of usefulness. Hereafter these blocks have been discarded after removal, but now they are separated and placed in the machine, where an adjustment saw removes just as much of the block as is necessary to give it a smooth and even surface for relaying. Of course the blocks are somewhat thinner and lighter, but they are available for many years of wear if placed where the traffic is not so heavy.

Lover of Candor.

Impecunious Man—I wish you would be so kind as to lend me $5. I'll pay you back in a few days.

Candid Friend—If you had asked me for the loan in a candid and straightforward manner I would have lent you the money, but asking me in the way you did causes me to distrust you.

"I don't understand you."

"You asked me to be so kind as to lend you $5."

"Yes."

"If you had been candid, you would have said to me: 'Be so stupid, be such an ignominious ass, such a hopeless idiot as to lend me $5, and you might have got it.'"

Rather Annoying.

London Punch. A gruesome story reaches us from a certain hospital. On its staff is a surgeon who is famous for the celerity of his operations. The other day he had twelve on his list. When he had polished off the eleventh he asked where the twelfth was. "Oh, Number twelve has retired to leave his bed," he was told. "What a pity," said the surgeon. "That means that I have performed the wrong operations on all the others, for I took 'em in the order of the."

JOHN LAIDLAW & SON.

Whistler Discomfited.

Whistler rarely met his match, although he did so once in Sir Morrell Mackenzie, the famous throat specialist. He called on Sir Morrell to treat a French poodle of which he was very fond. The renowned physician was not too pleased at being invited to diagnose the illness of a dog. But (says Mr. J. J. Conway, in his "Footprints of Famous Americans in Paris") he kept his peace, prescribed, pocketed his fee and drove away. Next day he sent an urgent message to Whistler asking him to call quickly. On his arrival Sir Morrell said, without a smile: "How do you do, Mr. Whistler. I want to see you about having my front door painted."—London Globe

A False Prophet.

"A fortune teller told me that you are going to marry me," said the young man with the prominent socks. "Did she also tell you that you are going to inherit a very large fortune?" enquired the girl with the matinee hair. "She didn't say anything about a fortune."

"Then she is not much of a fortune teller and you had better not place any reliance in anything she says."—Washington Herald.
